Britain Has Trade Plan Ready To Meet German Debt Move

Clearing Office Proposal Announced in Commons By Chancellor of Exchequer; If Germany Withholds Payments to Bondholders in Britain, Some of Money Paid For Imports From Germany to Be Seized

AUGUST 1 IS SET AS TIME LIMIT

Canadian Press and Associated Press

London, June 15.—As a counter-measure to the German moratorium the British Government soon will propose legislation enabling it to set up an Anglo-German clearing office, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons to-day.

The government, however, would be prepared to refrain from exercising its powers under such a measure, Mr. Chamberlain said, "if a satisfactory agreement ensuring fair treatment to British bondholders and British commerce can be negotiated before August 1."

BERLIN INFORMED

Great Britain's ambassador at Berlin has informed the German government to this effect, Mr. Chamberlain revealed.

Detailed arrangements and particular bonds to which these arrangements would apply would be worked out as soon as possible, he added.

The Chancellor did not give details of the British proposals, but the general effect if a favorable trade balance with Britain.

All Anglo-German trade would pass through the clearing office. British importers of German goods would make their payments into it. British exporters to Germany would be paid through it. As Britain now buys more from Germany than she sells to her, the balance of payments now favor-

EARTH SHOCKS ARE RECORDED

Associated Press

New York, June 15.—Two earthquake shocks of moderate intensity were recorded on the seismograph at Fordham University to-day. The first came at 1.39.25 a.m., E.S.T., and the second at 1.43.31 a.m. The disturbance was calculated at approximately 1,500 miles away in a southwesterly direction.

TIGER CUB BITES FRANK BUCK'S HAND

Chicago, June 15.—Like the steeple climber who broke his arm falling out of bed, Frank Buck of "Bring 'em Back Alive" fame to-day had a bandage on his hand, injured when clawed and bitten by a tiger cub. While he was inspecting a cage an eight-months-old cub suddenly seized the hand.

Hitler Still Firm On Armament Stand

AUSTRIA FREE SAY DICTATORS

Venice, June 15. — Chancellor Hitler of Germany and Premier Mussolini of Italy to-day decided Austria should remain a free, independent nation.

Their decision, regarded as of major international importance, was reached at a conference in which the German and Italian dictators discussed disarmament and the general European situation.

German Chancellor Emerges From Conference With Premier Mussolini at Venice Opposed to Return of His Nation to Geneva Conference; Regarded As a "Visionary" By Some Italian Observers

Associated Press

Venice, June 15.—Germany will not return to the Geneva Disarmament Conference, despite conversations between Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, German correspondents were told at a press conference this afternoon.

The conference, to which only German newspapermen were admitted, took place immediately after Chancellor Hitler's return from his second meeting with Premier Mussolini.

The correspondents were told no accord would be signed as a result of the meeting, although the leaders had found themselves in agreement on many points.

Nothing was decided with reference to disarmament, it was said, although diplomatic conversations on this subject would continue.

With reference to a possible Italian-German bloc to offset French and Russian blocs, the correspondents were told no such step was being planned.

TALK IN GERMAN

The conversation between Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini began after a luncheon at the Golf Club on the Lido. They were alone as

Court Sets Limits For Tariff Board

Dominion Body Must Not Determine Questions of Law, But Must Act in Purely Advisory Capacity, Supreme Court Rules

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—The Supreme Court of Canada to-day ruled the Tariff Board has no authority to determine questions of law, as distinct from questions of fact.

The court also found the board had no authority to nullify orders of the Minister of National Revenue fixing dumping duties on goods entering Canada under the British preferential tariff.

The third decision of the court was that the decisions of the Tariff Board as to the value of goods for duty purposes are subject to the approval of the Minister of National Revenue.

The court's judgment related to three questions referred to it by the government. These were designed to establish the jurisdiction of the board in respect of departmental orders

ADVISORY CAPACITY

The ruling of the Supreme Court, which was unanimous, would seem to place the Tariff Board in a purely advisory capacity and take away the right of appeal from rulings of the Minister of National Revenue. All the deliberations of the board under part 2 of the act (in which the board operates in the place of the former Customs Board) were deemed by its chairman and members to be based on points of law which the court now says it has not authority to deal with.

The answer to the third question in the reference is probably the most significant, since it would appear to have the effect of ending the useful-

MINISTER IS ASSASSINATED

Member of Polish Cabinet, Leaving Warsaw Club, Is Shot to Death

Associated Press

Warsaw, June 15.—Bronislaw Pieracki, Minister of the Interior in the Polish Cabinet, was mortally wounded late to-day by assassins, who shot him as he was leaving a club. He died a short time later in a hospital.

The assassins escaped in the confusion.

One theory held by the authorities is that the assassination was provoked by the arrest of a large number of Ukrainian terrorists yesterday at Cracow and Lwow.

SESSION AT OTTAWA MAY END NEXT WEEK

Ottawa, June 15.—Rapid progress made by the House of Commons in passing the 700-odd clauses and numerous schedules of the voluminous Shipping Bill led some political observers here to-day to look for prorogation of Parliament by the end of next week. Most of the contentious legislation has already been enacted, although the Marketing Bill stirred up keen debate in the Senate yesterday evening when it received second reading.

Chiropractors' Board Soon

Controlling Body For Profession to Be Selected Next Week; 110 Registered

Appointment of the Board of Chiropractors, the second step in the function of creating legal self-government for the profession of chiropractic, will be made by the Provincial Secretary next week.

The board will consist of seven members, one of whom resides on Vancouver Island, two residing east of the Cascade Mountains, and the remaining four in other parts of the province.

One hundred and ten persons have been registered as chiropractors under the Chiropractors' Act passed at the last session of the Legislature after a seventeen-year fight for recognition. In addition ten or a dozen were turned down, due to technicalities, such as not being British subjects, late applications, or because they were not trained in schools listed under the act. They will have an opportunity to appeal for registration to the board later.

KINGSTON PRISON WARDEN RESIGNS

Ottawa, June 15.—Resignation of Lieut.-Col. W. R. Megloughlin, M.C., as warden of the Portsmouth penitentiary, near Kingston, was announced by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, here to-day. Beyond the bare announcement, the minister had nothing to say. He declared, however, no pressure had been brought to bring about the warden's resignation.

Lieut.-Col. Megloughlin is in Ottawa to-day.

Wheat Trade Free Of Control Urged

B.C. Log Cut Climbs After Strike Settled

Scale For May Shows Substantial Gain as Men Are Back at Work

Tribute Paid Exporters Who Have Succeeded in Building Export Markets

Lumber production took another jump forward in the province last month, according to the log scale figures compiled by the forestry branch of the Department of Lands.

The total scale was 171,421,000 feet, as against 124,252,000 feet in April and 166,782,000 feet in May last year. If it had not been for the fact the first week or two of the month was the tailend of the loggers' strike, the increase would have been much greater. The detailed figures show that the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, where the strike was concentrated, was actually 16,000,000 feet down on its scale. In the rest of the province therefore the advance was about 21,000,000 feet over last year.

The scale for the first five months of 1934 is approximately 650,000,000 feet compared with 424,000,000 feet for the same period of 1933. May last year was the first month of the revival in the lumber business.

One of the reasons why British Columbia's lumber trade has improved is the great drive made for export markets. Recently Axel H. Oxholm, chief of the lumber division of the United States Department of Trade and Commerce, commented upon this in an article he wrote, paying high

Strikers Faced By Armed Guards; Steps To Re-open Port Are Taken By Mayor

Three Ships Given Protection; Seattle Mayor, Saying All Ports in U.S. Northwest Will Be Freed of Cargo Tie-up, Sends Couriers to Other Cities; Seattle Police Mobilized For Any Possible Duty

Acts of Violence At Oakland, Cal.

Associated Press

Seattle, June 15.—Thirty police and 100 striking seamen and engineers faced each other to-day at the Todd Drydocks on Harbor Island, where the pickets ordered non-union men aboard three Luckenbach ships to leave their posts.

Armed with clubs, the union men stood across the street from the dock entrance, facing the policemen, armed with riot sticks and shotguns.

The officers were ready to clear the picket line away should any pickets try to enter the dock.

SENDING COURIERS

After a conference with the Tacoma mayor, Mayor Smith said every port would be opened at once. Couriers would be sent out of Tacoma and Seattle with messages for every mayor on Puget Sound and along the U.S coast.

Mayor Joseph K. Carson of Portland notified Mayor Smith Portland would co-operate in plans to open under police protection to non-union workers.

The executive committee of the Seattle longshore union sought a conference with Mayor Smith to protest against force and possibly to make further negotiations, but the mayor said this seemed impossible in view of the union attitude.

U.S. WOMEN WIN TENNIS

Take Two Out of Three Matches From British in Wightman Cup Series

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Wimbledon, June 15. — The United States led Great Britain two matches to one to-day at the end of the first day's play in the twelfth renewal of the International Wightman Cup series.

United States forces, defending the cup they have held since 1931 and won on four previous occasions, got away to a flying start with two singles victories scored by Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, Mass., and Helen Jacobs, U.S. champion and team leader.

Miss Palfrey played spectacularly in upsetting the celebrated Dorothy Round, England's first-ranking player, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6. She gamely came from behind in the first set, after trailing 1-3, to take the next five games.

REVENGES DEFEAT

Miss Jacobs won much as she pleased from Margaret (Peg) Scriven in a renewal of their rivalry which began in the finals of the French hard-court championships in the stage Roland Garros in Paris two weeks ago. Then, Miss Jacobs lost to the English player when she became disgusted after her protest against playing in darkness was refused by French officials.

To-day, however, the U.S. star gained revenge, simply tearing her opponent's game apart and baffling her with a spectacular all-court game that enabled the Californian to win with plenty to spare, 6-1, 6-1.

Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Pearman, a new but potent British doubles combination, saved Great Britain's team from a complete shutout. The English girls won in straight sets over the California team of Caroline Babcock and Josephine Cruickshank, 7-5, 7-5.

STEEL PEACE PLEA IS MADE

Plan to Avert Big U.S. Strike Offered By William Green at Workers' Convention

Associated Press

Pittsburgh, June 15.—Pleading in "all good faith" for peace in the strike-threatened steel industry, William Green to-day proposed appointment by President Roosevelt of a board of arbitration to handle all collective bargaining disputes.

The president of the American Federation of Labor offered what he termed a "counter proposal" to the revised Wagner Labor Control Bill submitted to the industry by President Roosevelt in a move to avert the strike.

Mr. Green's plea, made to the convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, ended with these words:

"I want to insist that you adopt this proposal."

Some union delegates later said they interpreted this statement as a possible ultimatum to the workers not to strike.

FOUR-POINT PLAN

The gist of Mr. Green's plan was contained in four points:

1. An impartial board of three, appointed by the President, to adjust all violations of code, to mediate and conciliate any dispute, to offer its services as arbitrator and with au-

Store May Reply To Inquiry Evidence

Officials of T. Eaton Co. Ltd. Will Decide Whether to Make Statement on Mass of Information Laid Before Commons Investigating Committee

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—The Commons mass buying committee to-day completed its main investigations into the commercial ramifications of the T. Eaton Company Limited of Toronto. It adjourned until next Tuesday, when the Hudson's Bay Company and one or two smaller department stores will be reported on by committee auditors.

Officials of the Eaton company said they were undecided about making a reply to the evidence submitted to the committee and no decision would be made for some days.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman of the committee, indicated reports on factories, chiefly garment manufacturers, supplying goods to department stores, would be taken up later, probably on completion of all department store evidence.

Officials Say Men Ask to Be Allowed to Work Again in Quebec Mine

Canadian Press

Noranda, Que., June 15.—Officials at the Noranda mines to-day declared the strike of 300 miners was at an end and the men had asked to be permitted to return to work immediately. It was not announced whether there had been a settlement of differences or whether the miners had capitulated.

The 300 underground workers walked out on strike last Tuesday morning as the night shift came out of the shaft. The strike was decided on at a meeting the previous evening, when it was learned demands of the men for a 10 per cent wage increase, better working conditions and the right to organize had been rejected by the company.

The Times Seeks Pictures Of Bronzed Beach Babies

All along the Pacific Coast no city offers greater scope for fun on the sands than Victoria. An early summer has started the trek to the beaches weeks earlier this year and young Victorians are enjoying them to the full. Babies, one-year-old, toddling unsteadily along the water's edge, to spirited, youngsters of five years and upwards, racing along the beach and laughing merrily as they splash into the water, combine to make scenes of happiness.

Seeking to convey this scene in pictures The Victoria Daily Times invites parents, brothers, sisters or friends to send in snapshots of the bonnie youngsters. Snapshots of individual youngsters with their names and ages and a few words of where and how they enjoy their time on the sands and, if they are making efforts to swim, a word or two of the progress they are making will be published as received.

Later in the season The Victoria Times will present a cup for Victoria's youngest swimmer. The snaps sent in, however, need not necessarily be of prospective competitors for this honor.

Protest Made On Seizure Of Cars

Senate, Considering Excise Bill, Is Asked By Senator Meighen to Erect Safeguards For Owners of Vehicles Carrying Liquor Without Their Knowledge

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—Strong objections to the Excise Bill as passed by the House of Commons June 11 were made to-day by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Senate, when the banking and commerce committee of the Upper House began consideration of the bill.

An amendment designed to prevent seizure of automobiles, ships or freight cars in which illicit liquor is found, when the owners of the vehicles are innocent, was requested by Senator Meighen.

Under the present law any vehicles in which bonded liquor is being removed illegally are seized by the crown whether the owner is aware of the illegal action or not. The new Excise Act as passed by the Commons provides for seizure of vehicles no matter by whom owned, if found transporting liquor or goods on which excise has not been paid.

The old law was wrong, innocent property owners suffered under it, and the proposed law was even stronger, Senator Meighen charged.

USE OF DISCRETION

"Discretion is used in taking action for excise violations," David Sim, commissioner of excise, told the committee. "The department asks the law be made broad so that if there is not conclusive evidence, action may be taken in court to bring out further evidence."

"You have seized the motor cars of thousands of innocent owners, who had no knowledge their property was being used unlawfully," said Senator Meighen.

Mr. Sim objected.

CASES OF REVENGE

Liquor was planted in a spirit of revenge on the property of one another by foreigners in the west, Senator W. A. Griesbach, Conservative, Alberta, stated. The law was better and more fairly enforced since the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had taken it over.

The committee, after passing 168 sections of the Excise Act, reached an impasse over the section covering the seizure of motor cars, ships and railway cars for excise violations.

The committee adjourned to draft an amendment to section 169.

tribute to the energetic manner in which the exporters had gone after business. He said:

"The feat accomplished by the British Columbia lumber exporters in building up their lumber export trade during the last three years is unparalleled in the history of lumber exporting. It might well serve as an example to other countries and it is proper that due recognition should be given to the intelligent efforts of our Canadian friends. This expansion of the Canadian export activities occurred in the face of a general world depression and stiff competition from other producing countries.

"The Imperial preference of course has been of vital aid to the Canadian exporters, but this preference alone would not have brought about these results. The British Columbia lumbermen and those from eastern Canada sent abroad their lumber specialists who devoted a great deal of time and effort to the education of the foreign consumers in regard to Canadian woods. Significant support has also been received by Canadian trade commissioners stationed in the principal markets of the world.

TEAM WORK

"It has been a matter of perfect team work between the lumber exporters and provincial and federal officials. The Canadian trade promotion activities in foreign countries have surpassed anything heretofore attempted by that country. It has involved technical engineering service, the working with architects and artisans, builders and industrialists. It is significant that these activities have not been confined to the British Empire, but they have been carried on successfully in many other countries as well. As a result Canada has developed a very extensive export lumber trade spread over a vast foreign territory to some extent at the expense of less enterprising countries but chiefly pioneering in new fields."

SENATOR DIES AT STRATFORD

Hon. J. P. Rankin, Liberal, Succumbs; Vacancies in Senate Now Eleven

Canadian Press

Stratford, Ont., June 15.—Senator James P. Rankin, aged seventy-nine, died in the General Hospital here today.

He was stricken with a serious illness in Ottawa a little more than three weeks ago and was removed to his home in Stratford a few days later. Later he was taken to the hospital here and an operation was performed June 3.

He had lived in Stratford since 1891.

For many years Senator James Palmer Rankin of Stratford, Ont., was a familiar figure in the life of that community, serving the people both in his professional capacity as a physician and in public life. He was born in East Zorra Township, Oxford County, Ont., in 1855, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Rankin. His father was a well-known and prosperous farmer of the district, who originally came from Scotland.

The youth graduated from Trinity Medical College, Toronto, in 1878, with honors and the degree of M.B. He then proceeded to Edinburgh University, completing his course.

Returning to Canada, he started to practice medicine at Tavistock, Ont., going from there to Toronto and later moving in 1891 to Stratford, where he became a foremost member of the medical profession.

Senator Rankin leaves two daughters, Miss Gertrude and Miss Ethelwyn, both residing at the family residence on Church Street, Stratford. His wife died in 1915. A son, Dr. Ramsay Rankin, died in 1921.

During his residence in Stratford, Dr. Rankin was diverse in his activities, not confining himself entirely to his own profession but branching out into the field of politics, where he received a generous share of success. He was elected a Liberal member of the Dominion Parliament in 1908, was defeated in 1911 and in 1917, but was elected again in 1921. He remained the representative of North Perth until he was appointed a senator in 1925. During his career in Dominion politics Dr. Rankin was a firm upholder of the Liberal standard. In city affairs he was also prominent, having been a member of the Board of Education and the city council.

Dr. Rankin was also a lieutenant-colonel of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, and for twenty years was medical officer of the 28th Regiment at Stratford.

ELEVEN VACANCIES

Ottawa, June 15 (Canadian Press).—The death of Senator J. P. Rankin of Ontario to-day increased to eleven the vacancies now in the red chamber. Of these two are from Nova Scotia, three from New Brunswick, three from Quebec, two from Ontario and one from Manitoba.

Conservator senators are in a majority with forty-nine seats to thirty-six Liberals.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Mayor Smith yesterday afternoon proclaimed the port of Seattle was again open to commerce, after a final breakdown of attempts to settle the waterfront strike by arbitration, and he assumed personal charge of the police force, and mobilized it for emergency duty.

"I, Charles L. Smith, Mayor of the City of Seattle, pursuant to powers vested in me, do hereby declare an emergency involving the peace and safety of all citizens exists in the city," his proclamation said.

"This emergency has arisen by reason of the strike on the waterfront, and the consequent paralysis of tariff and commerce. Violent disturbance of the public order is threatened."

Thereupon he announced all available policemen would be drawn in immediately from outlying precincts and garrisoned at police headquarters and other strategic points, so they might be available for instant use if attempts to load ships should result in open warfare.

VIOLENCE IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, June 15.—Strike violence broke out again in the east bay section here to-day as Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, declared the longshoremen's strike "could be settled quickly if the employers would stop quibbling over technicalities."

"There are only a few companies holding out against our request for preferential employment," he said. "The others are willing to accept our terms."

Mayor Angelo Rossi planned another conference with representatives of the strikers and employers in another effort to end the walkout, which began May 9, and at present involves more than 25,000 marine workers along the United States Pacific Coast.

SIX ARRESTED

At Oakland, police took six men into custody after an auto truck, carrying seven tons of fruit wrapping paper, had been set afire.

Mrs. George W. Wilson, wife of a clerk employed by the port of Oakland, reported men had hurled concrete blocks and rocks through windows of her home.

Lawrence Leake, a stage operator, told police he had been beaten by three men, who warned him not to carry non-union men to the waterfront.

Phil Davis, an automobile dealer, who loaned a boat to the police, said three plate glass windows in his place of business had been smashed.

MAY POSTPONE POLLING

Melfort, Sask., June 15 (Canadian Press).—Possibility of postponement of balloting in Melford riding to permit J. D. able to Germany would be seized to meet creditors' claims.

FRENCH MEASURES

Paris, June 15.—A formal protest against Germany's suspension of payments on foreign debts is contemplated by France, it is indicated, and will be followed by measures to safeguard the French commercial interests.

Government circles declined official comment, but one informed spokesman indicated that blocking of francs intended for payment for German imports was being considered as a means of assuring eventual collection of interest on the Young and Dawes loans.

A London dispatch, saying a very grave view was taken there of the German government's announced six-month moratorium on payment on the Young and Dawes loans, stated that in some circles it was charged Germany had quietly purchased upwards of a billion marks' worth of bonds abroad at depreciated prices, and deliberately brought about a situation requiring a moratorium. British opinion, it was said, showed these "machinations" as unethical.

3. All grievances or complaints to be referred to the board for final decision.

4. If accepted by all parties, the strike in the steel industry to be called off.

Michael F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated, announced later he would propose to the convention Green's plan be submitted to a committee for study and a report be returned to the floor.

"STRIKE NOW" CRIES

Cries of "strike now" sounded as union representatives of the men who toil before the furnaces filed into the convention to say whether there should be a strike in the great steel industry of the United States.

The strike demand came insistently from a group of youthful delegates.

Many observers predicted, however, that unless the strike advocates should be able to bring a vote on the issue before nightfall, their cause would be seriously affected.

The union is paying only transportation costs, and many of the delegates may be unable to remain over Saturday. In addition, the hour of the walkout, if ordered, may be between midnight Friday and noon Saturday. This would necessitate immediate return home of the leaders.

DOLLAR $1.00 7-8 ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press

New York, June 15.—Fractional strength in the Canadian dollar was opposite to the trend of the pound sterling and the franc on the foreign exchange market here to-day.

The dollar gained 1-16 of a cent at $1.00⅞, while sterling lost ¼ of a cent to $5.05 for cables. The franc declined .00½ to 6.66½.

Exchange rates at 2 p.m. E.S.T. today were:

Pound sterling in Montreal, $5.00⅜.

U.S. dollar in Montreal, .99⅛.

SUN ON PRAIRIES AFTER RAINFALL

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 15.—A warm sun beat down on most of the Canadian prairies to-day, in the wake of additional rain which had added to soil moisture reserves and brightened the crop picture.

Further showers were predicted for Saskatchewan and Alberta, while fair and slightly warmer weather was indicated for Manitoba. Scattered rains fell in Alberta Thursday and overnight.

Temperatures remained cool, but were tending higher. Banff, with seventy-five, was the only recording centre in the prairie provinces to get above seventy degrees. Winnipeg had a low of thirty-eight and several other points were near the freezing mark.

TRAIN WRECK IS AVERTED

Farmer Flags Train in Oregon When He Discovers Roadbed Washed Away

Associated Press

Grant's Pass, Ore., June 15.—A deluge of water which swept from the broken walls of an elevated irrigation ditch carried away forty-two feet of roadbed on the Southern Pacific Railroad early to-day, opening a breach which might have caused a serious wreck had it not been discovered by an alert farmer.

Passengers were being transferred around the main line washout during the day, and three section crews expected to have the damage repaired by to-night. In addition to the loss of the roadbed, about 200 feet of track was covered with earth and rocks.

The Ashland local from Portland was leaving the Grant's Pass station when an itinerant mentioned to A. Brunken, railroad telegrapher, that there was a "bad washout up ahead." The casual word sent Brunken dashing to his station, but he was too late to halt the train.

The washout was on a blind curve and a serious wreck might have occurred had not A. B. Babb, a farmer, meanwhile discovered the damage and flagged the train at the scene of the break.

FRENCH MOVE HITS CANADA

Tariff on Canadian Wheat Doubled; Step Not Unexpected at Ottawa

Canadian Press

Paris, June 15.—The French government to-day issued a decree doubling the tariff on Canadian wheat, wheat and rye mixtures, seeds and flour. The decree, applicable to all shipments after June 16, increases the duty from 80 to 160 francs per quintal.

EXPECTED AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, June 15.—The action of the French government in doubling the tariff on Canadian wheat, wheat and rye mixtures, seeds and flour was not unexpected in official circles here. The matter had been the subject of discussions between the Canadian government and the government of France. It is understood these are still in progress, but whether they will have an effect on the trade treaty between Canada and France has not been indicated.

Under the treaty Canada was given the French minimum tariff on wheat. The effect of the new decree, it is stated here, is to give Canada the general tariff rate on the commodities mentioned. The new decree is only one of several restrictions the government of France has placed against foreign wheat.

USE HOME WHEAT

France has also adopted a system under which her millers are compelled to use a specified proportion of domestic wheat in their flour. They can import Canadian wheat provided a like amount of French wheat is exported.

Conservative Wins By-election in Wales

Canadian Press

Monmouth, Wales, June 15.—The Conservatives retained the Monmouth seat in the House of Commons to-day in a by-election necessitated by the death of the former member, but with a reduced majority, as in many recent by-elections.

Major A. J. Herbert, Conservative candidate, received 20,640 votes and Rev. Daniel Hughes, Labor, 11,094, a Conservative majority of 9,546.

In the last general election Sir L. Forestier Walker, Conservative, who died recently, had a majority of 14,612 over Mr. Hughes.

ness of the board under part 2. If the decisions of the board are to be subject to the approval of the minister, it will be obviously impossible for any party to get redress from the board against decisions of the minister.

It is understood several decisions have been rendered under part 2 and dealt with, which would be nullified by this Supreme Court finding, and that other decisions of the board, completed but not yet reported, will be affected.

Every finding of the board under part 1 of the act, whether it recommended an upward or downward revision of the tariff, has been accepted and implemented to the letter by the government. It was only when decisions under part 2 came in conflict with the rulings of the minister that difficulties arose.

CHAIRMAN IN BRITAIN

Chairman G. H. Sedgewick of the board is in England, where he is studying the textile industry. To-day's findings are of particular interest to British exporters, since reduced imposts ordered by the board, now held to be beyond its power, would have applied to about twelve commodities from that country.

The judgment arises out of the now famous "Jute Twines" case, decided by the Tariff Board last October. It had its origin in an amendment to the Customs Act which, passed in November, 1932, excluded goods entering Canada under British preference rates from the category of those on which the Minister of National Revenue had authority to fix values for duty purposes.

A year prior to that, the minister had issued his orders fixing the value for duty on jute twines.

they conversed and they talked in German.

Well-informed Italians represented themselves as greatly disappointed with yesterday's conversation between the two leaders on the ground Chancellor Hitler had proved himself to be still a visionary, while Premier Mussolini, essentially a realist, wanted to get down to cases immediately.

To-day's discussion was more concrete.

Canadian Press from Havas

Venice, June 15.—A statement of political significance is looked for this evening. Mussolini addresses thousands of Italians massed on the famous Piazza San Marco. At Signor Mussolini's side on the platform will be Adolf Hitler, Chancellor of Germany, with whom Il Duce will have completed two days of important discussions.

The Fascist leader, it is anticipated, will touch on Germany's projected return to the League of Nations and the question of Austria's independence.

TROOPS REVIEWED

The first meeting of the Chancellor and Premier to-day was at the Piazzas San Marco, where 15,000 Fascist troops passed in review.

International problems, particularly disarmament, were expected to form the basis of the day's discussions. The two converse in German, which Mussolini learned while a bricklayer in Switzerland.

Chancellor Hitler expects to return to-morrow to Berlin. He received members of the German colony. Afterward he visited the biennial art exhibition and went with Premier Mussolini to Lido Island for luncheon at the club house on the golf course.

Later they got together in their second conference.

"MINIMUM OF UNITY"

Premier Mussolini later spoke to 20,000 cheering citizens of Venice in San Marco Square, telling them he and Chancellor Hitler had tried to find "a minimum of political unity, without which the destiny of Europe is hopeless.

"Chancellor Hitler and I have not met to remake the political map of Europe or the world," he continued. "We did not meet here to add to the difficulties which weigh on an already anguished Europe. We did meet to try to dispel the clouds which darkened the horizon of European life."

Chancellor Hitler watched from a balcony as the dynamic Italian leader made his address.

Associated Press

Seattle, June 15.—Five tourists from Regina, Sask., adrift in a skiff on Puget Sound for seven hours without food or water, and in an exhausted condition, were rescued by the ferry Ballard off Apple Tree Cove and landed at Port Ludlow.

The party, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Berring, George Dube and two children, left Norma Beach, near Mukilteo, at 5.30 a.m. yesterday to row a short distance down the sound, but their little craft was caught in a heavy wind and carried offshore.

Store May Reply To Inquiry Evidence

1929, when fixed assets increased $47,000,000. The volume of business has been falling off recently and several units in the chain of Canadian department stores, groceterias, Toronto factories and small department stores in Saskatoon and Calgary, have been in the red consistently.

To counteract falling sales, the Eaton company increased its mark-up, auditors said, and cut its operating expenses by wage reductions. This resulted in a small net profit last year after losses in 1931 and 1932.

WINNIPEG FIGURES

The Winnipeg store of the company was under review to-day, this following a similar inquiry into the Toronto store.

Example of mark-ups in the boy's suit department were given by W. L. Gordon, one of the committee auditors. Suits that cost $9.05 in Winnipeg sold for $13.95, a mark-up of 54.16 per cent. Other spreads in this department were 60.33, 54.58, 52.12 and 57.91 per cent.

The laid-down cost of boys' overcoats had been $11.14 each. The coats had been sold at $18, making a mark-up of 61.5 per cent. Boys' overcoats had been purchased by Eatons at $1.26 each and sold at $1.95, making a mark-up of 54.27 per cent, said the accountant.

The gross profit for this department in 1933 was 33.8 per cent. After charging overhead, interest write-downs and other charges the department showed a net loss last year of $2,614.

SHOE BUSINESS

Turning to shoe departments, the auditor showed that one branded shoe cost Eatons $2.97 in 1930, and sold for $4.39, a mark-up of $1.32. The manufacturer's price dropped until last year the shoe cost Eatons $2.37, yet the selling price was $3.75. Thus the mark-up increased from 44 per cent to 51 per cent.

On three other branded lines, although prices dropped between 1930 and 1933, the mark-ups increased from 38.1 to 59; 31.3 to 55.4, and from 31.8 to 55.1 per cent.

In the Winnipeg store, in the women's and misses' suit and coat department, 15.1 per cent was bought from Eaton's Toronto factory, 19.2 per cent from firms in Quebec, 24.7 per cent from Ontario manufacturing firms, 38.8 per cent from suppliers in Manitoba and 2.2 per cent from other sources.

Crepe cloth coats had been purchased by this Winnipeg department at a laid-down cost of $6.09 each. The selling price was $9.75, making a mark-up of 60.09 per cent. Assorted suits had been bought at a laid-down cost of $6.20 each, sold at $9.75, or a mark-up of 57.25 per cent.

WOMEN'S COATS

The auditor told of mark-ups in the women's coat department of 65.71, 61.1, 59.15 and 57.23. The department maintained a mark-up last year of 40.71, to make a net profit of $11,200, its fourth successive year without red ink.

The Winnipeg mail order division made more money last year than the vast commercial edifice as a whole. Auditors told the committee the western catalogue office had a net profit in 1933 of $911,600, compared with a net profit of $878,000 for the T. Eaton Company Limited as a whole.

MOST PROFITABLE

The Winnipeg mail order division has been the most profitable unit in the Dominion-wide Eaton organization, escaping red ink every year since 1924 and returning net profits as high as $2,545,100. Although sales have been dropping, with a 50 per cent decline between 1927 and 1932, gross profits have been maintained by increasing the spread between cost and selling prices in the catalogues, according to the auditor.

WINNIPEG STORE

The Winnipeg store has fifty-seven departments, thirty-eight showing profits in 1933 and nineteen losses.

The largest profit was made in the bargain basement, $52,601, and the next in the groceteria, $32,333. The total sales of the departments in 1933 was $18,341,441, with a gross profit of $3,868,783 and net profit of $141,199.

The auditors gave the committee examples of mark-ups in different store departments. For instance, on seventy-nine furniture shipments mark-ups ranged from 83.36 to 6.6 per cent, although the department made a net gross profit of $113,59[illegible] last year.

Similarly, in the department selling men's suits, overcoats and other clothes, mark-ups ranged from 67.7[illegible] to a loss of 10.38, with the department as a whole making a profit last year of $158,045.

Other departmental net gross profits reported were: Women's underwear and dresses, $144,108; meat and fish, $331,121; groceries, $182,54[illegible]; groceteria, $178,014.

TIRE PRICES

On the heels of complaints lodged earlier, the committee investigated prices of tires in Eaton catalogues. It was found the catalogue prices were lower than customers' list prices from the Dominion Rubber Company, the makers.

Although the Dominion Rubber Company did not sell the tires below cost, they cut the price to Eaton, selling them cheaper than to the own retailers. For instance, on one size, the laid-down cost to Eatons was $4.99 and the catalogue price $7.25. The same size was sold by Dominion Rubber retailers for $6 and to the general public for $8.[illegible]

Chairman Stevens yesterday said independent retailers would be brought before the committee to present evidence on their mark-ups and general business practices, but gave no indication who would be selected or what parts of the country would be represented.

MORE BOMBS FROM "JUDGES"

Four other infernal machines which failed to explode were received in the morning mail to-day, bringing to ten the total of bombs mailed by the terrorists in the last forty-eight hours. Four persons have been injured.

The fourth bomb found to-day was in the mail distributing office of the Paris suburb of Arcueil. It was addressed to a Paris department store.

PRESIDENT THREATENED

The "Three Judges" have threatened the lives of the President, the Premier and other high officials and have mailed bombs to the government broadcasting station here, the United States beauty product firm, a food products concern at Nantes, a book publisher and the Society of Authors.

New Basis For Fruit Trade of the Empire

Agreement Made By Growers in London at Which B.C. Represented

Canadian Press

Vernon, B.C., June 15.—Agreement has been reached at a conference of Empire fruit growers on the question of the export of Canadian apples to the British market. As it is understood here, the conference was not called by the governments and for the present the decisions reached will not have the force of law, but if they are not lived up to in letter and spirit, it is stated, more drastic action, with the sanction of law, will be taken.

The great conclusion finally adopted as contended for by Canadians is thus reported from London by Leo Hayes to the Okanagan stabilization board.

"British proposal—Their growers have market August, September, October; Canada, November to August; foreign, February, March; Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, April to July, inclusive."

"Our alternative proposal finally accepted export of domestic, barrels and Cee grade prohibited until October 15. After October 15, until October 31, only domestic two half inches Cees, 300 up may be shipped, except Cox, Jonathans. Restrictions accepted by Canada equally applicable foreign countries. English growers applying for tariff increase to 7 shillings cwt., Empire free."

POOL PAYMENTS

The Associated Growers have closed the last pool for the 1933 crop. The average price to growers, including rebates, was 73 cents per box. In the figures given, the difference between the total pool and the amount distributed represents the advances made. The total number of packages was 76,501. Following are the payments made to various locals: Kaleden $3,664.44; Kelowna $1,617.37; Keremeos $4,392.65; Naramata $1,430.43; Oliver $8,129.80; Osoyoos $2,476.37; Penticton $10,633.36; Summerland $1,074.47; Vernon $2,779.35; Westbank $24.03; Winfield $140.05. Total $36,362.32. Kootenays and sundry $136.48. Total pool $80,719.28.

REPORT GIVEN ON ANNUITIES

Senate Committee Told Dominion Scheme Is Paying Its Way

Ottawa, June 15. — The Dominion government in the fiscal year 1933-34 received $7,072,000 in annuities payments and paid out $2,500,000 to beneficiaries, the Senate special committee on public accounts was told yesterday by E. G. Blackadar, superintendent of annuities, Department of Labor.

The total amount received since 1908—the twenty-six years government annuities have been in effect—was $43,413,000. Payments in the same period totaled $18,565,000. The annuities fund has a credit of $35,000,000 with the Finance Department, Mr. Blackadar informed the committee.

Annuities are sold by the government particularly with a view to assisting persons with small incomes to save.

There was a profit to the government on the annuities fund, Mr. Blackadar stated. The average interest charge allowed the fund was 4.42 per cent.

The average interest charge on government obligations outstanding last year was 4.62 per cent. The government, however, absorbs administration costs of the fund.

"Then the fund more than pays its way?" Senator W. A. Griesbach, Conservative, Alberta, asked. "It was widely believed the annuities fund was a burden on the country."

VANCOUVER TAX TEST IN COURT

Vancouver, June 15.—Right of the city to tax privately held crown-owned property with a taxable leasehold value of about $30,000,000 is to be determined in a test case initiated by the city in actions against three Granville Island leaseholders for tax arrears.

Writs were issued yesterday against Wright's Canadian Ropes Ltd. for $295, the Morrison Steel and Wire Co. Ltd. for $1,176, and the British Ropes Canadian Factory Ltd. for $1,400. The sums involved represent 1933 taxes.

The total taxes at stake from the Granville Island holders, who have refused to pay their taxes, is $25,546.

The city in these cases, according to the city law department, taxes the leasehold interest of the individual occupying the crown land. Granville Island lesses, however, challenge the right of the city and of the provincial Legislature to delegate such authority to the city.

The lessees have argued the city's tax must be directed against the property itself and not against the occupant; and that, as the property is vested in the Dominion, it is exempt from taxation. The city contends the Privy Council has already decided the principle in a case involving the city of Montreal.

Liquor Stores In Strike Areas Closed

Noranda, Que., June 15.—All liquor stores, hotel bars and beer stores in Noranda and Rouyn, where a strike of miners has been in progress since Monday, were closed to-day. Instructions to close them were received yesterday from the Department of Labor at Quebec.

The police units have been reinforced.

NO NEW POST OFFICES

Peterboro, Ont., June 15 (Canadian Press)—Mayor Roland Denne told the city council yesterday that Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, had told a Peterboro deputation at Ottawa that Premier Bennett would not consent to the building of any new post offices until the federal budget was balanced. Mayor Denne was reporting results of a visit to Ottawa to urge the need of a new federal building here.

Market Bill Before Senate

Senator Murdock's Remarks Stir Senator Meighen to Reply

Ottawa, June 15.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Senate, and Senator James Murdock, Liberal, Ontario, clashed in the Upper House yesterday on the Marketing Bill.

Senator Murdock declared the bill was an attempt to go about the problem in the wrong way and launched an attack on "grafters."

He charged a man revealed as a "grafter" in the mass buying committee was the same man who had influenced Senator Meighen against allowing Grand Trunk Railway strikers to receive pensions.

Senator Meighen declared Senator Murdock had no right to say he had been influenced by anyone.

Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader in the Senate, could not understand the Marketing Bill being sponsored by a Conservative administration, for it was at variance with all the economic doctrines of that party, as well as of the Liberal Party. It smacked of Fascism.

The bill received second reading and moved into committee.

CANADA AND WAR

Canada's problem of keeping out of war in the event of an international conflict was presented to the Upper House by Senator W. A. Griesbach, Conservative, Alberta, who thought this country should secure some adequate naval defence to maintain the neutrality of Canadian ports, particularly on the Pacific Coast. The Pacific, he believed, would be the arena of the next great conflict. Canada needed a sufficient force to maintain neutrality and to keep Canadian ports open and should not look to the United Kingdom for aid in this matter.

Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, recalled the defeat in 1909 of the Laurier naval policy, which would have accomplished this.

The question was then dropped.

The new Companies Act was given third reading in the Upper House as Senator Meighen expressed confidence the provinces would join with the Dominion in surrounding the incorporation of companies with stricter regulations.

LOCAL FLOAT COMES FIRST

Victoria Post Wins Canadian Legion Prize in Portland, Ore., Rose Parade

Associated Press

Portland, Ore., June 15.—In elaborate, luxurious tribute to the rose, scores of floral floats, interspersed by marching organizations and band after band, passed in panorama through Portland Streets yesterday in the annual Rose Festival parade.

Banks of humanity jammed the sides of the streets as the parade was viewed by more than 150,000. Color and sentiment were added by the presence of Canadian Legion floats, bagpipe bands and a troop of Royal Canadian Mounted policemen.

Floats and bands were entered from cities representing every Pacific coast state. Thousands of roses and other flowers were woven into beautiful creations symbolizing peace between the United States and Canada, and representing municipalities, transportation and utility companies, fire departments, schools, clubs, producers and financial and commercial institutions.

VICTORIA WINS

The Victoria post won first prize for Canadian Legion entries. The Portland post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was second, and the Portland Canadian Legion post third.

The British Columbia command of the Canadian Legion terminated its annual convention yesterday, a convention devoted largely to celebration and recognition of peace and goodwill between the United States and Canada. Legion members joined wholeheartedly in Portland's ceremonies and celebrations honoring the rose.

It was estimated the convention brought at least 5,000 Canadians to the city.

BUILDING COST IS CRITICIZED

Canadian Press

Chatham, Ont., June 15.—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, yesterday evening declared the cost of the new east block of the Ontario Parliament Buildings had been increased because stonework tenders had been limited to one firm. He also said "we firmly believe it can be proved" that an agreement was entered into for this purpose.

In his allegation in connection with the construction of the east block, Mr. Hepburn said "this thing would not have happened if the proper system had been followed, if ministers had been required to submit their estimates to the Legislature."

DENIAL MADE

London, Ont., June 15.—Denial of campaign statements there had been "a secret pact to divide profits from the construction of the Ontario Parliament Buildings" was made here yesterday evening by Premier George S. Henry of Ontario.

The Premier explained details of the construction of the east block of the legislative building. "Secret pact" statements he described as one of the "roorbacks" of the election campaign. Another, he said, was the charge of an existing liquor "toll-gate" system.

Washington, June 15.—On the vote of his employees, Secretary Ickes has changed the hours of thousands of Interior Department and PWA employees to from 8 to 3.30. The standard government workday is 9 to 4.30, though those who can quit at the stipulated hour are lucky.

The 8 to 3.30 schedule gives Ickes's boys and girls a chance to get away in the daytime, in or out of town, and have some fun.

P. B. Smith and Four Others Hurt in Auto Collision in Saskatchewan

Canadian Press

Wakaw, Sask., June 15.—Nearing the finish of his election campaign as Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate in Rosthern constituency in the Saskatchewan general election next Tuesday, P. S. Smith was in the hospital here to-day with three broken ribs and a cut on the left eye suffered in a head-on collision between two automobiles near here Wednesday.

Others injured were: George B. Bickerton, Neola, Sask., vice-president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, in the hospital with cuts on the top of his head; F. Nakahon, district farmer, also in the hospital here with his head badly cut; Constable Kusey, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, facial cuts from broken steering wheel; W. C. Saunders, Aberdeen, cut left hand. The latter two were not detained in the hospital.

Nova Scotia Pastor Drowned

Canadian Press

Debert, N.S., June 15.—Rev. G. R. T. Ayling, missing Baptist clergyman, was definitely believed dead to-day after his wife had identified a pair of trousers cast ashore by the swirling waters of Cobequid Bay.

They were picked up near the mouth of the Ingonish River, about ten miles from the spot on the river bank where the preacher's car and hat were found May 4—the day after he set out from home to call on members of his congregation.

WATER ECONOMY URGED

London, June 15 (Canadian Press).—London tube trains and busses are plastered with notices urging economy in the use of water, as no prospect is seen of any material rainfall. Some anxiety exists in several small centres, where, if the dry weather continues, assistance may be sought from larger municipalities. London itself has about three months' supply in storage.

NEAR BEER TO BE AUCTIONED

Pre-repeal Canadian Shipment Detained at Tacoma Will Be Sold

Associated Press

Tacoma, Wash., June 15.—Twenty-four thousand pint bottles of Canadian 3.2 per cent beer will be sold at public auction here July 2 by the United States customs department, according to an announcement by Ray G. Young, deputy collector in charge of the local office.

The brew consists of three shipments which were not claimed and have been held a year as required by law. The sale will start at 10 o'clock in the morning in the appraiser's office in the basement of the Federal Building.

Terms of the sale are cash and the beer will be auctioned off in three lots, one of 100 barrels (twenty dozen pint bottles to the barrel), and two lots of 500 cartons each. There are one dozen pints in a carton.

This is the first sale of its kind held here since repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Purchasers of the beer will have to pay no federal tax or duty of any kind, but it is probable the state of Washington will levy its tax of $1 a barrel if the beer is kept for sale in this state.

REPLY GIVEN ON FRENCH MOTTOES

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15. — The Dominion government has not received any communication from the government of Saskatchewan or anyone in that province asking that French mottoes be struck out of the royal coat of arms.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Prime Minister Bennett answered questions on this subject placed on the order paper by Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker of the House, and member for Montmagny, Que. Mr. Lavergne asked if communications had been received from the government of Saskatchewan or from public bodies or individuals in that province requesting the French mottoes: "Dieu et Mon Droit" and "Honi Soit Qui Mal Y Pense," be struck out of the royal coat-of-arms?

Six Killed In Motorbus Crash

Canadian Press from Havas

Johannesburg, South Africa, June 15.—Five school children and their teacher, all Europeans, were killed and sixteen others were less seriously hurt when a motorbus was hit by a freight train at a grade crossing here yesterday.

SASKATCHEWAN BALLOTS

London, June 15 (Canadian Press)—Saskatchewan election officials have completed distribution of approximately 1,000,000 election ballots throughout the fifty-two constituencies of the province to be used June 19. Half a million of these are light green and will be used for choosing legislators, and the other 500,000 are salmon color for use in the beer plebiscite.

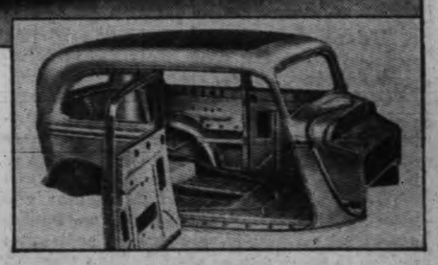
THOUSANDS OF MOTORISTS SAY

"I always feel safer in a Ford V-8!"



THE strength of steel protects you when you ride in a Ford V-8.

Around you is an all-steel body, electrically welded into one piece. Beneath your feet is a rigid, X-type steel frame of double strength. Out in front of you and behind you are strong steel axles, braced by steel radius-rods and supported by a steel torque tube. (Ford is the only low-price car with a full torque-tube drive.)

You ride upon steel-spoke wheels, also electrically welded into one piece. The windshield before your eyes is safety glass. (All New Ford De Luxe closed cars are equipped throughout with safety glass at no additional cost.)

Another reason why you feel safer in a Ford V-8 is ease of handling. There is always less strain and less likelihood of tight situations when you drive an alert, obedient car.

The Ford V-8 gives you an extra margin of safety because of its quick acceleration, eight-cylinder speed and power, ease of steering, stability on curves and rough roads, and powerful, oversize brakes. It has more braking surface per pound of weight than any other car.

(See nearest Ford Dealer for details)

DOUBLE-DROP, X-BRACED FRAME—Exceptionally strong and rigid. Channels forming X-member extend the full length of the main side-channels, making them doubly strong.

BIG, POWERFUL BRAKES—Ford brakes are larger than those in cars of similar weight and power. Big brakes are safer because they stop the car more surely and more quickly. Also less likely to wear.

TUNE IN—FRED WARING AND HIS PENNSYLVANIANS. A half-hour of glorious music. (Columbia Broadcasting System.) Every Sunday night and every Thursday night at 9:30 (Eastern Daylight Saving Time). In the meantime—"WATCH THE FORDS GO BY."

ALL-STEEL BODY—Not wood and steel, but ALL-STEEL. And it is electrically welded into one piece to make it even stronger. You need an all-steel body for the greatest safety in driving and you get it in the Ford V-8. Costs us more to build, but there's no additional cost to you.

STEEL-SPOKE WHEELS—Hub, spokes and rim are electrically welded into one unit. Exceptionally strong. No separate parts to work loose, rust, corrode or become weakened.

CLEAR-VISION VENTILATION—Built in the windows. No exterior parts to obstruct your view. Windshield opens.

TRANSVERSE SPRINGS, with torque-tube drive and radius-rods. Give greater safety as well as easy-riding comfort. Solid front axle is an additional safety factor.

SAFETY GLASS THROUGHOUT on all Ford V-8 De Luxe closed cars at no extra cost. You pay many dollars extra for this protection on some low-price cars.

THE EDUCATIONAL SURVEY

THE EDUCATIONAL SURVEY TO BE undertaken by the provincial government under the direction of Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, should lead to important changes affecting one of the most important public services of the province. The chief elements of the educational problem are finance and the nature of the training given to the younger generation. The two are interdependent, since it is impossible to deal with the second until the first has been settled. How much can the public of British Columbia reasonably expend on education? How should the necessary funds be raised? How should they be spent? Should the duty of providing education be confined exclusively to the province or should it be divided between the province and municipalities, and what should be the nature of the division?

These are fundamental features of the financial aspect, and until they are disposed of it is impossible to determine either the extent or character of the education provided for the youth of this province. The initial question is not whether British Columbia should have the best educational facilities so much as how much can British Columbia afford to pay for its education, and, second, what is the best education the province can give within its financial limitations. Once the initial inquiry is satisfactorily met, the second problem arises. That problem is not so immediate and direct as the financial one, but in the long run in its relation to the welfare of the country it is even more important.

That there should be an entirely new viewpoint in respect of the aims, purposes and methods of our educational system there is not the slightest doubt. In many respects that system generally is literally moth-eaten with custom and tradition. An inheritance from past ages when education was something apart from the society as a whole, when educated people did not need to be adaptable or practical, it has not adjusted itself to the changing moods and tenses of human progress in other directions. It is only in relatively recent times that elsewhere education has been directed into new channels in the realization that the school should be more of a laboratory in which the characteristics of children can be determined, corrected or directed, than an agency for filling them with information, much of which is of no use to many of them, and the dissemination of which, therefore, involves not only a waste of time and money but actually imposes a handicap upon their welfare.

Why, for example, load dead languages upon a pupil who has no sense of this subject, and whose natural aptitudes are such that in the calling he or she should pursue neither would require the slightest use of it? Why should a potential musician or artist be taught physics, or one who obviously ought to be a mechanic be instructed in subjects which are entirely foreign to his mechanical bent, interests and inclinations? Why should a boy or girl be trained for a university education when it is apparent that either of them should be diverted to some employment after adequate instruction in the high school calling for special training in the subjects to which he or she is peculiarly adapted?

Admittedly, it is not easy to transform our educational system into something more effective in its relation to the imperious needs of changing times and conditions, or it would have been done long ago. Countless parents still nourish the fallacy that they ought to decide what their offspring should be and do, irrespective of their inclinations and other characteristics. There are still many fond fathers and mothers who want their sons to be doctors, lawyers or luminaries in some other profession, whereas they really should be structural steel workers, farmers or blacksmiths. Any scheme of vocational investigation and guidance in our educational system, therefore, must require the education of many parents as well, particularly so that they may realize that in insisting upon what they, for various reasons—especially the empty reason of social pride—want, they are contributing to the failure and unhappiness of their children and imposing a liability upon the country.

Reforms of this character would not only effect an important economic saving, but would vastly improve the capacity of our citizenship for worthwhile accomplishment. They necessarily can be accomplished only in gradual stages, but they are so urgently needed that already they are under way in many other countries. The review which Hon. Mr. Weir is about to inaugurate will be the first step towards this objective in British Columbia, and those who know the Minister of Education, who are familiar with his point of view, his experience and grasp of the problem to the solution of which he has set himself, may feel confident that something very beneficial both to the cause of education and the welfare of the province will arise from the inquiry about to begin.

SASKATCHEWAN'S DEBT

SOME IRRITATION SEEMS TO BE being manifested in Saskatchewan—where polling in the provincial general election will take place on Tuesday—because the members of the government who are asking for another term of office have not told the public why the debt of the province was increased by $80,000,000 in four and a half years.

Relief, according to The Regina Leader-Post, only accounts for a quarter of it, so it wants to know how the government got rid of the remaining $60,000,000 of the people's money. "The worst of it is," says our contemporary, "it is borrowed money and now the people are faced with paying it back, plus the interest charges. The whole story indicates reckless, unbalanced spending on the part of the government, largely for the reason that a cabinet of inexperienced men did not know how to administer the affairs of the province. The people know what the result is."

It is interesting to note that of the fifty-four Liberal candidates in the Saskatchewan contest twenty-four have had previous legislative experience, and the remaining thirty are all prominent agriculturists, business or professional men. It would seem, therefore, that the welfare of all the people of Saskatchewan can be safely entrusted to the Liberal party which former Premier Gardiner fully anticipates to lead to victory next Tuesday.

All Liberal administrations in Saskatchewan—those of Mr. Scott, Mr. Martin, Mr. Dunning, and Mr. Gardiner—were, in the main, highly creditable administrations from the standpoint of public morality. All were headed by men of probity. The record in this respect is quite remarkable, considering that Saskatchewan, under those administrations, was a young province, for where a political organism is young and in the making, opportunities for fraud and corruption have sometimes been found to flourish.

TO-MORROW'S V.O.N. TAG DAY

IT WOULD BE MOST UNFORTUNATE if the activities of the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses were impaired through lack of funds. In ordinary times this splendid work has required the most careful budgeting even when the demands were not nearly as heavy as they are under present conditions, but the need is much more pressing now. Lower resistance to disease, caused by undernourishment through lack of means to obtain adequate food, has been responsible for hundreds of additional calls for the nursing attention which the local branch furnishes. This is reflected in the fact that last year no fewer than ten thousand free visits were made. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the response to tomorrow's appeal for funds will be satisfactory.

It should be understood that everyone, regardless of race or creed, is entitled to the services of the V.O.N. Bedside nursing is the fundamental principle of the order; but it does not stop at that. Its activities include all phases of health work concerned with family and community welfare. The variety of the work undertaken thus makes it imperative that the order's nurses have the highest professional qualifications. Hundreds of homes in Victoria could testify to the fine work which is being done by the capable, enthusiastic, and cheerful staff which comprises the local branch.

EXPENDITURES AND NATIONAL INCOME

ACCORDING TO A CAREFUL STUDY made by The Financial Post of Toronto, 32.9 per cent of the total national income of Canada was absorbed by expenditures of the various Canadian governments. Taxation by governments on the other hand absorbed only twenty-two per cent of the national income, an indication that the expenditures of the respective governments were substantially larger than their revenues and that they had to resort to borrowing. The sharp increase in expenditures of the government can best be seen from the following table which shows total governmental expenditures, national income and the ratio of expenditures to national income.

	Expenditures	National Income	Ratio
1932	$1,016,667,000	$3,091,400,000	32.9
1931	1,057,069,000	3,680,000,000	28.7
1930	987,137,000	4,750,000,000	20.8
1929	884,964,000	5,465,000,000	16.2

Governmental expenditures showed a steady increase from 1928 to 1931. In 1932 a slight decrease occurred but the total was still almost $200,000,000 above the 1928 figure of $825,355,000. During the same period the national income of Canada declined from about $5,800,000,000 in 1928 to about $3,091,000,000 in 1932. As a result of the increase in governmental expenditures and the decrease in national income, the ratio of expenditures to national income rose from 14.2 per cent in 1928 to 32.9 per cent in 1932. The large increase in expenditures of the Dominion government and its political subdivisions was caused primarily by the depression which increased the burden of the various governments.

It is very difficult to make comparison between the taxation burden of one country with that of others but on the basis of careful studies made, it would seem that in 1932 the ratio of taxation to national income in Canada was larger than that of the United States and of Germany. Of course, it is a well known fact that in recent years the expenditures of the United States government have increased tremendously and that in all probability the ratio of expenditures to total national income is at present greater in the United States than in Canada. It is pointed out, incidentally, that large taxation makes the accumulation of capital difficult and therefore less capital is available for industrial development. However, it is to be expected that with the increase in business activity the ratio of government expenditures to total national income will decline.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TWENTY-THREE WORDS TO SAY YES

The Regina Leader-Post

In a Hansard before us, Mr. Jacobs, a Montreal member, is quoted as asking "if Hon. Mr. Patenaude had been named Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec?"

Did Mr. Bennett answer yes or no?

Mr. Bennett said: "His Excellency the Governor-General has approved of the appointment of Hon. E. L. Patenaude as Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec."

This made twenty-three words do the work of one. Mr. King could hardly do better.

THIRD DEGREE IN U.S.

The Baltimore Sun

In other countries it is possible to build up cases against suspects without the use of brutal methods of interrogation. In America, where the third degree is so widely prevalent, the record of arrests and convictions for crime is disgracefully poor. Can this be more than a coincidence?

A THOUGHT

And if thy brother be waxen poor, and fallen in decay with thee; then thou shalt relieve him; yea, though he be a stranger, or a sojourner; that he may live with thee.—Leviticus xxv 35.

Did universal charity prevail, earth would be a heaven and hell a fable.—Colton.

Loose Ends

Oh yes, we are orthodox at all costs—the boys are growing cynical on the road to Elk Lake—Mr. Beak feels remarkably invigorated—and we keep the gold out of the teeth where it is needed.

By H. B. W.

ORTHODOX

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, says an Ottawa dispatch to the Southam newspapers, is deeply gratified because it has been able to pass marketing legislation and measures of debt reduction for the farmers of Canada of the most far-reaching character; but more particularly because all these changes are quite "orthodox." That, indeed, is a lovely sentiment, and shows you our charming habit of doing the most revolutionary things but never admitting for a moment that they are in the least out of the way.

If you had told the government of Canada a yea ago that the price of products from the farm, the forest and the sea should be fixed by boards, you would have been called a dangerous radical. The Colonist would have written editorials about you. If you had suggested that a majority of farmers or lumbermen or fishermen should be able to get together and force all the farmers, lumbermen or fishermen in the community to pool their incomes, you would have been called a communist. That is, indeed, communism in a pretty undiluted form. Yet it is precisely what can happen under the new marketing act.

I am not criticizing it. I am in favor of the act, and I think the Liberals in Parliament were unwise to oppose it, except in its constitutional aspects. But why say it is orthodox? Why not admit at the outset that it marks the complete surrender of every political and economic principle that men like Mr. Bennett have fought for through their entire lives? Why must we try to maintain the illusion that, while other countries may be forced into these experimental measures, Canada is above them? Why must we keep up the bluff that we have never changed our minds?

And if, in the space of a year, a reactionary Conservative Government can swing completely over to the left and permit the establishment of something very like communism in the basic industries of Canada, what may happen in the next few years? Well, whatever happens, however radical it may be, you can depend upon it that the government of the day, having attacked it for years as dangerous, will insist that it is really nothing new. Our revolutions in this country are comfortable that way. They are always so utterly orthodox.

BOYS

THE BOYS have started their annual trek to Elk Lake, and I feel that I should devote my annual paragraph to their noble cause, since nobody else ever seems to say anything for them. You will learn a lot by giving some boys a lift in your car to Elk Lake. To hear them talk about swimming, baseball, prize fighting and other clean, innocent sports, will refresh you, renew your faith in the young, cheer you up for the rest of the day. You will be surprised to find that, in all the excitements of these times, through the depression and the profound social revolution which no one in this generation will ever understand, youth remains just about what it always was—unchanged, and touched with a certain glory which one can never quite recapture.

It is only when they get old enough to associate with the old, to discover what a mess the old have made of this bright new world, that these boys begin to grow cynical and restless. They shouldn't be allowed to experience their first disillusionment, their first sight of grown-up selfishness, on the road to Elk Lake. They should be given a lift.

But there should be some accepted signal or sign to indicate to them that when I am nearing Royal Oak, there is no use begging a lift from me, because I go no further. When I fail to pick them up they should

PARKS

To the Editor:—I read with a great deal of interest the letter on parks in your issue of last Monday. Something must be done to bring tourists here, and it seems a thousand pities we are not getting the benefit in permanent improvements of our parks when we have to pay for the unemployed. Vancouver has done wonders in her parks and beaches and bathing pools by using unemployed, but, then, Vancouver has a parks commission, who serve without salary, just because they love the business and know what should be done to make the place attractive. We should have a parks board here. The idea of stocking Goldstream, Sooke, Elk and Thetis Lakes, and encouraging fishing, is a first-class one.

earing was completed and judg-t was reserved by the Court of eal this afternoon in the appeal of is Williams, W. Clayton and James idson, convicted of a $20,000 kmail attempt.

T AN ACCOMPLICE

uring the proceedings to-day, C. L. lpine, prosecuting counsel, con-ded Thomas Lundy, main witness the prosecution, was not an ac-plice, as charged by the defence. also contended there had been no direction of the jury by Chief ice Morrison.

ordon S. Wismer and T. F. Hurley, nsel for the convicted men, in r final addresses attacked Lundy's ibility. Mr. Wismer said Lundy no ordinary stool pigeon, as he ted out as a private individual ring into an agreement to commit unlawful act, then changed his d and became an informer.

f Lundy could escape the conse-ces of what he did by going to nel Spencer with information of plot alleged to have been con-ed, Williams and Davidson also d have escaped by doing the same g," Mr. Wismer said.

hief Justice Macdonald said there no ground for a new trial in f Justice Morrison's reference to iams selling Bibles in Ontario at the same time mixing it with kmail in Vancouver.

RENGTHENING

ELL, WE HAVE COME to the great rustic festival of the year this way, a primitive rite which, more civilized country, would be ed with parades and trumpets a grand community guzzle. I n, Mr. Beak has started to pick oganberries and put them in his l, the one which he used last g for his lime and sulphur spray, not the one, he is careful to hasize, which he used for his d garden fertilizer, as alleged by Pudbury.

s, Mr. Beak started to pick his berries to-day and to acquire in hot sun that mighty thirst which assure their full use before the is out. That is the trouble with Beak's arrangement. He gets up a thirst picking the berries that an never leave them to mature enough to become safe for human umption, and the barrel is empty before the next crop is ripe.

-day Mrs. Glumby undertook to Mr. Beak what she thought of goings-on, and said he ought to ashamed of himself, guzzling berry wine all winter.

h, but it's very strengthenin'," Mr. Beak. "Very invigoratin', it 'am."

h, get along with you, you and strengthenin' and invigoratin'," Mrs. Glumby.

y, but it is," Mr. Beak persisted. see that barrel there? Well, the season starts I can't lift it. by Christmas I can lift it up over ad. That's strengthenin' fer you, it?"

DENTIST was telling me to-day that the price of gold has been ed so high by the quiet debase-of our currency that most e can't afford proper gold fillings nore. Dentistry and public health hus suffering from a form of mic madness which is quite Practically the only use of gold he world is to fill teeth, and ng else will do the job ade-ly. But instead of getting it to eople who need it for this pur-as cheaply as possible in the in-s of the nation's health, we lock ay in vaults, keep raising the of it, and calling that the gold ard.

ually it wouldn't make the est difference if all the gold in aults were taken and dumped the sea and chunks of cheese tuted therefor, so long as the didn't know about it. The value in the gold is the public's worship of it, like savages wor-ing a stone idol, the weird gold which still persists among dly civilized people, though 90 ent of money in all countries relation to gold at all.

obvious thing to do, though no as yet suggested it, is to take old out of the vaults and put eople's teeth where it is needed, till ba your currency, if you upon it. The gold would be as good a base for currency in mouth as in a vault in Ottawa ould be doing more good. While nations have gone off the gold rd without injuring their nic health, it is important, in days of deteriorating teeth for duals to remain on it average person's teeth require ch gold nowadays that we be able to issue on the th of it enough currency to e all the work and wages that attullo could desire. It would satisfaction, too, for an honest to feel that every time he d the tortures of a dental fill-e was putting twenty unem-to work on our roads.

Fire By-law Amendment By-ealing with the issuance of per-for beach and open fires and ting areas in which they may ndled, was introduced by the ay Council at its meeting yes-evening.

Electric Light Is Sparrows' Home

Illuminated and Heated Apartment Abode of Feathered Family at Foul Bay

On the list of Greater Victoria's more discriminating tenants write the names of Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow and their children.

Not content with the ordinary nooks and crannies in homes in the Foul Bay district, and totally unsatisfied with a man-made bird house, they cast their decision in favor of electrically lit and mechanically warmed quarters in the broken lamp reflector on the street light just east of Foul Bay Road on Crescent Road.

In the reflector itself they have built their nest and with the help of the heat artifically generated acting as an incubator, have hatched their brood. The light gives them illumination for night activity and a sprinkler on a nearby lawn furnishes running water almost constantly.

Precociously born in the atmosphere of the bright lights, the youngsters are chirping merrily at night up to the time the switch is thrown to plunge Oak Bay in darkness.

BOY SCOUT GROUP NAMES OFFICERS

Annual Meeting of St. Mark's Held; W. Tomes President

The annual meeting of St. Mark's Boy Scout group was held Wednesday at Tolmie Junior School, Boleskine Road, W. Tomes presiding.

The secretary-treasurer presented a report of the last year's activities, and showed a balance in hand. Major Hardinge, acting local commissioner, was present and addressed the meeting, making special reference to the work of the late Eric Walker, scoutmaster of the group. Mr. Tomes and several other speakers feelingly spoke of Mr. Walker's unselfish labors on behalf of the boys, and Lady Emily Walker, his mother, gave a short address expressing the hope that the troup would carry on.

The following persons were elected as the officers and committee for the ensuing year: President, W. Tomes; secretary-treasurer, W. L. Llewellyn; committee, Rev. O. L. Jull, A. Clarke, F. Mottershead, Kelly, Giles and Herriott, and Messrs. Hughes, Head, Kennedy, Clarke, Dunn and Giles.

Michael Share was appointed acting scoutmaster, with the following assistants: Tom Hodnut, Myron Ashton, Maurice Waldron and Stan Ralph.

King's Printer Describes Plant

Charles Banfield, King's Printer, yesterday evening gave an address before the Men's Auxiliary of St. Saviour's Church, tracing the development of the printery since its establishment in 1860.

The crude-looking press on which the first work was done, had given place to the latest efficient machines, which turn the printed matter out in quick time. Mr. Banfield described in detail the operation of the plant, various kinds of paper used in turning out jobs and the different work of the employees.

The speaker was given a hearty vote of thanks at the end of his address.

Seek Report On Sewerage

Cases cited by the city, where the Saanich sewerage system is faulty on the boundary line, will be investigated by the medical health officer and the sanitary inspector of the municipality, for report back to the council.

The council yesterday evening received a letter from the city in reply to its request to cite specific cases of where the objections occurred. Drainage at Harriet and Burnside Roads, on Alpha Street near Burnside Road, and on certain portions of Tolmie Avenue, were reported as the cases which the city complained of.

REPORTS FEVER EPIDEMIC OVER

Health in Saanich Excellent, Says Doctor; Mumps in Community

The slight scarlet fever epidemic in Saanich is on the wane and lately has been replaced by an outbreak of mumps, according to the monthly report of Dr. David Berman, medical health officer, presented to the Saanich Health Committee yesterday evening.

During April and May 116 cases of mumps were reported, he said. Two scarlet fever cases were reported in April and four in May. Two of the latter were contacted outside, the report said.

Other than these cases, health in the municipality had been excellent, said the doctor. A vaccination campaign was put on last month and 635 persons were vaccinated.

The detailed items of the report indicated the nursing staff had been generally busy in all branches of its work. Several hundred school children were examined during the two months and regular inspections were carried out.

The details of the report follow:

Poems, Prose and Stories of Forest Lore on Programme

The June meeting of Victoria and Islands Branch Canadian Authors' Association was held yesterday evening at the home of Major F. V. and Mrs. Longstaff, King George Terrace, Miss M. Eugenie Perry, vice-president, presiding. With regard to the forthcoming annual convention of the Canadian Auhtors' Association to be held at Lake of the Woods on June 27 and days following, it was decided that in the event of the Victoria president, J. P. Hicks, being unable to attend the convention, the kind offer of Mrs. Annie Charlotte Dalton, of Vancouver, to present the report for Victoria, should be accepted with appreciation.

It was announced that three plays by members of the Victoria and Islands Branch would be produced this autumn by little theatre groups in Vancouver; "Calories," by Myrtle E. Lane; "The Spirit of Father Pat," by L. Bullock-Webster, and "Old Reliable," by Marion Isabel Angus. The programme for the evening arranged with the view of finding literary references both in prose and in poetry to trees, proved a most fascinating one. Major Longstaff, dealing with the forests of British Columbia as the Indian hunting grounds, particularly in the environs of Seaton Lake and Bridge River and along the P.G.E. His collection of beautiful photographs taken by himself and showing wondrous forest growths and charming scenery, amply illustrated his tales of Indian lore and animal life in the wilds of northern British Columbia.

Mrs. E. G. Fern, convener of the poetry group, read delightfully several groups of poems on trees by local authors, "The Forest Fiend," by Mary H. Rathom; "Trail's End," by Florence McLaren; "Standing Alone," by Frances Ebbs-Canavan; "The Robin's Pool," by M. Eugenie Perry, and "Forest Music," by Mrs. Ferne.

A recitation of "The Lone Pine," by Caroline D'A. Henderson, was cleverly given by Miss L. Clement and Donald A. Fraser read a group of his own poems, including "The Fir," "Arbutus" and "Timbers."

C. C. Pemberton was heard in a carefully prepared paper on "Forestry Facts and Poetic Fancies," in which he quoted from Tennyson's drama, "The Foresters," written when Tennyson was eighty years old, and just prior to his death in 1892. It was of interest to note that this drama, so little known, was produced in New York the same year with Ada Rehan as Maid Marian. Mr. Pemberton questioned how far poets and writers might take liberty with scientific facts, and quoted from Tennyson, John Nisbitt, in "Our Forests and Woodlands"; Shakespeare, Scott and others. Beautiful illustrations of oaks, such as Sidney Oak, Windfarthing Oak, Turpin's Oak, Oak at Bale, Nannan Oak, Herne's Oak, in sketches and enlargements were greatly enjoyed by the guests during Mr. Pemberton's address, and some very interesting souvenirs were shown of bark samples, and souvenirs of Canadian forests at Windsor.

Those taking part in the programme were heartily applauded, and a vote of appreciation tendered to Major and Mrs. Longstaff for their hospitality and the interest of examining the many treasures of Major Longstaff's library. Later, supper was served in the dining room.

Mrs. Paul Wickson, widow of the noted Canadian painter, and Miss Lillian Wickson, of Hamilton Place, Paris, Ontario, were interesting visitors with Mrs. E. H. Bird, of Sylvan Lane, their hostess, during their stay in Victoria.

The meetings of the Victoria and Islands Branch will be resumed in the autumn.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile . . . Without Calomel, And Feel Like a Million Dollars.

Nothing can put your system out of kilter more quickly than your liver. All it has to do is stop pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels—and life certainly gets grey.

That sluggish flow of bile slows up digestion and elimination and makes you "feel punk". Your stomach acts up—gas, bloating, sourness, pain. Your breath is bad and the taste in your mouth is nasty. Your head aches. Skin is blotchy. All, of course, because your system is full of poisons.

Mere bowel movers like salts, oil, mineral water, roughage, laxative candy or chewing gum are not good enough to correct this condition entirely. You're livery and you must wake up your liver bile to be happy again.

Avoid calomel (mercury). The thing for you is a box of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They never upset you because they're purely vegetable, gentle and safe; but how they do change your view on life!

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c. at all druggists. 60

Jumpy Nerves

Yield to the soothing action of this medicine. You will eat better . . . sleep better . . . feel better . . . look better. Life will seem worth living again. Don't delay any longer. Begin taking it today.

CENTENARIAN CUTS NEW TEETH

Canadian Press

Kingston, Ont., June 15. — One hundred years old yesterday, Mrs. Thomas McEwan of Tichborne, thirty miles north of here, is cutting her third set of teeth. She is the fourth aged Ontario resident to report new teeth sprouting in recent months.

Born in Ireland, Mrs. McEwan has lived in Canada for many years. She is still in possession of all her faculties.

GARDEN PARTY SUCCESS

A very enjoyable garden party, sponsored by the Tuckabatchee Club of the First Baptist Church, was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Hamilton, Vining Street. The garden party was officially opened by Mrs. A. E. Taylor at 3.30 p.m. A musical programme was rendered during the afternoon, followed by dancing by the pupils of Miss Florence Clough, which was very much enjoyed by those present. Other features of the programme included a novelty booth and a candy stall.

In the evening a programme of games and stunts was participated in by the guests. Special music was played by Harvey Godtel on the piano accordion. At the close of the evening's entertainment strawberries and ice cream were served. The committees responsible for the entertainment were: Programme, Miss M. Beveridge, Miss Nora Gibson, Miss Margaret Freeman; refreshments, Miss Helene Hamilton, Jean McLean and Betty Gale; novelty booth, Misses Agnes Fleton, Marian Stevenson and Marguerite McIntosh; candy stall, Misses Sylvia Smith, Jessie Reynolds, Frances Pollard and Audrey Hamilton.

The many friends of Mrs. H. Bailey, 1157 Pembroke Street, will regret to hear of her removal to the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

MRS. GEORGE B. NICHOLSON

HONEYMOON UP-ISLAND

Bruce Elmore, Former Brentwood College Student, Weds Miss Charlotte Eddy

A former Brentwood College student was the bridegroom at a smart wedding held in the Sacred Heart Chapel, at Bellevue, Seattle, Tuesday afternoon between Miss Charlotte Whittemore Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Garfield Eddy, of Seattle, and Mr. Bruce Elmore, son of Mrs. Bruce Elmore and the late Dr. Elmore, of Seattle.

Only the bride's closet friends gathered, at 4 o'clock in the small, lily-filled chapel for the wedding ceremony, which was read by candlelight by the Rev. Father T. F. Vande Walle. Mrs. T. J. Tafford-Huteson played the bridal music.

The bride, a diminutive and pretty blonde, was in a white satin bridal gown made on classically simple princess lines, with a high neckline, long sleeves and a court train extending out from the skirt. Her tulle veil was held in place by a tiny band of white satin with clusters of orange blossoms at each side. Creamy white roses and lilies of the valley formed her bouquet, which was tied with white satin ribbons.

SISTER IS BRIDE'S ATTENDANT

Miss Mary Ann Eddy, her sister's only attendant, wore a chalk rose jacket dress with a pink baku straw hat, banded in brown velvet, and brown slippers. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and delphinium, tied with light blue ribbon.

Ushers were Jack Eddy and Daniel Elmore. Mr. George L'Abbe was best man.

Following the service at the church there was a wedding reception on the grounds of the beautiful Eddy estate at Tree Top Terrace, Medina.

RECEIVE UNDER CANOPY

The bridal party received under a huge white canpoy which was flanked on either side by tall standards filled with regal lilies, St. Joseph lilies and blue delphinium . . . Mrs. James Garfield Eddy, receiving with the bridal party, wore a handsome rose lace gown with brown-brimmed straw hat and a most effective corsage of yellow orchids. Mrs. Bruce Elmore, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in heavy white crepe made with a short coat and on her large white hat was a bunch of violets and purple violets were in her corsage.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, having low floral pieces of white sweet peas, roses and white larkspur.

AT CAMPBELL RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore left for a honeymoon at Campbell River, Vancouver Island, where they are the guests of Mr. Elmore's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Haig-Brown, the bride travelling in a Martial Armand model ensemble of dark blue wool and printed crepe, and small blue hat. Later they will make their home in Seattle.

WHEAT WIZARD MADE KNIGHT

GOV.-GENERAL'S SON FOR STAGE

Lord Duncannon to Appear in Shakespearian Roles in London

Quebec, June 15.—Viscount Duncannon, son of the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, is going to become a professional actor, but he does not intend to give his life to the stage.

The viscount was home in Ottawa to-day after a vain attempt to fly from Father Point, Que. Bad weather forced him to take a train. As he passed through here Thursday he revealed he would sail for England again August 4 to fulfill a contract to play in Shakespearean dramas in the open-air theatre in Regent's Park, London, under the direction of Sidney Carroll.

APPEAL FOR JAM FOR SOLARIUM

Now that the jam-making season is here, the Queen Alexandra Solarium is making its annual appeal to housewives to make an extra jar for the pantry at Mill Bay. The little inmates, like other children, have a "sweet tooth" and jam is an invaluable addition to their diet, so it is hoped they will not be disappointed. The Solarium will gladly provide bottles for the jam, which may be obtained any day at the office, 219 Pemberton Building, from 9 till 5 daily, or on Saturday mornings.

B.C. REBEKAHS END SESSION

Officers Installed and Presentations Made at Assembly Closing

At the closing sessions of the Rebekah Assembly, I.O.O.F. of B.C. yesterday many interesting reports were read of the good work being done by the lodges of the jurisdiction and by Associated Rebekah Assembly. Mrs. A. Reynal, P.P., Saskatchewan, brought greetings from that jurisdiction. Mrs. M. McDonald, P.P., was elected representative to Associated Rebekah Assembly.

Installation of officers then took place, with Mrs. G. Elliott, P.P., as marshal, assisting Mrs. Todd with installation ceremony, the officers installed being: President, Mrs. L. M. Trethewey, Vancouver; vice-president, Mrs. S. M. Matson, Penticton; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Walker, Victoria; warden, Mrs. A. Dore, Kelowna; treasurer, Mrs. E. Doane, Victoria; marshal, Mrs. B. Taylor, Vancouver; conductor, Mrs. K. Boyer, Mission; chaplain, Mrs. N. Johnson, Cranbrook; inside guardian, Mrs. H. Martin, Rossland; outside guardian, Mrs M. Webb, Vancouver.

The officers were recipients of many beautiful flowers and dainty gifts. The president gave gifts of merit to Vermillion, 24; Illahie, 30; Jubilee, 17; Staff Capt. Adinah No. 8, Mrs. M. Barnes, and by request presented Mrs. E. M. Craigen of Powell River with a P.N.G. jewel. Mrs. M. Brown received flowers from assembly and Mrs. F. A. Walker, secretary, Junior Past President Mrs. E. V. R. Todd also received gifts and flowers.

A very large and interested gathering of Rebekahs enjoyed the meeting of the Theta Rho Girls' Club, Beaver No. 4, when the degree work was exemplified in a most dignified manner. The club is gaining in membership and doing good work.

Garden Party At Mrs. Gerald May's

Saturday, June 30, is the date chosen for the garden party to be held at "Dunmora," beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. May, West Saanich Road, in aid of the funds of St. Mary's and St. Stephen's parishes, Saanichton.

Mrs. W. R. McD. Parr, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, and Mrs. J. S. A. Bastin, wife of the rector, will act as general conveners. Mrs. F. Turgoose will have charge of the tea, Mrs. W. O. Wallace, candy and ice cream; Mrs. F. Y. Greensted and Miss Lyle, fancy work, and Mrs. D. B. Hodgson, home cooking. There will be cocanut shies, clock golf and treasure hunt, and many other attractions.

First United W.M.S.—The regular meeting of the First United Church W.M.S. will be held in the schoolroom next Monday at 2.45 p.m. Circle leaders are asked to bring their quarterly returns. Rev. Dr. Imrie will be the guest speaker and have as his subject, "The Life of David Brainard."

The Victoria Golf Club will hold a flannel dance at the Club house on Friday evening, July 27, at 9 o'clock. Len Acres's orchestra has been engaged to supply the music. Tickets, which are limited to 250, may be obtained from the secretary at the Club House, or from any member of the committee.

Miss Dorothy Chennells, whose marriage will take place at the end of this month, after which she will make her home in Calgary, was presented with a handsome pair of sterling silver candlesticks as a wedding gift by lady members of the Gorge Vale Golf Club yesterday evening. Miss Chennells has been secretary of the ladies' committee this year. The gift, together with other personal gifts, was presented at the supper held at the Japanese tea gardens following the nine-hole match, captain's versus secretary's teams. The table was most attractive with a floral arrangement of pink and white carnations and asparagus fern, arranged by Mrs. M. W. Oliver, while each place was designated by a spray of flowers and a clever place-card, representing a golf ball on a tee together with a club, these being the clever handiwork of Miss Freda Rippingale. During the evening Mrs. Angus Campbell presented the prizes to the winners of the Gorge Vale Club ladies' championship, several of which she generously donated. Miss Vivien Wiley received the championship cup and prize; Miss Peggy Allen, the runner-up and medalist prizes; Mrs. A. T. Hunkin, the prize for the flight. Among those present were Mrs. Angus Campbell, Miss Dorothy Chennells, Mrs. M. W. Oliver, Mrs. H. H. Allen, Mrs. James Smart, Mrs. E. D. Freeman, Mrs. A. T. Hunkin, Mrs. H. P. Hodges, Mrs. H. I. Mallek, Mrs J. A. Wiley, the Misses Vivien Wiley, Peggy Allen, E. B. Walker, Muriel Banfield, Anna Mason, M. E. Seymour, Helen Sweetland, Jean Torrance, Mabel Yard, Lena Harris, E Warburton, "Tiny" Field, and Margaret Sanson.

Weddings

OWENS—MANN

Mock syringa and other summer flowers were used in decoration of St. Mark's Church yesterday evening, when Rev. O. L. Jull united in marriage Irene Emily, only daughter of Mrs. Penfold Armitage, and of the late Mr. Herbert Mann, of Nottingham and Nuneaton, England, and Mr. James V. Owens, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Owens, of Middlesex, England.

Entering the church with her uncle, Mr. G. H. Moody, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a form-fitting wedding gown of white satin, made with long sleeves, puffed at the top, and a chic little turban of white chiffon velvet, which was worn with a tiny veil. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and ping and mauve sweet peas.

The maid of honor was Miss May Adams, in a frock of pale blue silk net with a long skirt, ruffled below the knees, and a deep ruffle bertha, and her small white silk hat was turned off her face with a stiff fold of pleated ribbon. The bridesmaid was Miss Marjorie Moody, in a similar frock of pink net and a small white hat. They carried bouquets of pink sweet peas and bebe gladioli and pink sweet peas and pink carnations, respectively.

The best man was Mr. Evans Edwards, and the ushers were Mr. Milton Williams and Mr. Edward Morgan. Mrs. R. Moore played the wedding music.

A reception was held later at the future home of the bride and groom, 1628 Amphion Street, where syringa and roses were effectively arranged. The guests were received by Mrs. Armitage, in a French model gown of old rose silk, embroidered with bronze beads, and a white hat, and by Mrs. Moody, in a frock of black lace and a small white hat. They both wore corsage bouquets of carnations.

Among the many beautiful gifts were a silver cake stand from Mr. Goldwyn Terry and Miss Ilace Terry, and a silver rose bowl and matching candlesticks from the staff at Terry's, of which the bride had been a member for seven years.

News of Clubwomen

Garden Party. — The Young Business Women's branch of the Women's Auxiliary will hold a garden party at the home of Mrs. Parker, 384 Gorge Road W., on Wednesday, June 20, from 3 to 6 p.m.

Native Daughters Plan Dance.—The regular business meeting of the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, was held in K. of P. Hall on Wednesday. The meeting opened with Mrs. J. Lorimer, Chief Factor, in the chair. Plans were completed for a dance at Little Arctic to be held jointly with the Native Sons. A committee was appointed as follows: Misses J. Leavitt, M. Andrews, M. Gillies and B. Sargison, to meet the representatives of the Native Sons in connection with a picnic to be held during the summer.

Typographical W.A.—The Women's Auxiliary to the Typographical Union held a well-attended meeting yesterday afternoon, with much business accomplished. The recent card party at the home of Mrs. Townshend was a great success. Mrs. A. E. Johnson, the W.A. representative on the local council, gave an excellent report of the recent meeting of that body. The annual outing of the W.A. will be held on Tuesday, June 26, to Hamsterley, the special bus leaving the Coach Line Depot at 1 o'clock. Those members and friends intending to go should notify Mrs. W. E. Skett, G 5549, before June 23. The winner of tthe raffle was Mrs. A. E. Relf, holder of ticket number 380.

Florence Nightingale, I.O.D.E.—A meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter was held yesterday at headquarters, the regent, Mrs. K. Symons in the chair. A donation of $2.50 was voted to the isolated schools fund and $5 to the Sunshine Camp at Sooke. Mrs. Hoult was welcomed as a new member of the chapter. During the month tea was served twice in the sunroom at the Jubilee Hospital, and strawberries and cream given to the patients. A sack of clothing was received for the Lone Prairie Child Welfare. Final plans for the garden party were discussed, and reference was made to the chapter's corner on Alexandra Rose Day, at the Bank of Montreal, Yates Street.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

Much business was carried through at a well attended meeting held by the Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose at the St. Ann's Hall on Monday evening, senior regent Mary Pearce presiding. The sick matron, Mrs. Alice Hatcher, reported Mrs. Lillian Quaintance improving, and Mrs. Ethel Humber, Mrs. Pauline Huckin, and Miss D. Guelpa were welcomed back after their illness. With drill team and officers presiding, the initiation of the candidate, Mrs. M. K. Carter, for membership into the chapter, then took place.

A letter was received from District Deputy Grand Recorder, E. Deane, of British Columbia, in regards to the annual conference of the Northwest Moose. It will be held in Ellensburgh, Wash., on July 19, 20, 21, as many members as are able to attend are asked to do so.

The social convener, Mrs. Cassie Spouse, gave a splendid report on the year's social activities, for which she was heartily thanked. Following the 9 o'clock service Brother W. Kettle spoke of a proposed visit to the Port Angeles Lodge, and invited the chapter to join them, also a letter from Brother F. Moulton, wanting the chapter's co-operation in entering the parade to be held on July 1. These both were accepted, and final arrangements to be made later. In acceptance to Mrs. Isabell Brown's offer of her home at 225 Superior Street, a shower for the garden party will be held on Wednesday evening, June 20, refreshments will be served, and a delightful evening will be spent by all who attend, members are asked to bring friends.

With all good wishes from the chapter, Senior Regent Mary Pearce, presented Junior Regent Cassie Spouse, who is leaving Victoria with a small token of appreciation for her work during the year, both as social convener and officer.

With Mrs. Jean Lumley, Ethel Humber and Paline Huckin acting as scrutineers, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, also appointment of grand installing officers to carry through the installation work to be held on Monday, June 25.

This brought the successful meeting to a close, after which a sit down supper was enjoyed, being served by Mesdames Cassie Spouse, Tryphena Alexander and Evelyn Clark.

"Chapel of Glass" Has Celebration

Canadian Press

Sparta, Wis., June 14.—In the tiny "Chapel of Glass" which thousands of sightseers visit annually, and where countless sentimental lovers have chosen to be married, Paul J. Wegner, its builder, observed his golden wedding anniversary. It seats only twenty-two. Wegner fashioned the odd house of worship from bits of ground and broken glass.

Face Very Much Disfigured Because of Pimples. Healed by Cuticura.

"My face, arms and neck were covered with pimples. The skin was very red and looked raw. It was always itching and I just scratched and then the pimples spread. I was very much disfigured because they would scale over. At night they were worse.

"I had the trouble quite a while before using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and afterwards bought more, and I used one tin of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap and I was healed." (Signed) Miss D. Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The use of too rich a milk for baby's formula may have unhappy consequences. Fat of any kind is difficult to digest. Fat is the last of all the food elements to leave the stomach after ingestion, the order of their leaving being water, sugar, starches, proteins and fats.

WHY WE'RE HUNGRY

While there is a residue of any food element in the stomach, the appetite for more food is inhibited. The stomach should be empty before an individual enjoys those vacuous gurglings which are termed "hunger sensations."

Quite often the baby who is related on too rich a milk suffers from chronic appetitelessness. He never wants to eat because his stomach always carries the remnants of the previous meal. Rich diets are likewise one of the outstanding causes of eczema. Babies reared on high formulas may develop skin rashes which are indicative of nothing so much as the burdensome diets to which they are being subjected.

LEAD CAUTIOUS PATH

One might, from this warning real, imagine that fat is a villain which must be banished from the diet. Of course that is not true. Fat provides heat and energy. Butter fat (cream and butter) contains the essential vitamin A without which a diet would be considered truly deficient. This warning is uttered merely to prevent overfeeding of this valuable element to the point of indigestion or other nutritional disturbances. It is as true of all other fat elements as of fat that overfeeding is often attended with unfavorable consequences.

The ordinary dairy milk of 4 per cent cream content is agreeable to the digestion of the average baby. Milks of high fat content seldom are. If the baby has a peculiar fat sensitivity, even a 4 per cent cream may be burdensome. Such a baby may require skimmed milk for a limited time until the symptoms of indigestion have subsided. Then the mother may experiment by adding additional fat to the formula until his point of intolerance has been reached, and symptoms of indigestion again appear. The amount of cream should be kept below this point.

WOMAN LOST NATIONALITY

Daughter of Judge Helen G. MacGill Tells of Citizenship Tangle

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 15.—The entangling web of nationality laws of different countries as they affect the citizenship of the women who marry foreigners was described by Mrs. Everett G. Hughes, secretary of the League for Women's Rights, before a local audience. Mrs. Hughes, who lost her own nationality at marriage and had to go through various formalities to regain it, is a daughter of Judge Helen Gregory MacGill of Vancouver.

Most countries still maintain a woman's nationality is the same as that of her husband, but the present-day tendency is to look upon the woman's nationality as just as personal a matter as that of her husband and to cease making it tontingent upon his, said Mrs. Hughes.

In 1932 it became law that a Canadian woman should not lose her nationality upon marriage to a man whose country does not confer his nationality upon her. Thus, explained Mrs. Hughes, if the husband comes from United States of America, Soviet Russia or from France, the wife, who has not been given American, Russian or French citizenship, automatically remains Canadian. If she marries a man whose native land claims her as its own—and that means all other countries but United States, Russia and France, she will still acquire the husband's nationality.

Since the passage of the Cable Act in United States in 1922, American citizenship is not conferred upon a foreign woman merely by marriage to an American. She must reside in United States and take out papers just as a foreign-born man or a single woman would.

Although the amended law of Canada has been in effect since 1932, there are still many Canadian women without nationality, who do not know that they may regain their citizenship, said Mrs. Hughes. A Canadian woman married to an American between 1922 and 1932 has no citizenship. She may become Canadian again by going to a circuit court, applying for naturalization and paying a fee of $5.00. She then becomes a Canadian by naturalization; until marriage she was a Canadian by birth. Or, she may become an American if she wishes, but in that case she must remain in the United States.

Jubilee W.A. To End Campaign

The Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital have been holding their annual collection of membership dues just inside the main entrance of Spencer's. Saturday will be the last day on which the booth will be in operation, and it is hoped that those who have not yet paid their dues will avail themselves of the opportunity before the booth closes.

Among those who paid yesterday were: Mrs. A. Read, Mrs. J. J. Collison, Mrs. Hopper, Mrs. K. J. Riddle, Mrs. S. J. Drake, Mrs. W. T. Mollard, Mrs. T. D. Paterson, Mrs. G. D. Christies, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Mrs. C. F. Armstrong, Mrs. M. T. Driscoll, Mrs. Sydney Pickles, Mrs. Edith L. Higgins, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. C. S. Wilkie.

Permission to use the Oak Bay Park for picnic purposes on June 23 was granted the Oaklands P.-T.A. by the Oak Bay Council yesterday. The council refused a request for a picnic on Sunday from the Young Liberals.

On Way to B.C. to Explore Uncharted Wilderness

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

New York, June 15.—"I like going anywhere—provided my husband is leading the party."

That's the one-part modern to two-parts old-fashioned adventure code of pretty Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux, who is in Canada with her husband and one of the most modern and complicated caravans ever equipped for a trip through a completely uncharted North American wilderness to the Arctic Circle.

Mrs. Bedaux is quite used to such expeditions by this time. She has been taking them for twelve years—ever since she married Charles Bedaux, corporation head who goes to far places for the simple reason that he likes to do it. He fits up expeditions with his own money, has no commercial tie-ups and give the information he acquires to anybody who can use it, taking his own pay in the fun he and Mrs. Bedaux have. What this pair of intrepid "amateur adventurers," as they call themselves, like is to do something nobody has ever done before.

CROSSED THE SAHARA

In 1929, they crossed the Sahara Desert and Africa from coast to coast in automobiles, the first and last time the feat was ever accomplished. They have been leaped at by tigers, charged upon by hippopotamuses—one hippopotamus, anyway—and altogether feel that they have had their money's worth of thrills.

Mrs. Bedaux is a little appalled, however, at the magnitude of the equipment that will be needed for the newest expedition. There are to be five caterpillar tractors equipped with skiis (ever see a tractor on skiis?), one hundred horses, a hydroplane, three river bateaux, a broadcasting outfit and about twenty-five employees.

Twenty-two thousand pounds of food will be taken along and plenty of surgical and medical supplies—also a number of volumes of Anatole France, Charles Dickens and Victor Hugo. The books are for Mrs. Bedaux.

"I get caught up on my reading when I go off on these trips with Charles," she confided. "You see, I'm often left behind all alone when the men go ahead to open up roads or chop down trees or scout new paths. I'm never afraid—if I were I'd never start out in the first place.

KEEP UP APPEARANCES

"I would not advise any woman to go adventuring, eve nwith her husband, unless she is prepared to stand loneliness, inconvenience, and even hardships. I can't imagine anything worse than a whiner, man or woman, on such a trip.

"I wear slacks and flannel shirts and boots, taking along different weights of shirts and slacks for the different temperatures we are likely to meet. I tuck in my make-up box, too, for there is no reason to neglect your looks just because you are going to the wilderness. But naturally, I use it sparingly. Any excess of make-up would be out of place in the lovely quietness and peace of the wilderness."

A woman friend of Mrs. Bedwaux's will go on this trip—Mrs. Alberto Chiess of Switzerland, who is a big game hunter. The two expect to go all the way with the men—up south of Yukon, through the Cassiar, Stikine and Canadian Rocky ranges where, according to Mrs. Bedaux, there are hundreds of thousands of unexplored square miles, mountain ranges that never have been climbed, unpenetrated swamp and rivers that have never been seen by human eye.

TO MAKE MAPS

The idea is to open up the northernmost peaks of the Canadian Rockies. Maps will be made by geologists and later these will be presented to the Canadian Government.

Mrs. Bedaux admits that the real reason Mr. Bedaux decided to take this particular trip is because somebody told him it could not be done. Husbands, it seems, are like that. When he stopped off in Vancouver several years ago, the natives pointed out distant peaks that had never been crossed from east to west and shook their heads as they predicted that they never would be crossed. Ever since, it seems, Mr. Bedaux has had his eye on those peaks—and now he is going to conquer them.

"He will, too," promises Mrs. Bedaux happily, her dark eyes shining. "He always does what he says he will!"

JAPANESE GIRL WINS CONTEST

Given Perfect Score For Elocution at B.C. Music Festival

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 15.—Yuki Yoshida, Vancouver Japanese girl, scored a remarkable 297 points of a possible 300 in winning class 125 of the British Columbia Musical Festival elocutinn tests, which were concluded Wednesday.

"For the first time in my life, I have given a competitor a perfect score," said Adjudicator Dr. James Lyon after he had awarded the girl a full score for the final test. "I don't see why I shouldn't, for the work of this young girl is the finest of its kind I have ever heard."

Miss Yoshida wins the British Columbia Dramatic School championship cup.

Russian Count Wed In East

Picturesque Ceremony Unites Count Vladimir Ignatieff and Toronto Girl

A Russian wedding of interest in Victoria was solemnized in Toronto recently between Miss Florence I. Hargreaves, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hargreaves of Toronto, and Count Vladimir P. Ignatieff, son of Count and Countess Paul N. Ignatieff of Lansing. The ceremony was performed at the little Orthodox Russian Church, which was filled with guests, including many members of the University of Toronto staff, with which the bride and bridegroom have been connected.

The impressive ceremony, abbreviated to about two hours' duration, included the procession of the bride and bridegroom, carrying lighted tapers, about the priest's table, while crown-bearers held above their heads the golden crowns, there being six crown-bearers, who took it in turn to hold aloft the crowns. The crown-bearers included the bridegroom's three brothers, Nicholas, who will be remembered as a visitor and speaker in Victoria recently, Leonarde and George, while Messrs. Richard Stewart, Kenneth Williams and Bradley Pett acted in similar capacity for the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Peter Hargreaves, wore a lovely white satin gown and the traditional high Russian head-dress, and carried a bouquet of white roses and forget-me-nots. Tall standards and white lilacs and roses adorned the church. She was attended by two three-year-old trainbearers, Joan Stewart and Elizabeth Richardson, who carried the long train throughout the ceremony.

Later a reception was held at Mulock Houce, University of Toronto, and after a honeymoon Count and Countess Vladimir Ignatieff will make their home in Toronto.

ABDUCTOR IS IN JAIL CELL

Man Quickly Captured After Freeing Three Victims at St. Joseph, Mo.

Associated Press

St. Joseph, Mo., June 15.—Held prisoners for nearly eighteen hours by an escaped Texas convict, three Iowa men were released here early to-day and fifteen minutes later the abductor was captured.

Release of the three men, Elmer Schleuter, Davenport, Ia., policeman; Al Schultze, secretary-treasurer of the Davenport Baseball Club, and Dr. W. H. Fitch, Walcott, Ia., veterinarian, ended a night of anxiety for their safety.

The abductor was identified by police as Joe Palmer, thirty-two, who with four other men escaped from the Eastham, Texas, prison farm last February 16, after killing a guard.

Palmer readily agreed to return to Iowa to face robbery and kidnapping charges in connection with the abduction of the three men, saying: "If they take me back to Texas, they'll sizzle me."

By "sizzle" he meant the electric chair, he said.

Palmer explained he had kidnapped the policeman because he feared the officer, halting him for questioning, would find a pistol he carried in his brief case, take him to headquarters, check his record and return him to Texas.

CONSTABLE SURPRISED

The kidnapping of Schultze and Schleuter took place in front of the Western League baseball park at Davenport. The patrolman approached Palmer to question him. But Palmer drew a pistol from his pocket and forced the officer to stop. When Schultze approached in his motor car, Palmer forced the policemen into it and ordered Schultze to drive.

Palmer complained about the condition of the machine, and near Walcott stopped Dr. Fitch and commandeered his coupe. He forced the officer into the rear compartment of the coupe and ordered Dr. Fitch and Schultze to take turns at driving.

When the kidnapper and his victims arrived here, Palmer said he would let the three men have the motor car, if they would promise to go back to Davenport. When Palmer started off walking, the men reported the kidnapping to police. About fifteen minutes later the convict was caught.

PLANES CARRY PITCHBLENDE

Canadian Press

Edmonton, June 15.—Two Canadian Airways pilots brought down one ton of pitchblende (radium ore) from the rich claims at Mottah Lake to the end of steel at Waterways, Alta., during the week.

Archie McMullen and Lewis Leigh, both flying Fairchild freighters, brought the valuable cargo over the air route from Great Bear Lake, scene of a rich discovery last winter.

It is estimated the value of the radium and by-products derived from this single ton of ore will amount to more than $100,000.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building figures for Victoria stepped up Wednesday with the listing of permits for an $1,800 dwelling, a $1,250 renovation programme and a $250 alteration, to reach a point approximately the same as that recorded all last week.

The dwelling permit, secured by Mrs. Jackson, with Morry, Chamberlain, Alton contractors, specifies a frame and stucco construction and garage at 1529 Davie Street.

The major alteration programme is being done in the Stobart Building, Yates Street, for Prudence Limited, with Luney Brothers doing the work. Specifications call for a new store front and interior renovations.

W. L. Morkill, 8521 Pemberton Road, is making house alterations amounting to $250.

BELLINGHAM'S QUEEN CROWNED

Associated Press

Bellingham, Wash., June 15.—Heralding the inauguration of a period of recreation and entertainment, 7,500 persons yesterday evening paid homage to Queen Virginia, who at an impressive outdoor coronation ceremony was crowned by Governor Clarence D. Martin sovereign of Bellingham and the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Washington and British Columbia.

DUNCAN

Duncan, June 15.—The monthly meeting of the women's auxiliary to the Cowichan Legion was held Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. W. H. Prver presiding.

After routine business, plans for the annual garden party were discussed. This will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Bissett on July 7, with a tombola as one of the chief attractions, cooked food stall, clock golf and spinning jenny.

Committees were also formed to assist in the cabaret, which is taking place to-night under the auspices of the legion and the Duncan Studio Club.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. H. B. Ryall, Mrs. H. Mackenzie and Mrs. W. H. Hatter.

Some "Side Glances" on Artist Who Draws Them

GEORGE CLARK

George Clark, who draws "Side Glances," had a lot of sidelines before he made a career of these famous vignettes of human nature. . . . Born in Oklahoma, worked his way through various schools as an advertising artist, sign painter, window trimmer, and animated movie cartoonist. . . . Many artists rate George Clark's work as the highest class illustration appearing in any newspaper to-day. . . . His fan mail comes from people who know what it's all about . . . college professors, lawyers, doctors, merchants, chiefs. . . . He works furiously, sometimes all night, sometimes rising at 4 a.m. to get an idea on paper. Spends many more hours finding ideas, for he draws nearly all his characters directly from life or from memory. Says libraries and railroad stations are the best places to catch and sketch people off guard. . . . Would rather watch people talk than listen to them. . . . DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

©1934 NEA SERVICE, INC.

"Why the heck does she address you as Donna?" he demanded, his face darkening as it always did when the other girl's name was mentioned.

"That's a long story, darling. I'll tell you some day when I feel like confessing. Wouldn't you like to read what she has to say?"

"No. Maybe she'll write to me now."

Madeline frowned. She studied the inlaid pearl of the table before her and her quick wits began to dance. "No, Con," she said slowly. "I don't believe she will. I don't think you'll ever see Donna again."

"What makes you say that? She's coming back to the show, isn't she?"

"No, she isn't."

"You mean the injury was worse than we thought?"

"No. She—oh, Con, darling, I hate to tell you! I know how you love Donna and I know how terribly this will hurt you. But you knew you never had a chance with her, didn't you? You knew that, while she was fond of you and always liked you, she wouldn't ever think of marrying you. You'll just have to square your shoulders and—"

"Cut out the sob stuff!" he broke in harshly. "Spill it!"

"She's going to be married."

"To the cousin?"

"He's my cousin, not hers. Yes, they're going to be married."

Con sat motionless, his face slowly growing whiter and whiter. His hands gripped the arms of his chair and the knuckles stood out in ridges. Then he laughed. "Well, that's that! What do we eat—chop suey or chow mein?"

"You mean you don't care?" Madeline cried hysterically. "You really don't care?"

"No woman is going to ruin my appetite," Con answered.

But Madeline, trembling over the success of her falsehood, noticed that his food left the table untouched. She suggested that they return to the circus lot before it was really necessary to do so. She had scored a triumph, but if Con should write to Donna to confirm her statement, the situation might not be so rosy. A long walk in a shadowy lane was more conducive to sentiment than a warm Chinese restaurant.

Renfoe was waiting for them at the dressing tent. "Come over here, Madeline," he said. "I want to talk to you."

The ever-present fear of receiving a two weeks' notice gripped the girl. She looked appealingly toward Con. "What's the matter, chief?" the animal trainer asked. "You don't object to Madeline stepping out with me once in a while, do you?"

"Not exactly. But she's the only girl alone in this show and she has to watch where she steps. I've been thinking it over. It's a responsibility—they're talking. I think you're a swell kid, Madeline, but hell! I broke the rule never to have single girls in the show when I kept you on. It's too much trouble and I believe—"

"Who's been talking?" Con demanded.

"Er—everyone. You and Madeline are pretty thick. Then—"

"Why shouldn't we be?"

"Hush, Con!" Madeline interrupted with a wan smile. "If I'm not wanted, I'll go. I thought when I did everything I could after poor Donna was hurt it would be appreciated, but I guess it wasn't."

"Sure I appreciate what you've done, Madeline, but—oh, if you were older and maybe a little more straight laced—"

"Listen here," Con caught the other man's coat sleeve. "You mean they're talking about Madeline and me? Well, go tell the lousy gossips we're going to be married."

"Con!"

"And if that doesn't suit them you can get a new animal act—and pronto!"

"Keep your shirt on, Con," Renfroe cajoled. "If you and Madeline are engaged and all this is on the level we'll be tickled pink. No one thought either of you were serious, that's all. And you know a girl—"

"Yes, I know. It makes me sick the way nosy-bodies meddle with everyone else's business. I thought you had more sense. I've a notion to leave your show anyway and—"

"Now, now, Con!" the manager soothed. "I've got to tell mom the news. Gosh, she'll be surprised."

As Renfroe disappeared into the dressing tent Madeline whirled upon Con.

"Did you mean that? Or did you just say it to save my job?"

"Why shouldn't I mean it? If you'll have me, knowing I don't love you and probably never will, we might make a go of marriage. I swear I'll always be on the level with you."

"Oh, Con," Madeline cried, nestling against the arm that hung limply at his side. "I love you so much I'd marry you even if you wanted to put me right into your cage of cats."

He looked at her, half startled. "That's an idea! That is an idea. I'll make you part of my act!"

CHAPTER XII

With $25 in his pocket, the result of two weeks' labor on the Siddal farm, Nub Planter considered himself affluent and due for a period of rest. Much against his mother's wishes, he set off on a tramp to the Kentucky metropolis and landed in Louisville the day that "Renfroe's Monstrous Three Ring Circus" was due to begin a three days' engagement.

Wandering along the main business section of the city and staring in shop windows, he was accosted by a small colored boy who thrust a handbill toward him.

Nub glanced at the green printed sheet, accepted it and, leaning against a building, read the following:

"Saturday Afternoon in the Arena Con David, King of Wild Beasts, Star of the Greatest Circus on Earth, and Madeline Gabriel, Superb, Beautiful, Glorious Aerial Gymnast, Will Be Married in the Presence of Thousands of Spectators! Who Will Join Them? To the Young Couple Who Will Join Hands in Holy Matrimony at the Same Time and at the Same Place the Management of Renfroe's Colossal Three Ring Circus Will Give $100 and Furnishings for a Four-Room Apartment. Let's Hear From the Boys and Girls! Who Will Have This Supreme Honor?"

Only the first part of the announcement registered with Nub Planter. So Madeline Gabriel, who was really Madeline Siddal, was to be married Saturday afternoon! How could this be possible? Nub had left Madeline in a wheel chair in a farm house just outside of Lebanon only two weeks before. Obviously she could not have regained use of her limbs in two weeks, or rejoined the circus. Something was wrong some place.

Nub decided that he would see the circus. He wanted to see the wedding ceremony and the girl who was using Madeline's name. Since Nub's $25 had vanished, the only way he could secure a seat at the circus was to produce a bride and take part in the ceremony or else to find some sort of employment and earn enough for a ticket.

Nub's curiosity had been aroused. Maybe the dame who claimed to be Madeline wasn't Madeline at all. Or maybe the girl at the farm—but Mom would have seen through any effort at deception, even if the blind old codger had been fooled. Nub assured himself it was his duty to look into this. Yep, it was his duty.

It was 3 o'clock when he reached the fair grounds, leased for three days by Renfroe. The afternoon performance was in progress and Nub could hear shrieks of laughter occasioned by the clown's antics. Near the side show tents and the concessions small groups had collected, more interested in getting something for nothing than in paying for entertainment under the "big top."

Nub watched a farmer lose three dollars at a shooting gallery, then strolled over to the owner of the concession and offered his services. The other man, black-browed and bleary-eyed, sized up Nub and told him he would pay him fifty cents as a "come-on." Nub accepted and for two hours pretended to shoot revolving ducks with a success that drew more spectators.

Part of the fifty cents went for "hot dogs" and root beer. Then Nub sauntered on, looking for more employment. By 7 o'clock that evening he had the wherewithal to buy a ticket for the show but, having remembered how he had wriggled under the canvas and dodged policemen in his youth, he tried the same stunt again and found a seat (unreserved) and settled into it without any qualms of conscience.

JOHNSON TO SPEAK ON NRA BIRTHDAY

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, and Governor H. G. Kump of West Virginia, will be the principal speakers in a broadcast commemorating the first anniversary of the National Recovery Act, over the Columbia network to-morrow from 11 to 12 noon, Pacific Standard Time. The programme will originate at Laidley Field Stadium, Charleston, West Virginia.

Governor Kump has declared a state holiday in celebration of the NRA anniversary, and thousands of citizens are expected to be in attendance at the stadium. Other speakers, in addition to General Johnson and Governor Kump, will be Edward McGrady, Assistant Secretary of Labor, and Donald Richberg, general counsel of the NRA.

The speeches will be heard here over stations KVI and KSL.

REGATTA WILL BE DESCRIBED

Ted Husing and Graham McNamee Will Cover Poughkeepsie Race

Ted Husing will fly from Princeton, N.J., to give an aerial description of the Poughkeepsie regatta from a trimotored cabin plane, over the Columbia network to-morrow, from 3.30 to 4 p.m., P.S.T. He will take off from Princeton at the conclusion of the Princeton track meet.

Husing's part in the broadcast will be supplemented with descriptions by Paul Douglas, CBS announcer, and Royal Brougham, Seattle sports writer from points of vantage on the Hudson's shore near the starting and finishing points. All three announcers will use short-wave sets.

Five eastern crews and two far western favorites have been entered in the regatta. They are Columbia University, Cornell University, the University of Pennsylvania, Syracuse University, the United States Naval Academy, and the Universities of Washington and California.

The CBS broadcast will be carried by stations KOL, KVI and KSL.

Graham McNamee as usual will be at the microphone to describe the thrilling four-mile grind for NBC. But this year there will be a difference—instead of following the race all the way down the course on the Hudson River, McNamee will tell the story of the thrilling climax from the official float at the finish line.

During the broadcast from 3.15 to 4.30 p.m., P.S.T., another NBC announcer on the observation train will broadcast the description until near the end of the race. Then he will turn it over to McNamee, who will cover the finish from his vantage point.

In previous years there has often been much difficulty and confusion in determining the official winner from the observation train because of the late starting hour. It has frequently been nearly dark when the race finished.

Western NBC stations releasing the broadcast include KPO and KJR.

Earl's Daughter Wed Yesterday

Canadian Press Cable

London, June 15. — Two famous Yorkshire families were united yesterday through the marriage, at Brompton Oratory, of Lady Beatrice Savile, second daughter of the Earl and Countess of Mexborough, to Ralph Scrope, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scrope of Danby-Upon-Ore. Last February the bridegroom's elder brother, Richard Scrope, was married there to Lady Jane Egerton, with whom he has just returned from South Africa after an extended honeymoon.

STYLE

Miss Lucile Brokaw's three-piece ensemble at the Belmont races consisted of white skirt and jacket and a bright printed blouse with bow under the chin.

HEADLINERS ON RADIO TO-NIGHT

5.00—"Waiting For a Street Car," sung as a duet by Phil Harris and Leah Ray, will be the feature of the NBC programme "Let's Listen to Harris." Other numbers to be presented include "Here Come the British" and "Mademoiselle."—KGO, KOMO.

5.30—Johnny Green and his orchestra, with Gertrude Niesen, will present their programme "In the Modern Manner." The music includes "Oceans of Time," "Mimi," "With a Song In My Heart" and "Music Makes Me."—KOL, KVI, KSL.

6.00—With Colonel Stoopenagle and Budd, Everett Marshall, Frank Crumit, Parker Fennelley, the Eight Gentlemen From Milwaukee and Victor Young and his orchestra, the first of a new series of forty-five-minute broadcasts will be on the air over CBS, with the title of "Spotlight Revue."—KOL, KVI, KSL.

6.00—"The Pink Pussy Cat," three-act back-stage drama, will be the "First Nighter" presentation over NBC.—KGO, KOMO.

6.15—Marion Rockwell, soprano, will sing from Toronto over CRC.—CRCV.

6.30—The NBC String Symphony Orchestra, directed by Frank Black, will be heard over CRC in an international exchange.—CRCV.

6.45—San Francisco's Chinatown telephone exchange will be the origin of a broadcast over CBS. Only Chinese exchange outside China, it has over 2,000 members, who ask for each other by name. The exchange is housed in a pagoda-style building.—KOL, KVI, KSL.

7.00—Edith Murray, blues singer, will be heard in "I Wish I Were Twins," "I Met My Waterloo" and "Little Man, You've Had a Busy Day."—KOL, KVI, KSL.

7.30—Hazel Warner, songbird of the West and a member of Al Pearce's Gang, will be heard from Seattle on the Greater Washington Hour.—KOMO.

8.00—Melodies of twenty years ago, including Friml's "Katinka" and "Allah's Holiday" will be heard in a programme presented by Emil Polak's orchestra, with Barbara Blanchard, Eva Gruninger, Ben Klassen and Everett Poster.—KGO, KOMO.

8.15—"Privality Rampant" is the title of the "One Man's Family" episode.—KGO, KOMO.

8.30—Vida Lila and Caddy, the Rhythm Girls, will be heard in a broadcast from Saskatoon.—CRCV.

9.00—Meredith Willson will introduce a new programme over NBC under the title of "Melody Masquerade," featuring great melodies from both classical and modern composers.—KGO, KOMO.

9.30—Kenneth Spencer, basso, and the Southern Harmony Four, accompanied by Paul Carson at the organ, will present the negro programme "Spiritual Phantasy."—KPO.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

FOR JUNE BRIDES: HOW TO PREPARE AND COOK FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

By MARY E. DAGUE

And now comes the poor little bride who may know how to boil water—they used to say she didn't, you know—but who feels sort of ineffectual and helpless when she contemplates three or at least two meals a day that will keep up a man's strength so that he can go out and battle the world for her!

Well, don't let the experienced ones scare you, little bride. Undoubtedly some people have a knack for cooking, but a lot of it's practice and some of it, these days, anyway, is relying upon good practical measurements and trustworthy directions. Learn to do things the right way instead of the wrong and you'll get on fine.

Let's start at once.

When fruit is cooked, be it fresh or dried, do not add sugar until the fruit is tender. If sugar is added earlier, the skin tends to toughen and the texture of the fruit is hard. Keep this in mind when you make apple sauce.

PREPARING FRUIT

Never let fruit stand in water. Wash it thoroughly and carefully, then drain and use at once.

The same rule applies to vegetables. Wash well and prepare for cooking. If they are wilted, they may be put into water just long enough to freshen them. This should be done before they are trimmed or cut.

Cook vegetables in as little water as possible to prevent burning. Take care not to over-cook. Cook in actively boiling water and add salt when half-cooked, or about ten minutes.

Cook green vegetables uncovered to preserve their color. Strong juiced vegetables, such as cabbage and onions, should be cooked uncovered, too, and in a large amount of water.

When a sauce is made for vegetables it will be finer flavored if half milk and half vegetable stock is used.

WHITE SAUCE

White sauce of varying degrees of richness is liked with most vegetables. A thin sauce, the consistency of rich cream, is delicious over green beans and peas. A thicker sauce that coats the vegetable is used for new potatoes and cauliflower. But no matter how thick the sauce, it is always made the same way. First melt the butter over a low fire; when bubbly stir in flour and blend until smooth. Then slowly add the cold liquid, stirring constantly. Two tablespoons butter, from two teaspoons to two tablespoons flour and one-half teaspoon salt are the proportions to use with one cup liquid to make one cup of white sauce. The less flour the thinner the sauce. Vegetables must, of course, be drained before combining with the sauce.

Most recipes make too much for a family of two. My own recipes are planned to serve four, the average recipe found in the standard cook book is calculated to serve six, so use half the recipe. Only do be sure to use half of each ingredient when you reduce a recipe. If five eggs are called for it's a good idea to use three small ones for the half amount and if three eggs are needed use two small ones.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Shredded fresh pineapple, cereal, cream, baked French toast, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Ham salad, cress sandwiches, raspberries, cup cakes, tea, milk.

Dinner: Lamb stew with vegetables, steamed rice, head lettuce with French dressing, Cherry cottage pudding, milk, coffee.

Loyal True Blues—Capital City No. 303 Loyal True Blues will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the Orange Hall for their regular business meeting and to discuss several matters of importance. Splendid success was accorded the organization at their garden party held last Wednesday at Mrs. Adams's Esquimalt Road. The following sisters very capably convened the various stalls: Sister Cave, homecooking; Sister Mae Lawring and Sister Adams, teas and housie-housie; Sister Worswick, candy. The box of candy was won by Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Birnie very kindly read the tea cups.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

BRUSHING HAIR WITH TWIST SPURS ACTIVITY OF ROOTS' OIL GLANDS

A liquid shampoo and at least one really good hair brush are two items that must be included in your bag when you start on a vacation. If you don't include them, chances are your hair will be anything but soft and shiny when you get back to town. Remember that the salt water at the seashore, while marvelous for your skin, is not so good for the hair. You'll have to shampoo oftener and increase the brushing ritual to twice a day.

Never allow salt water to remain on the hair overnight. Of course, you're not supposed to shampoo with soap every time that you leave the beach. But you must rinse out the salt with fresh water after each swim. If that's impossible, let the hair dry and then brush it vigorously.

Brushing encourages the oil glands around the roots of the hair to do their natural work and, after the drying effects of sunshine, it's easy to see that brushing is the one thing that will keep the hair in a healthy condition. Place the brush flat against your scalp and then as you move it outward through the hair, twist it slightly so that each hair is pulled through the bristles. Wipe the brush on a clean towel and then start again.

Sally Lunn Shop Reopens

London, June 15.—The ghost of Sally Lunn may rest easy in her grave once more.

This week the original bakery and shop at Bath where she made and sold the famous teacakes, known everywhere by the name of their inventor, has been reopened after years of neglect by the Old Bath Preservation Society.

Hot Sally Lunns were served at the ceremony held to mark the occasion. They were made exactly according to the eighteenth century recipe preserved with the title deeds of the property.

In the cellars under the small bow-windowed shop in Lilliput Alley Sally Lunn's original ovens have been discovered beneath the accumulated debris of years. With them were found her large kneading trough and many smaller implements of her trade.

Beau Nash himself is said to have often visited the little shop to discuss with Mistress Lunn the catering arrangements for his parties.

That Sally was a notable character and her cakes of high repute is shown by the frequent references in the rhymes of the times. For instance,

"No more I heed the Muffin's zest,
The Yorkshire cake or bun,
Sweet Muse of Poetry, teach me how To make a Sally Lun."

"Lun" — with the one N—appears to have been the usual spelling then.

A young and charming pastrycook invented the Sally Lunn. But who was the genius who made the original Bath Bun? Nobody knows.

Bath has also given its name to another piece of confectionery—the Bath Oliver. This was invented by a famous physician of the eighteenth century.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1934

Stars smile on this day, according to astrology. It is a time for rest and recreation, for outdoor sports and al fresco hospitalities.

The morning is auspicious for completing any business or for closing important negotiations. The profit is likely to be acquired by the worker rather than the employer, however.

Neptune is in a place promising to naval operations or manoeuvres. It is a lucky day for seagoing craft and fortunate for yachtsmen.

Judgment regarding engineering and building operations should be reliable while this configuration continues. It is promising for government projects.

Educators come under a sway that is promising for the autumn. With the passing of the older generation from places of prominence teachers who are past the prime will be eliminated.

Again insurance and pensions for all classes of workers are to be widely advocated, astrologers predict, but the progress toward this form of security will be slow.

The evening of this day is especially auspicious for social affairs. Dances, dinners and college entertainments should be successful.

There is a sign presaging love-making under this direction of the stars and a prevalence of romance that may infect even the middle-aged.

Girls are subject to a lucky sway that seems to promise the attainment of hearts' desires.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of prosperity, but the outlook for romance is not encouraging. Jealousy may cause heartaches.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of recognition and interested in personal appearance and good form. Subjects of this sign may be first-rate executives and successful heads of business enterprises.

Alvin Adams, founder of an express company, was born on this day, 1804. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include George William Coleman, president of Babson Institute, 1867, and Frederick Archer, noted organist, 1838.

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY ENDS

Commissioners Return to Homes Throughout Canada After Toronto Sessions

Toronto, June 15.—Inspired by a week of harmonious deliberations on the activities of their church, commissioners of the sixtieth General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada were on their way home to various sections of the Dominion today, after ending yesterday evening what they regarded as one of the most successful annual conclaves in the history of Canadian Presbyterianism.

Under the guidance of the Moderator, Rev. Dr. James S. Short of Barrie, Ont., the Assembly made its way through a weighty order paper yesterday, and made possible the adjournment.

Approval was given the recommendation of D. M. Rowet, Montreal, chairman of the judicial committee against the incorporation of a trust board to handle property. Ministers' salaries were fixed at a minimum of $1,800 per year, and the Assembly decided to leave the business of Presbyterian publications in the control of Rev. N. A. MacEacher, Toronto. The committee will report to next year's Assembly on the advisability of the church assuming control of the business.

Celebrating the diamond jubilee of the church, the 1935 Assembly will convene in the First Presbyterian Church, Montreal, where the first General Assembly was held in 1875.

Wine Guardian Is Envied Man

London, June 15.—Meet Senor Sanchez Perez—he is a man to be envied.

Senor Perez is coming to London in a few days to celebrate six years spent as guardian of the famous royal wine casks in the great Gonzales Bodegas at Jerez de la Frontera. These casks are dedicated to members of European royal families and other celebrities.

The most recent addition to Perez' collection is a cask dedicated to Franklin Roosevelt Jr., son of the United States President. The Spaniards called him the "Crown Prince of America" when he toured Spain last year.

Two of the casks belong to the Prince of Wales and Prince George. They were dedicated to and signed by them during their visit to Jerez in 1927. Both princes possess golden keys to the butts, from which wine can be drawn until they visit Jerez again.

Should they not return or send for it, the wine will be left untouched until it evaporates. This will take about sixty or seventy years.

The cask selected is signed in chalk by the visitor to whom it is dedicated. Then the chalk is varnished over and a coat of arms is carved in the wood.

The wine in each case is of the year of the dedicatee's birth. The cask of the Prince of Wales has a sherry of 1894 and Prince George one of 1919.

Every year Senor Perez, a little sun-tanned octogenarian, shows his charges with evident pride to thousands of visitors from all over the world. He is now taking his first holiday since the casks have been in his care.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN

The last in the series of inter-society debates was held recently in St. Andrew's Church between St. Andrew's and Knox Y.P. societies. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, that the Relief Camps in British Columbia are beneficial to the youth of to-day."

St. Andrew's Society took the affirmative and was represented by Miss Winnie Urquhart and Allan Anderson, while Knox society, represented by Douglas Cobbett and Dick Leach, took the negative. Praise was given both sides, but the ultimate decision of the judges was that the affirmative side of the question had been successfully upheld.

The judges were: G. A. Hebden, Dr. J. W. Gray and Mr. Hill. The chairman and timekeeper was Miss Rita Bridger. By winning this debate the St. Andrew's Society holds the debating trophy for one year.

A banquet for the presentation of the trophy will be held Friday, June 22. Tickets can be procured at the various Presbyterian Young People's Societies. All members of the association and friends are asked to attend.

KNOX Y.P.S.

The Knox Presbyterian Young People's Society held a beach party on Monday evening at the Willows. Members sat around the bonfire, over which wieners and coffee were enjoyed. A sing-song brought the evening to a close.

Next Monday a meeting will be held. All members are asked to attend.

SAANICH POLICE CHARGE FAILS

A charge of obstructing a police officer in the performance of his duty, against W. B. White and P. D. Wilson, was dismissed in the Saanich Police court yesterday afternoon on the grounds that there was room for doubt in the evidence. The prosecution charged that White had placed his foot in the door of the municipal hall when Chief Allan Rankin was trying to close it during an unemployed demonstration. The two accused and thirteen defence witnesses testified Chief Rankin had struck White a blow on the face and then shut the door.

KILL ALL THE FLIES

Most people will instinctively do their best to get rid of flies even if only because they are a nuisance but the only way to be really safe against the deadly diseases they disseminate is to prevent their breeding.

Household garbage should be covered, manures and rotting leaves, etc., kept away from the house and all surroundings kept scrupulously clean. Screens on doors and windows will help to keep flies out of the house and food should be kept covered, no matter how conscientious you are some flies will always be around and that is where Wilson's Fly Pads come to your aid.

A few pads, used regularly, two or three hours a day during the warm weather, will kill absolutely all the flies in store or home. It is a clean, simple, 100 per cent effective method. The fly is a deadly menace to little children, the cause of that dread ailment "summer complaint." By using sanitary care outside and inside the home and with Wilson's Fly Pads as an ally you can wage successful war against the common house-fly and keep your children and your grown-ups reasonably safe from their deadly ravages.

Doctors and scientists of one of the leading hospitals of Canada proved by the most exacting experimentation that the common house-fly is almost invariably the agent that spreads the deadly germs of infant diarrhoea, the dreaded summer complaint that takes the lives of so many little children. Is it not then the duty of all good citizens to co-operate wholeheartedly in eliminating the fly menace by using every available means of destroying them? ***

BOLD PRISON BREAK MADE

Two Convicts Dash to Freedom From U.S. Penitentiary Near Tacoma

Associated Press

Tacoma, Wash., June 15.—In the most sensational escape at McNeil Island federal penitentiary since Roy Gardner made his successful bid for freedom fourteen years ago, two desperate inmates broke from the main cell block yesterday afternoon, overpowered the pilot of a prison motorboat and made the mainland safely as pursuing craft churned the waters of the Sound in fruitless pursuit.

The escaped prisoners, who this morning were believed in hiding in the woods of the Fort Lewis military reservation between Dupont and Steilacoom, were William L. Fitzmaurice, thirty-four, and T. E. Audette, thirty-two. Fitzmaurice was received at the prison February 18, 1932, from San Francisco to serve ten years for counterfeiting. Audette was received from Portland February 14 of this year under sentence of five years for violation of the Dyer Auto Theft Act.

The escape, planned with unerring precision and executed with a boldness not paralleled in the prison's history, came at 5 o'clock, just as the tower guards had gone off duty for the day. They got into the main prison yard. Toward the prison dock, 300 yards away, down a sharp incline, the two desperate men dashed as the alarm spread behind them. A thirty-five-foot prison motorboat was at the dock with an inmate pilot in charge. Brandishing knives, Fitzmaurice and Audette leaped into the boat and quickly overpowered the pilot, throwing him out on the dock as they started the boat's motor. In a moment the boat was on its way, headed in the direction of Ketron Island.

The prison offered the customary $50 reward for the capture of each prisoner.

WILL INCREASE WATER PRESSURE

To insure Gordon Head residents an even water pressure during the summer, an eight-inch booster pump will be installed immediately at some convenient location in the district, the Saanich Council decided yesterday evening. The council authorized purchase of the pump at an approximate cost of $2,000.

The pump is expected to overcome a difficulty which has presented itself annually in the Gordon Head area. In many cases, it has been complained, residents on higher levels were unable to use their water when persons lower down were using it.

Besides proving a general inconvenience, it prevented satisfactory watering of gardens and farms. Councillor G. A. Vantreight, Ward Three, stated he thought the move would be welcomed by the more isolated homes in the higher districts.

PORT ALBERNI

Port Alberni, June 15.—Complimenting Miss Gertrude Hillas, whose marriage takes place on July 2, Miss Betty Hilton entertained with a bathroom shower on Tuesday evening when she entertained with two tables of bridge. Prize for high score was won by Miss Evelyn Hanes and the consolation was secured by Miss Helen Manning of Sproat Lake. The invited guests included Miss E. M. Ellis, Miss Anne Prescott, Mrs. H. P. Nightingale, Miss Evelyn Hanes, Mrs. W. D. Higgs, Miss Helen Manning.

Mrs. R. J. Burde was another hostess entertaining for Miss Hillas when she was hostess at the tea hour on Wednesday. Guests present were: Mrs. Colin Campbell, Mrs. L. Toder, Miss E. Hanes, Miss Betty Hilton, Miss Helen Manning, Mrs. W. D. Higgs, Miss Louise Parris, Miss Dorothy Mann and Mrs. H. P. Nightingale.

Entertaining for Max Clarke Wright, whose marriage to Miss Eleanor Butler, Vancouver, will be an early event of next month, Mrs. J. L. Dunn entertained at dinner and four tables of bridge on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Leslie Toder is spending ten days holiday at Banfield.

Miss Stella Howitt left on Tuesday for Victoria, where she will make an extended visit.

Alderman W. G. and Mrs. Bigmore have as house guest their niece, Miss Joyce of Jervis Street, Vancouver.

Jack Carswell, Vancouver, is spending a week in the city as the guest of Mrs. J. L. Dunn.

Mrs. C. T. Hilton left on Wednesday to spend a week at Qualicum, the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. Wise.

Mrs. J. Mintinsky left Wednesday to spend a holiday at Roxton, Sask., and at Winnipeg, where she will visit relatives.

Mrs. Harvey Vose returned to her home at Sayward on Tuesday after spending the last two months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Blakemore, River Road.

Reappointment of Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, Lieut.-Col. W. S. Buell, of the Canadian Legion, Capt. C. F. L. Money, of the Army and Navy Veterans, and J. A. Perry, of the Amputations' Association as the commission for the education of soldiers' dependent children, was ratified by the provincial executive yesterday preparatory to laying out this work for the coming school year.

HAPPY REUNION AS GERMAN SOCIALIST MEETS WIFE IN ENGLAND

Frau Seger (left), wife of Herr Gerhard Seger, formerly a Socialist member of the Reichstag, arrived at Croydon Airdrome, London, after her release from a German concentration camp near Dessau, where she was met by her husband. Frau Seger was arrested as a hostage after her husband had escaped from a concentration camp and it was through the efforts of Mrs. M. C. Tate, British Member of Parliament (right), that Frau Seger was released. The happy couple had not seen each other for six months.

FINE PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Religious Council of Education Has Splendid Year; Others Are Elected

Rev. J. Harwood A. Warr, assistant pastor of Metropolitan United Church and one of the leaders in young people's work in Victoria, was elected president of the Greater Victoria Religious Education Council at the annual meeting held last night in the Y.W.C.A.

Under the guidance of Mr. Warr the council looks for a great year in young people's work. Plans laid under the retiring president, Rev. G. A. Reynolds, will be pushed ahead. The active work of Mr. Reynolds was recognized at the meeting and a hearty vote of thanks was extended to him.

REV. J. H. A. WARR

Mrs. Margaret Wilkinson, who has been a prominent worker among young people here for many years, was re-elected secretary of the council. She has held this office for six years and the members felt that no change should be made in the incumbent.

The council regretted to have before it the resignation of John G. Simpson, who has been the efficient treasurer for the last ten years. He will be succeeded by Jack Aylwin.

Canon A. deL. Nunns was elected vice-president of the council and Miss Lillian Parfitt will succeed Miss M. Freeman as assistant secretary. Those elected to the financial committee were as follows: J. Aylwin, Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, J. G. Simpson and Mrs. Maude Hammond.

Reports submitted showed that all departments of the Religious Education Council work were progressing favorably.

The Sunday night song service, held by the young people in the Y.W.C. draw good attendances, Mr. Aylwin reported. Since last fall the services had ben attended by many representatives from the United, Anglican, Presbyterian and Baptist churches, and from the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A

Work of the Victoria Girls' Council, emphasizing the enthusiasm of the girls, was recounted by Miss Parfitt in a report that drew high commendation by Mr. Reynolds, in the chair. The C.G.I.T. girls were living up to their mottoes of "fellowship" and "service," Miss Parfitt said.

MRS. MARGARET WILKINSON

Miss Parfitt presented a report on the Girls' Leaders' Council, which was prepared by Miss Gladys Beall. Great activity in this circle was also related.

Regarding the Victoria Boys' Work Board, of which he is president, Mr. MacKenzie said a fine programme was being drawn up. Efforts were being made to have all churches of the city represented on the board. It was also stated that the board was now helping many boys to enjoy the benefits of athletic and spiritual training, who were financially unable to get them without definite help.

A statement on the fine work accomplished by the training course for teachers and leaders of children under twelve years of age, which was held by the Children Leaders' Council, last fall, was presented by Mrs. Naismith.

Mr. Warr gave a splendid report on the work of the vacation school held last summer in the city, for the teaching of Bible subjects to children. The total of children enrolled was 114, with sixteen churches represented. It is planned to hold community schools instead of the single institution in the future.

Deaconess Margaret Robinson presented an interesting report on her work among children on the West Coast of Vancouver Island last year. Much was accomplished by her extensive trip, it was said.

The treasurer's and secretary's reports were read by Mrs. Wilkinson.

URGE CHECK ON ARMS OUTPUT

Private Manufacture Should Be Ended, Says Kiwanis International

Toronto, June 15.—Private manufacture of arms was condemned in a resolution proposed by Baltimore members and passed by delegates at the final session of the eighteenth annual Kiwanis International convention here yesterday.

Every club present pledged itself to gather and disseminate information in order to help abolish the manufacture of munitions for private gain.

The resolution read:

"It has been shown one of the inciting causes of war is the private manufacture of arms for profit; therefore be it recorded that Kiwanis International recommends that, by orderly process of law, control of manufacture and sale of instruments of war shall be the exclusive prerogative of the several national governments.

"And be it further resolved that each Kiwanis club shall devote itself to the gathering and dissemination of information to accomplish this end."

RODEO BRINGS COURT TRIAL

London, June 15.—Trying to run even a "refined rodeo" in England is beset with trials and tribulations, according to Tex Austin, sports promoter.

Austin, backing the appearance in London of a group of cowboys in a rodeo, was summoned yesterday to appear in West London police court June 25 to answer a complaint lodged by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that he "permitted an animal to be terrified, to wit, a steer."

"Apparently they think steers were made to be worshipped instead of used," Austin said ruefully.

Members of the Oak Bay Council yesterday accepted an invitation to attend the annual prize giving ceremony to be held at the municipal high school on June 20.

A MOVING SIGHT IN ENGINEERING

A feat unique in engineering history was achieved by Ralph Modjeski, famous bridge builder, when a 1200-ton steel bridge spanning Rock Creek gorge in Washington was moved bodily eighty feet to a new location without so much as a twist in any of its girders. Here is a general view of the 369-foot-long structure during the history-making move.

BUCHMAN NOT MADE CHIEF

Leader of Oxford Group Is Brother of Stoney Indians, Their Chiefs State

Canadian Press

Morley, Alta., June 15.—Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the Oxford Group Movement, has been made a brother of the Stoney Tribe of Indians, but it would be virtually impossible for him to become a chief of the band, as was previously reported.

In a statement issued to-day over the signatures of the tribe's chiefs, the band asked that the "people all over Canada" be told "only Royal Family is the ones we make chiefs and the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught are the only ones on whom the honor has been conferred."

The statement was made, the chiefs wrote through their interpreter, Johnny Powderface, in order that the people of Canada "won't misunderstand that Stoney's don't sell chieftainships. Sometimes we make brothers—has to be good man to make brother—only now we have seven or eight brothers of white man in all time forty years.

"Queen Victoria our fathers liked her she good woman always look after our fathers sometimes not so good now white man kill all the deer. So we say now goodbye to you our friends."

Hosiery Display On Council Table

Pair of Lady's Fancy Stockings Adorn Oak Bay Council Table While Investigation Proceeds.

Oak Bay Council had walked into the municipal hall at 5.50 o'clock yesterday a rather embarrassing situation might have been created until an explanation had been given of the appearance on the council table of a pair of women's silk stockings.

The ladies would probably have gazed with some amazement as the stockings were gently handled by the councillors, and possibly would have been further surprised when informed that this was "all in a day's work." Certainly some explanation would have been required.

It was merely the council's means of investigating a complaint from a lady resident of the municipality regarding the condition of a portion of the sidewalk on South Hampshire Road.

The lady explained to the council she had tripped on the walk, skinned her knee and ruined a "perfectly good pair of stockings," which she valued at $1.50. The council ordered reimbursement of the cost of the stockings and proceeded with business of a more regular nature.

For using motor demonstrating licence plates without the necessary sales licence, Christopher McRae was fined $5 and $2 costs in the provincial police court Wednesday afternoon. A similar fine was imposed on F. C. Slade, who pleaded guilty to operating his car without a driver's licence.

BICYCLES ARE COMING BACK

Bicycles are coming back. People going to work before 9 o'clock yesterday beheld a very well-known young business man of this city pedalling down Fort Street hill atop a humble velocipede, with business suit, buttonhole, clean shave and all. The expression on his face was determined but contented as he cut loose down the hill, almost keeping abreast of his "old-fashioned" friends in their cars.

Bicycling may well become stylish again. A new cultural cycle is making the cycle manufacturers look up. It was noticed that the American sailors who were in Victoria last week seemed kindly disposed toward the bicycle. It is also learned that bicycles of all kinds and colors, some with huge pneumatic tires, adorn a place so near as the University of Washington, while the antics of the Hollywood bathing beauties aboard their velocipedes are well known.

Charles Tom Staples yesterday was granted a divorce from Dorothy Nicholson Staples. Chief Justice Morrison ordered a decree absolute after a trial in which Mr. Staples's case was presented by Norman Whittaker.

YACHTSMAN OF TORONTO DIES

Deaths reported in Canadian Press dispatches yesterday and to-day included:

Toronto—Horatio Nelson Mercer, one of the oldest professionals at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

Montreal—John Morrow, eighty, for many years general right-of-way agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway until his retirement in 1918.

Montreal—Gaspard Lemoine, eighty-six, formerly a notable figure in mercantile life of Quebec City.

An extension of the drainage reserve in the beds of the Nicomekl and Serpentine Rivers between Elgin Road and the Great Northern Railway has been made by the provincial government.

Results of the faculty of medicine of the University of Toronto, recently announced, show the names of three Victoria students in the list of those passing examinations. They are: Fifth year, M. R. Caverhill, and third year, R. Jung and A. B. Sinclair, the latter with honors.

FAIR ENOUGH FOR ANYONE

Joe Hrab will probably see more of Chicago's Century of Progress this year than anyone else, for his job is washing windows on the Sky Ride tower. Here is Joe with 600 feet of very thin air between him and the fair grounds, spread along the Chicago lakefront below.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

Thousands of Canadians, former sufferers from INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, ACIDITY, GASTRITIS, FLATULENCE, HEARTBURN, and STOMACH TROUBLES generally, have found cause to be grateful for the scientific formula developed by the Head Stomach Specialist of a great English Hospital.

This formula, under the name of Maclean Brand Stomach Powder, is proving astonishingly successful in ending the pain and distress of even acute cases of stomach trouble. Its effect is usually quick and decided.

Try this scientific remedy. Be sure you get the genuine Maclean Brand Stomach Powder with the signature "ALEX C. MACLEAN". Never sold loose. Only in bottles (powder or tablets 75c.)

Funeral notices, In Memoriam notices and Card of Thanks, $1.50 per insertion.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7522 before 8 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Announcements

BORN

MACKINNON—At Cold Lake Hospital, Alberta, on June 9, to Mr. and Mrs. Ian Mackinnon (nee Clara French), twin boys.

DIED

MOTTERSHEAD — There passed away, Thursday, June 14, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Thomas Mottershead of Mount Tolmie. The late Mr. Mottershead was born in Higher, Peover, Cheshire, England, seventy-nine years ago and for the last twenty-four years had resided in the Mount Tolmie district. He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow; two daughters, Mrs. C. Croft, at the family residence; Mrs. Grindy, in England, and one son, Herbert, of 401 Burnside Road.

Funeral services will be held Monday, June 18, the cortege proceeding from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, at 2.15 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later services will be conducted at St. Aidan's Church, Mount Tolmie. Rev. H. J. Armitage will officiate and interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

MALUORNO—Passed away, suddenly, on June 14, at his home, 83 Regina Ave., Saanich, James Maluorno, aged sixty-three years, born in Italy and a resident of Victoria and Saanich for the last twenty-four years. Deceased is survived by his widow; two sons, Dennis and Clifford, at the family residence.

The funeral will be held on Saturday, June 16, at 2.30 o'clock, from Carter's Funeral Home. Rev. O. L. Juli will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

IN MEMORIAM

UREN—In loving memory of Moses Uren, who passed away June 15, 1931.
Sleep on, beloved, and take thy rest,
They loved you most who knew you best.

A GIFTED PSYCHIC—CONSULTATIONS 2 to 4. Room 23, 635 Fort St. 16176-26-151

A CALAMITY—NOT WAR, WHAT MUST be done? A big heart whispered into our store that we are losing trade through mixing religion with our bread. Another calls down the poor innocent editor of one of your dailies for allowing such advertisements to be printed. Well, it's an ill wind that does not blow someone good. A farmer took his favorite sow to the fair, but got no prize. Disappointed, he put his arms around her neck, kissed her, saying, "it is all in one's taste." That is why so many are buying our coarse whole wheat bread (free from molasses, sugar or white flour), our Roman meal bread, our rye bread and our other many lines of quality foods. Yes, and the ladies enjoy our English muffins, crumpets, tea cakes and brandy snaps at afternoon teas. Call to-day. More side glances to-morrow. Golden Loaf Bakery, 711 Fort St.

WOMEN AFTER TRACK TITLES

Vancouver, June 15. — Headed by two Dominion record holders and a former Canadian Olympic team star from Vancouver, and a trio of aces from Vancouver Island, crack feminine athletes of the province step out here Saturday in the British Columbia women's track and field championships.

From the list of newly-crowned champions, and record breakers, if any, will come the coast's contingent to bid for a place on the Canadian team to the British Empire Games.

Foremost among the leading contenders are Mary Frizzell, member of Canada's Olympic team and 100-metre ace; Lillian Palmer, Dominion 200-metre titlist and a team mate of Miss Frizzell on the Olympic squad, and Margaret Bell, Dominion intermediate high jump champion

STIFF OPPOSITION

But all three of the mainland stars will have stiff opposition from the three island entries, Olive Gorton and Yvonne Dingley, Duncan, and Margaret Thompson, Nanaimo.

Miss Gorton is expected to give Miss Palmer a battle in the 200-metre event. The diminutive Miss Dingley, all-round track star who earned the name of the "one-woman track team," when she captured three titles at New Westminster, recently, in addition to entering the sixty-metre dash against Miss Frizzell, has also entered in the sixty-metre hurdles, broad jump, high jump and baseball throw.

FINE JUMPERS

Track officials confidently expect a new high jump mark when Miss Bell and Miss Thompson meet in that event. The Vancouver ace, who cracked the intermediate record last year with a mark of five feet one inch, came within a quarter of an inch of equalling the Dominion record of five feet three inches this year. The Nanaimo girl has climaxed a steady improvement over the last two seasons with near record-breaking performances, and is regarded as a serious threat to Miss Bell's position as British Columbia's premier high jump artist.

Bertha Haigh and Tosca Trasolini are entered for the discus and shot-put events, with Helen Reeves the principal threat in the javelin throw.

Gladys Robertson will probably provide the hardest opposition to Miss Dingley in the baseball throw.

VAUDEVILLE AT EMPIRE

A crowded house welcomed Billy Carmen and the performers on the Orpheum Road Show to the Empire Theatre yesterday evening, and the patrons enjoyed an hour of fast entertainment.

Acrobatics and juggling were mixed with music and wisecracks. The Perez Trio started things off with a tumbling exhibition that had the audience gasping and applauding in turn. Don Santos and Exie, in songs, dance and patter, kept up a running fire of comedy and then Billy and Grace Carmen, the "Speed Monarchs of Melody," developed a number of the latest tunes on the marimba. Moran and Wiser wound things up with hat throwing and club juggling, slinging hats far out into the audience so that they returned like boomerangs, Moran catching them on his head from all angles.

The picture, "One is Guilty," with Ralph Bellamy, was shown as well.

It was announced that starting next week, during the summer months, the vaudeville will be given on Friday and Saturday nights only.

NEW SONGS IN DOMINION FILM

S. Coslow, A. Johnston Composed Special Songs For "Murder at the Vanities"

Sam Coslow and Arthur Johnston, co-authors of "Thanks," "The Day You Came Along," "Just One More Chance," "Learn to Croon" and dozens of other hits Bing Crosby made famous, have written six new songs for Paramount's production of Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities," which is now at the Dominion Theatre.

The picture, directed by Mitchell Leisen, is a combination musical show and murder mystery based upon the Broadway play by Carroll and Rufus King.

The new songs, in the typical Coslow-Johnson vein, are entitled "Cocktails for Two," "Lovely One," "My Gigolo," "Ebony Rhapsody," "Marahuana," "Live and Love To-night" and "Where Do They Come From?"

"Tarzan and Mate" To Open Saturday

A sensational battle with a man-eating crocodile, 100 roaring lions in a wild jungle attack, fifty thundering elephants in a mad stampede, 150 savage apes with a handful of humans at their mercy—these are some of the one thousand and one thrills to be seen in "Tarzan and His Mate," M-G-M's new jungle thriller, which will open at the Capitol Theatre with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan reunited in an engrossing drama of two people who found their Eden in a wilderness.

Created by the vivid imagination of Edgar Rice Burroughs, "Tarzan" has become a world figure followed with breathless attention wherever human beings can read the printed page.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

The Three Radio Rogues who appear with Marion Davies in "Going Hollywood," now at the Playhouse Theatre, had been called to the photograph galleries for portraits.

One, Henry Taylor, appeared in an orange polo sweater and no shirt. The photographer wanted the Rogues dressed alike, all with shirts.

"Take off your shirt," Taylor commanded their secretary-stooge, and the sec-stoo peeled it off.

"At last!" chortled Jimmy Hollywood, Rogue No. One. "We've found a use for you—to wear our spare shirts!"

COLUMBIA THEATRE

For the first time since he gave up western starring roles, Richard Arlen wears a ten-gallon hat to impersonate a one-man medicine show in Charles R. Rogers's Paramount picture "She Made Her Bed," which is showing at the Columbia Theatre.

Also in the cast of this romance of an auto tourist camp are Sally Eilers, Robert Armstrong, Grace Bradley, Charley Grapewin, Rosco Ates and Richard Arlen Jr.

BISLEY TEAM WILL DEPART

Montreal, June 15.—Marksmen of the Bisley team, Canada's hopes to bring back to the Dominion once again the coveted Kolapore Cup and the prize of His Majesty the King, were inspected here yesterday at the Victoria Rifles Armory by Brig. W. W. P. Gibsone, officer commanding Military District No. 4, Montreal.

The team of eighteen marksmen, headed by Lieut.-Col. H. F. G. Letson of the University of British Columbia, C.O.T.C., left to-day for New York to sail from there to-morrow.

Each member of the team has his favorite rifle with him and few changes have been made in equipment apart from the replacing of the brass shoulder badge to a red silk patch bearing the word "Canada." The broad-brimmed hats will be distributed at Bisley.

J.B.A.A. CREWS IN EVEN BREAK

Portland, June 15.—The J.B.A.A. Rowing Club and the Portland Rowing Club divided honors here yesterday in crew races on the Willamette River, witnessed by about 25,000 persons.

The Canadians won the eight-oared shell event by two lengths and the Portland club four-oared crew won in an exciting finish by only a few feet. Oregon State College four-oared crew was a poor third in the latter event.

The Victoria four-man shell crashed into the draw rail of the Norison Bridge at the finish and sprung a bad leak.

Works Bill At Ottawa Next Week

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15. — "Barring accidents," the new public works programme for unemployment relief will be introduced in the House of Commons next Tuesday, Premier Bennett stated to-day. Mr. Bennett was asked by the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, if the programme would be before the House by the end of the provincial elections.

Pasalwa Singh appeared in provincial police court Wednesday afternoon, charged with assault causing actual bodily harm. The charge arose from an alleged quarrel with his wife at Langley. A. J. Patton appeared for the accused and asked for an adjournment until next week.

DO YOU KNOW

Know the word "acrobat," meaning a professional gymnast, had its origin?

Everyone likes roast chicken: To-morrow, Saturday, is roast chicken day at Stevenson's, both stores. Try a full-course chicken dinner for only 50c, a toasted chicken sandwich 25c, or a cool, crisp, chicken salad a la Stevenson's. You'll be delighted. We'll expect you to-morrow.

Answer — Acrobat is from the Greek words, akros baino, meaning one who moves about using the tips of his toes and fingers.

Barbara Kent, Visiting Here With Mrs. F. W. Vincent, Likes Movies

Barbara Kent, who retired from the screen eighteen months ago when she married H. E. Edrington, Beverley Hills production executive, plans to go back to moving picture work shortly, so she told newspapermen this morning at the Empress Hotel, where she is staying with Mrs. F. W. Vincent, also of Los Angeles.

"Oh yes, I intend to go back to pictures and my husband is encouraging me to do so," said Mrs. Edrington, who as Barbara Kent has been featured in pictures with Gloria Swanson, Harold Lloyd and Marie Dressler.

"When you have been in moving pictures, you know, it is difficult to break away from it," said the actress. "Of course, marriage makes a difference, but there is always the urge to return to the profession."

She declined to say what studio had been dickering for her services.

Miss Kent made two pictures with Harold Lloyd, who himself went into the production game at the head of his own company. These pictures were "Welcome Danger," and "Feet First."

Miss Kent was with Gloria Swanson in "Indiscreet," and with Marie Dressler in "Emma." She was worked with Universal, United Artists and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Miss Kent declines to admit that she retired from the screen when she took marriage vows. It was merely an interlude. Mrs. Edrington does not believe that marriage interferes with a career. Her marriage with Mr. Edrington has been a happy one, she said.

Mr. Edrington, at the time of his marriage to Miss Kent, was a production executive in Hollywood. He is now in the film agency business in partnership with Mrs. Vincent's husband. At one time Mr. Vincent was an executive of the Orpheum circuit.

Mrs. Edrington is a pretty brunette, while her friend, Mrs. Vincent is a blonde. They like Victoria immensely and say the Empress is the finest hotel they have stayed at since leaving California. Their time is their own and they are going to see all they can of the country here before returning home.

After week-ending here they plan to drive over the Malahat to Nanaimo, from where they will take the ferry to Vancouver.

Mrs. Edrington is a Calgary girl, but has spent most of her life in the United States.

BLACKMAIL CASE APPEAL CLOSES

Justices Reserve Decision on Conviction of Three For Attempted Extortion

Justices of the Court of Appeal in session here have reserved their judgment on the appeal of Louis Williams, W. Clayton and James Davidson, convicted by a jury and sentenced by Chief Justice Morrison of attempting to blackmail Col. Victor Spencer for "twenty to fifty grand," which was interpreted for the court to mean $20,000 to $50,000. Williams had been sentenced to four years, and Clayton and Davidson to two and one-half years.

Should Understand Unemployed's Views

Prof. Roland G. Macintyre, D.D., of Australia, Urges Industrialists to Study Position of Jobless; Drifting Only Leading to Revolution

Solution of the economic situation to-day should come through the industrial world. Business men should try and understand the point of view of the unemployed and acquaint themselves with the problem, which if not solved, and allowed to drift as at present, will end in revolution. This was the opinion of Prof. Ronald G. Macintyre, D.D., O.B.E., C.M.G., of Sydney, N.S.W., who to-day addressed the Men's Canadian Club on "Christianity and Economics."

The speaker said he was trying to give the members a view of world troubles to-day from the point of view of a Christian minister.

In his mind the solution must come from those who were intimately connected with the control of the machinery and therefore it was futile for ministers to try and preach a solution.

"All economic and industrial relations are ultimately personal relations; thus they are inevitably moral relations and moral relations have their basis in religion," he said. He touched on various phases of world ailments making an earnest plea for a keener study of the world's difficulties by the industrialists.

RETRACE STEPS

"We should retrace our steps and spiritualize the whole of life. That is the beginning of wisdom in this economic blizzard which has swept down and shaken civilization to its foundations," Rev. Mr. Macintyre said. "I am not pleading for a return of the past but we must absorb the past in its better element in a spirit of adventure. We must be ready to take risks, for risks wisely taken are the only road to safety."

"The present world policy is dictated by fear," he continued, "and this fear has gripped every nation so that we have panic stricken nations shutting their doors against the rest of the world. This policy, dictated by jealous fear, is utterly wrong, for nations seeking security in economic isolation are seeking war."

Unemployment was no one's fault but industry could not be expected to find employment in unprofitable enterprise, he said.

"You business men should try and understand the point of view of the unemployed," he said. "Their point of view is that unemployment is not inevitable and these men feel they are suffering from an evil which can be remedied and is not being remedied. That is the mood in which they listen to these agitators and brazen-mouthed politicians with their golden promises. They feel they are regarded as mere cogs in a mechanical wheel, to be thrown on the scrap heap when the capitalist has finished with them.

"Try to understand the mood of the man who thinks that way, for that is the most important factor of the unemployment problem to-day," he urged, in calling for a better understanding among men.

From the Christian viewpoint work had to be found for the workers or adequate provision made for them, he continued.

A CONTRADICTION

"This, however, becomes an additional tax on industry and therefore a way must be found to lighten the burden which industry must carry," he said. "The only way that is offered is to expand trade and create employment. I have absolutely no sympathy with the policy of reducing production, particularly primary production. It is absurd to talk of excessive production when millions of our own people, yes, and they are our own people, are starving. Plenty and poverty are distinctly contrary and are a Christian contradiction."

The situation should be attacked as a problem of distribution rather than one of production, he maintained. "Nations of the world are going 'tariff crazy,'" he asserted.

He touched on the question of currency, which he said was full of pitfalls. There could be no solution for unemployment unless business men seriously tackled the currency question.

"Money has got to become the servant of industry and be no longer its master," he said. Professor Macintyre did not think Britain would return to the gold standard in its old form.

Summing up the salient features of his talk, the speaker said restriction of imports by high tariffs was a "blunder." "No nation can be self-sufficient and there is an urgent need for freer trade within the Empire," he said. He advocated an arranged currency which would raise the general level of wholesale prices and would aid producers and thus increase wages. He maintained that war debts should be canceled openly and frankly and the world should not drift into it. Armaments could only be reduced with the removal of the cause of the fear complex of all nations.

"Do not leave these questions to economic experts. They should be looked at from the point of view of industry," he concluded.

Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson moved the vote of thanks. William T. Straith presided in the absence of Herbert Anscomb, president.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The city fire department yesterday battled a grass fire on the Indian reserve west of the Johnson Street bridge for more than three hours.

William Dean, Keating, taken to St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday morning with a wound in his head from a .22 rifle, was reported better today and progressing favorably.

A proposition from F. Kilborn to exchange a lot on King George Terrace for two municipal lots on the same street was declined by the Oak Bay Council yesterday.

Miss Bertha Jenkins of Duncan was appointed supervisor of the nursing staff of the Saanich Health Centre, by the municipal health committee yesterday evening.

Two cyclists who pleaded guilty to charges of failing to have their bicycles equipped with warning bells or other sounding devices were fined $3 each in the City Police Court this morning.

J. K. Matheson, manager, and Walter Leek, president of the Vancouver Exhibition Association, were here today arranging about judging for the annual exhibition there in August. Premier Pattullo has consented to open the fair, Mr. Matheson said.

Appointment of Kenneth Macdonald as deputy registrar of titles at the land registry office, was approved by the provincial government this morning. Mr. Macdonald succeeds in the post C. R. Barker, who retired on account of ill-health.

Yip Sing, charged with assaulting Fong Chan Ten on March 3, appeared before Judge J. Charles McIntosh today and through his counsel, W. C. Moresby, K.C., elected for speedy trial before a judge without a jury. Walter Colvin represented the prosecution. The judge set June 27 as the trial date.

Moving pictures of a trip through England were shown by Douglas Flintoff at the Anchorage Tea Gardens yesterday evening to an interested audience. The pictures will be shown again on Wednesday, June 27, at the same place. Comedies of "Our Gang" and "Laurel and Hardy" rounded off the programme.

Wild dogs have caused such destruction to sheep at Campbell River that aid of the provincial government in combatting the trouble has been sought by the Campbell River Board of Trade. While the main havoc has been wrought among sheep flocks the wild dogs have maimed, killed and harassed not only sheep, but cattle, particularly heifers.

Prosecution evidence in the case of James P. Goodwin and F. G. Grosse, charged with theft of funds from advertisements in the publication of The B.C. Odd Fellow, was heard in the City Police Court this morning. The case was adjourned until to-morrow to hear the defence. J. P. Walls and P. R. Leighton appear for the two defendants, and Richard Lowe is prosecuting.

A word description of his recent trip to the Orient and Egypt was presented by J. Carl Pendray to members of the Kinsmen Club at their dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. The club also discussed plans for the national convention to be held here from August 2 to 5, when it was reported that practically all arrangements for the gathering have been completed.

A sale price of $1,000 yesterday was established by the Oak Bay Council as the amount for which the school site in the Uplands will be disposed of. Purchase of the property is sought through W. H. M. Haldane and, according to the Public Schools Act, it will be necessary for the Department of Education to make certain investigations in regard to the site before preparation of an order-in-council approving the sale.

On a charge of stealing $1,377 from a man at Powell River, Charles McLean was arrested here yesterday evening by Inspector Robert Owens and Sergeant Richard Harvey of the Provincial Police. He was sent to Vancouver this afternoon with Constable Marcus Phipps to appear in police court at Powell River. The arrest was effected following the receipt of circular information in Victoria. According to the police here, McLean had proceeded to Portland and later found his way back to Victoria. He was on the C.P.R. dock when arrested.

C.N.R. Officials In City To-day

B. T. Chappell, general superintendent of the British Columbia division of the Canadian National Railways, was a business visitor to Victoria this morning. He came over from Vancouver with C. J. Quantic, superintendent of motive power, and S. Morrison, district engineer, both of Vancouver.

Mr. Chappell said he had noted an improvement in both the freight and passenger revenue for his district and estimated, that from present bookings, the steamers Prince George and Prince Rupert would enjoy heavy traffic to Alaska this season. He said the Prince Rupert, sailing next Monday evening, will take north a heavy list of passengers.

CABLE LAYING IS DESCRIBED

Capt. C. M. C. Fleming of Restorer Gives Interesting Talk to Local Credit Men

The difficult and dangerous job of laying dep-sea cable was briefly described to members of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association at luncheon to-day in Spencer's dining-room by Capt. C. M. C. Fleming, master of the cableship Restorer, which is stationed at Victoria. Capt. Fleming told a number of interesting facts about the laying of miles of cable on the ocean floor.

The route over which a cable is to be laid must be surveyed, Capt. Fleming said, as it was important to know the depth of the water. Echo sounders are largely in use now, and fine piano wire is necessary.

Breaks in the cable occur through a variety of causes, Capt. Fleming said. Corrosion was responsible for many breaks, while ships' anchors were to blame in many instances. Once, Capt. Fleming recalled, he was sent to repair a cable break and found tht a picnic party had used the end of the cable on which to boil a kettle. This little prank cost $20,000, the speaker stated.

SLOW JOB

The men on the cableship always have to figure on weather conditions, Capt. Fleming said. Bringing up the cable was a slow job and took from twelve to sixteen hours. It might be calm when the job starts but by the time the cable starts to come over the bow, the ship may be dipping her nose into a swell, which makes things awkward.

Victoria was the logical base for the Restorer, Capt. Fleming said. This port had a good geographical position and there was a good type of sailorman to be secured here when orders came for the ship to proceed to sea. The Restorer came here in 1908 from Honolulu, Capt. Fleming recalled. She has no port of registry, although she flies the United States flag. Some of the officers and men are British and some American. The Restorer is on call for repairing the British cable out of Banfield and the United States cable out of San Francisco.

George E. McDonald, president of the Credit Granters, occupied the chair at the luncheon. Walter J. Fletcher introduced Capt. Fleming and Mr. McDonald moved the vote of thanks.

CITIES' BRIEF IS SUPPORTED

Real Estate Board Backs Move By Civic Leaders For Government Aid

The Real Estate Board of Victoria to-day gave wholehearted support to the joint brief submitted by Victoria and Vancouver civic leaders to the provincial government seeking amelioration of taxation as far as landowners are concerned.

The action was taken following the reading of the report by James Forman at the board's luncheon in Spencer's dining-room.

It was substituted for another brief being considered by the board.

Mr. Forman spoke of the suffering caused by restriction of the city taxation methods largely to land and the action of the provincial government in taking to itself levies aland from other means and making partial restitution in the form of "handouts" to the cities.

A motion of Fred Landsberg, that the board bring to the notice of city members the provisions of the brief, asking them to support it, was also passed.

Thos. Mottershead Called to Rest

There passed away yesterday at St. Josephs Hospital, Thomas Mottershead, of Mount Tolmie. Mr. Mottershead was born in Higher Peover, Cheshire, England, seventy-nine years ago and for the last twenty-four years had resided in the Mount Tolmie district. He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow; two daughters, Mrs. C. Croft, at the family residence, and Mrs. Grindy in England, and one son, Herbert, 401 Burnside Road.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon, the cortege proceeding from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home at 2.15 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later services will be conducted at St. Aidan's Church, Mount Tolmie. Rev. H. J. Armitage will officiate and interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Sudden Death Of James Maluorno

The death occurred suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home, 83 Regina Avenue, Saanich, of James Maluorno, aged sixty-three years. He was born in Italy and had been a resident of Victoria and Saanich for twenty-four years. He is survived by his widow and two sons, Dennis and Clifford at the family residence.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from Carter's Funeral Home. Rev. O. L. Jull will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Officers will be elected and important business will be discussed at a meeting of Ward Three Liberals in Liberal headquarters this evening at 8 o'clock.

JAY WALKING PROHIBITED

City Ordinance to Be Enforced Cy Police; Stop Practice on Douglas Street

Jay walking pedestrians of Victoria, who have had plenty of leeway as far as the police have been concerned, no longer will enjoy their old freedom. Chief of Police Heatley this morning announced that the new city by-law on jaywalking will be strictly enforced.

On Douglas Street, between Johnson and Fort, pedestrians will only be allowed to cross in the proper lanes at the intersections.

It is generally recognized that pedestrian traffic in Victoria is careless compared with other cities of this size and a determined effort is to be made to have pedestrians "jay walking conscious." The chief intimated the restricting of part of the business district was merely a preamble to restricting the whole of the downtown section in order to insure greater safety for both motorists and pedestrians.

The by-law provides that on highways where there is no sidewalk pedestrians must walk on the left hand side and step off the traveled portion on the approach of a vehicle from the opposite direction.

EDUCATE PUBLIC

"These by-laws have been passed solely for the safety of the public and the police will endeavor to educate rather than prosecute for the time being," said the chief. "However, in cases where persons become repeated offenders they will be dealt with before the court. It will also be made quite clear to motorists that they are not by any means relieved of their responsibility in exercising due care for the safety of pedestrians."

The move is one which the chief expects will materially assist in reducing the number of accidents in the city. He noted there had been a substantial reduction in major accidents during the last two months.

SCHOOL EXAMS START SHORTLY

Final preparations were being made at the city school board offices to-day for the annual entrance and junior matriculation examinations which will occupy the attention of the majority of senior students in the grade and high schools during the next two weeks.

Departmental examinations were assembled in the office to-day for distribution to the various entrance classes of the city's schools, while other tests, it was understood, would go forward.

Matriculation examinations will start on Monday, and continue until June 29, while those who are required to write entrance examinations will sit for them on June 27, 28 and 29. Those securing promotion by recommendation will leave the public schools on June 26 for their summer vacations.

Already some of the High School classes have ended and those not writing tests will be freed shortly from classes still in session.

ODD FELLOWS END SESSIONS

Convention Closed With Grand Ball; Delegates Leaving For Homes

Visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, delegates from all parts of British Columbia, as well as those who bore fraternal greetings from points beyond the provincial jurisdiction, were returning home to-day following one of the order's most successful and optimistic conventions in recent years.

Yesterday evening they wound up their convention activities with a grand ball in the Shrine Auditorium, where the Decoration of Chivalry, the highest honor in the provincial command, was conferred upon two members, Albert Miller, Vancouver, and A. G. French, New Westminster, earlier in the evening.

Late yesterday afternoon J. C. Brown, past grand master, and Frank Clark, another officer of that rank, installed the newly-elected leaders into their offices.

R. S. Jackson was presented with the past grand master's jewel, the presentation being made by J. T. McDonald, Vancouver. Mr. McDonald spoke of the retiring officer's energetic work for the order, and the manner in which his efforts had been greeted with success.

Four members of fifty years' standing, all Victorians, answered the roll call. They were ex-Alderman W. H. Cullin, David Henry, Frank Taylor and Richard Foster.

Resolutions of thanks were passed to all those who had helped to make this year's convention such an outstanding success. Not the least of those who contributed to this success was Mr. Jackson, who was particularly mentioned, the gathering having been the most successful held in the last ten or twelve years.

Alderman Walter Luney, who represented Mayor David Leeming in welcoming the delegates to the convention and to the city, was extended a hearty vote of thanks for his welcoming words and the interest he took in the gathering.

WHITE SLAVER TERM AFFIRMED

High Court Refuses Appeal to Cut Five-year Term For Sadlich

Appeal against the five-year sentence handed out by Chief Justice Morrison to Peter Sadlich for conducting white slavery operations in Vancouver was dismissed by the Court of Appeal here to-day. T. F. Hurley was counsel for Sadlich.

Mr. Hurley contended the verdict was against the weight of evidence and that Chief Justice Morrison had not put the defence evidence adequately to the jury. He also argued that the prosecutor had stated to the jury that if they disagreed and a new trial was ordered, additional evidence against Sadlich would be produced.

After argument, Mr. Hurley abandoned the plea that the verdict was contrary to the evidence, and confined himself to pressing a claim for a reduction of the sentence, which he said was too severe.

Chief Justice Macdonald said he favored cutting Sadlich's term to two years. The other three sitting members of the court, however, considered the five-year term imposed was fitting for the white slavery charge, dismissed the appeal, and ordered Sadlich to serve the five years given him by Chief Justice Morrison.

Peter Smart, 2226 Bowker Avenue, suffered a severe concussion at the back of head when struck down by a cyclist at the corner of Government and Pembroke Streets yesterday, according to the city police. Mr. Smart had just disembarked from a north-bound street car on Government Street when struck by Ernest Edwards, 1231 Pandora Avenue, who was cycling in the same direction. Mr. Smart was immediately removed to the city police station where first aid was rendered. Dr. Forrest Leeder was summoned and ordered him removed to the Jubilee Hospital where his condition was not reported as serious.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE MOST magnetic personality that has blazened its crowd-appeal from behind the bulky paddings and contraptions of a hockey goalie since the days of the immortal Georges Vezina and the sensational Hughie Lehman, was lost to hockey when Charlie "Chuck" Gardiner died Wednesday at Winnipeg. Like every other big league goaltender, Gardiner went up to the headline show from Canada's corner-lots. But he went up with more box-office appeal, more sheer daring and greater medium to reach the hockey masses than any of them. He laughed his way into the hearts of every hockey fan.

There was no clown in the National Hockey League to compare with the curly-haired boy from Winnipeg, who was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. The multitudes laughed with him. They never laughed at him. He was the best goalie in the business and he never permitted humor to interfere with that business.

A year ago last spring, when the Chicago Black Hawks were in last place in the United States section of the N.H.L., merely finishing out their schedule, the final game of the schedule was played at Toronto. The game was of no importance to either the Hawks or the Leafs and the tail-enders played like tail-enders. But the happy boy of the nets was in his glory. The powerful Leafs bombarded him and he laughed. Charlie Conacher, the hardest shooter in the game, skated in on Gardiner for a clear shot and Gardiner made one of his lightning dives. Laughing, he came up from the subsequent scramble with the puck.

Altogether Chuck stopped about sixty shots that night. A small, season-end audience never took its eyes off the acrobatic ace, playing for the love of it. One spectator threw a fine Derby hat on the ice and Gardiner picked it up, pulled it down around his ears and went on with the show. He was a real comedian at heart. He knew how to get laughs everywhere. Many fans obliged by providing hats for the Derby act and Chuck invariably came through with a clowning performance. There has been argument as to Gardiner's greatness, but none as to his superb showmanship.

The Black Hawk goalie took his jeers and boos in Chicago's early N.H.L. days when the team was weak and Chuck was a rookie. Chicago learned to appreciate his magic long after the rest of the cities in the circuit had recognized him among the top-notchers. He was a hero in Chicago last spring, captain of the Stanley Cup champions.

In seven years of the roughest hockey played, through 320 games, some with only a mediocre team, Gardiner set up an average of only 2.1 goals allowed a game. His record, giving the season, games played, goals allowed and average, follows: 1927-28, 44, 134, 3.0; 1928-29, 44, 85, 1.9; 1929-30, 44, 111, 2.5; 1930-31, 44, 78, 1.8; 1931-32, 48, 101, 2.1; 1932-33, 48, 101, 2.1; 1933-34, 48, 83, 1.7.

In the playoffs, the nervous but never-excited Scottish boy was just as good. Follows his record in N.H.L. elimination series: 1929-30, 2, 3, 1.5; 1930-31, 9, 14, 1.6; 1931-32, 2, 6, 3.0; 1933-34, 8, 12, 1.5.

Besides earning the Vezina Trophy last season, Gardiner was chosen on the N.H.L. all-star team three out of the four years the all-stars have been selected.

Young Charlie took his hockey seriously, much too seriously had it not been for his naturally happy manner. When a dozen goals were scored against him in an intermediate game at Portage La Prairie, west of Winnipeg, he stayed home and cried. And when Selkirks broke into senior hockey company, with whom he lost a Manitoba playoff despite his brilliant work, he walked down back lanes to avoid meeting hockey fans.

At Chicago in his first big league game, Gardiner had one of the few attacks of stage fright he ever suffered. Back of a woefully weak team, he was showered with puck-shots and the Hawks were beaten badly. Years later he admitted he was downhearted and ready to quit when "Duke" Keats, veteran Hawk centre, encouraged him to keep on.

Charlie learned almost all there was to know about goal tending by watching the best netmen—old "Eagle Eye" Lehman was his idol—but he always claimed he learned how to outguess a forward from Keats, once one of the greatest stick handlers.

Rips and Smashes Mammoth Carnera Into Gory Wreck

CARNERA DOWN ELEVEN TIMES

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, June 15.—Reverberating to-day from the smashing savagery of the most spectacular battle of big men in nearly eleven years of ring history, the fight world acclaimed a new heavyweight champion of the world, Max Adelbert Baer, California, a curly-haired wolf of a man, who combines a contemptuous grin and the stage mannerisms of a movie actor with a killing right-hand punch.

With magnificent gestures, absolute disdain for anything his giant foe could do and a sporadic but vicious onslaught, Baer stopped the huge but helpless Primo Carnera in the eleventh round of a fifteen-round match before a roaring crowd of 52,000 in Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl, thereby ending the Italian's one-year rule at the top of the heavyweight heap abruptly, and bringing the crown back to the United States.

Carnera was knocked down eleven times from the force of Baer's smashing blows before Referee Donovan stopped the one-sided affair, with only forty-four seconds to go in the eleventh round, and awarded the verdict to the broad-shouldered, twenty-five-year-old United States fighter on a technical knockout.

REELING WRECK

The giant 263-pound Italian was still on his feet at the finish, after bravely trying to continue against odds that he knew were overwhelming against him, but he was a bloody, reeling wreck of a fighting man and he was muttering "fini—fini!" in utter helplessness.

Carnera was knocked down three times within the first minute of fighting as Baer loosed a succession of long, dynamite-laden right hands to the head, followed by bruising lefts to the body. The Italian was down three times again in the second round with Baer rolling on top of him. The giant was flopped to his haunches again in the third, still too bewildered to take anything like a count and recover his wits.

He rallied bravely for the next few rounds, but in the eighth he sprawled full length to the floor from the force of an ineffectual lunge.

BELL SAVED HIM

Only the bell saved Primo from a knockout in the tenth round, at one stage of which Donovan stepped between them and changed his mind after giving every indication of his intention to stop the fight. Twice in the round and twice more in the eleventh, Primo went down under crushing blows.

Absolutely dazed, his face a blotchy red from the terrific pounding he had received and his features distorted in grotesque bewilderment, Carnera was led stumbling from the ring after the most severe beating any heavyweight champion has absorbed since Jack Dempsey pounded Jess Willard into bloody pulp in three rounds at Toledo in 1919.

For two rounds yesterday evening there was more blistering action than a whole carload of heavyweight bouts have produced in the last half dozen years. Only Carnera's gameness under the heaviest fire of his career, together with Baer's tactics in merely stalking his big opponent until he chose to turn loose his belting fury, kept the fighting from ending in short order.

BAER NEVER HURT

There was never much question about the outcome after the first few slashing right handers bowled Carnera off his feet. Although the big man continually did nearly all the leading, while Baer backed slowly away or side-stepped with the ease of a dancer, there was no time when Primo's stiffest left jabs or faltering right hand uppercuts caused Baer to do anything but make a derisive face. Max alternately grinned and glared, stuck out his tongue in boyish contempt and twitted his giant rival.

Three times Carnera was on the floor in the first round, and three times more in the second he floundered down, terribly hurt, but dragging Baer with him as he grabbed his tormentor's arms, trying to keep his balance. Again in the third, a right to the chin flattened the mammoth.

There were no more knockdowns until the tenth, although Carnera slid full length in his corner in the eighth as his weak legs failed to hold up his lunging body. But in the tenth, this murderous successor to California's earlier champions, Jim Corbett, Jim Jeffries and Dempsey, cut loose all over again.

Here was a round that for chaos, drama and throat-choking excitement will take rank with some of the most tense in all ring history. Battered, staggering, his huge face a bloody, gargoyle mask, Carnera came out with the same doggedness and courage that marked every step of his hopeless stand. Baer drove him to a corner, drove both hands so deep to the body of the huge creature that it seemed the muscles should have boomed protest like the hide covering of a base drum.

CARNERA GALLANT

But instead of quailing, Carnera made his final gesture, a gallant thing to see. He lifted his arms and twisted his smashed features into a grin. He walked past Baer to mid-ring. He patted his body with his huge fists.

"No hurt me there," he laughed.

Baer, the clown, the showman, had to laugh with him. But only for a few seconds. His face drew down in his killer scowl. He bared his teeth. He crouched. He threw himself forward, hurling his overhand right that was as deadly all night as a leather bag full of buckshot.

His first right smashed so hard on Carnera's jaw, with a left hook following it to the pit of the stomach, that it stretched his shattered length on the canvas, full on his back. It seemed as though no man living could stand up under such a fearful smash. Referee Donovan thought so. As Carnera stumbled to his feet, helpless, he stepped in and tried to turn Baer away, tried to send him to his corner, a victor then and there on a technical knockout.

DOWN AGAIN

But the melee was so furious, the weight and fury of the giants so great, they floundered loose from Donovan's grasp, and again Baer shot that fearful right overhand to the head. Again it cracked full on the champion's jaw, and again he stretched his awesome bulk, quivering, on the canvas.

Fully as frantic as the roaring, maddened crowd, the leaping Baer, the howling seconds, the shouting newspapermen who didn't know whether Baer had fouled or not by hitting after the fight might have been stopped, the harassed Donovan counted four over the prostrate champion before the bell ending the round came to his rescue as well as Carnera's.

Somehow they got Carnera off the floor to his corner and frantically they prepared him for the last measure of punishment in the final round. No champion could have tried harder, anyway.

A round by round description of the fight follows:

Petrin weighed 177¾ pounds, Karolak 188 pounds.

Lou Poster, New York, mauled his way to a decision over Al White, New York, in the next joust. White weighed 177½ pounds, Poster 185½ pounds.

Chester Matan, Carnera's sailor sparring partner, started the evening off inauspiciously for the champion's camp by dropping a wide decision to Eddie Hogan, promising young New York heavyweight, in another five-rounder. Hogan weighed 216½ pounds and Matan 208½ pounds.

The trend toward Baer continued as "Dynamite" Jackson, a sparring partner, who licked the challenger almost every day in training bouts, took a divided decision over William McGee, Tampa, Fla., in five slow rounds. Both are negroes. Jackson weighed 208, McGee 198.

BRADDOCK RETURNS

Jimmy Braddock, once a light-heavyweight championship contender, made an exciting comeback as he scored a technical knockout in the third round of the next preliminary over "Corn" Griffin, the Irish heavyweight, who has been pummeling Carnera in training. Griffin knocked Braddock down first in the second round, then crumpled himself and was floored twice in the third before the bout was stopped at 2.37 of the round.

ROUND ONE

Baer slouched lazily from his corner as the gigantic Carnera boxed towards him, left carefully extended. They fell into a quick clinch without striking a blow and Baer missed a left to the head as they came away. Baer's face contorted fiercely as Carnera pumped three lefts to his mouth and the challenger ripped him furiously. He banged a left and right on the champion's side, but Carnera, stepping about lightly for all his awesome bulk, fended him off to the left. A righthand smash knocked Carnera down. He was up without a count. Baer chased him from one side of the ring to the other, and Carnera was up and down three times under the frightful pounding of Baer's furious fists. The champion reeled from rope to rope. There was no count on either of the three times he hit the floor Baer was trying to measure him at the bell. Baer's round.

ROUND TWO

As Baer tore out viciously for the kill he nailed Carnera with a right to the head and both tumbled to the floor. They crashed down again, both of them, as Baer landed a right high on the head. Again they fell, Baer on top as he drove the champion to the floor with a right high to the head. Game and dogged, Carnera fought to hold the challenger at bay, his left stuck out, his right high, as Baer stalked about him, but for a moment Max seemed to have punched himself out. Carnera quickly recovered. Another long overhand right smashed Carnera's temple, but again he recovered quickly, and, driving Baer to the ropes, clubbed him about the head with both hands, his first real

Fight Gate Is Over $425,000

New York, June 15. — The Carnera-Baer fight drew a 'gate" of more than $425,000.

The official figures, as announced by Madison Square Garden, showed gross receipts of $428,392.80 and net receipts of $361,357.29. The paid attendance was 52,268.

As the challenger, Baer received 12½ per cent or $45,169.66 of the net gate receipts. Carnera's share of the purse, 37½ per cent, was $135,508.98. Jack Dempsey, who received a cut of 7½ per cent for releasing Baer from his contract, pocketed $27,101.08, while the Milk Fund cut of 10 per cent amounted to $36,135.73.

Esquimalt Opposes Nanaimo To-morrow

Two Fast Football Teams Meet at Athletic Park in Island Final of Dominion Challenge Cup Series; Kick-off at 2.30 o'Clock

In the island final of the Dominion Challenge Cup soccer competition, Esquimalt will tangle with the crack Nanaimo City eleven at the Athletic Park to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Dave Swan will be the referee, and should the teams be tied at the end of the regular ninety minutes of play, overtime will be played. With a fast, dry pitch promised, the match should be fast and will likely attract one of the largest crowds of the season.

Esquimalt went into the island final last Saturday by handing the Saanich Thistles a 2 to 1 defeat after an interesting encounter. Nanaimo on the same day handed Victoria West an 8 to 0 defeat up-island in the other half of the semi-finals.

NANAIMO FAVORED

In view of their one-sided win over the Wests, Nanaimo will be favored to win to-morrow, although the Dockers are conceded an outside chance to come through. The play of the Esquimalt eleven has improved considerably in recent weeks, and their team is now clicking in great form. In Nanaimo, however, the local club will be against a strong, powerful club that can score goals with great rapidity. With such prolific scorers as Waugh, Kulai and Gray on their front line, the Coal City club is dangerous at all times.

Esquimalt will line-up with Louis DeCosta in goal and Joe Watt and Stan Bischard in the fullback positions. The halfback line will be made up of Jimmy Hay, Tommy Watt and Ivan Sweeney. The forward line will see Worswick at outside left; Mike Wagland at inside left; Dick Miller at centre-forward; John Watt at inside right, and Scotty Stewart at outside right. The substitutes will be Pepin and Cook. This gives the Dockers a well-balanced eleven.

Nanaimo will have English or Strong between the posts, with Edmunds and Boyd in front of him. The halfbacks will be McGregor, Knight and Stobbart. On the forward line will be Gray, Waugh, Kulai, Sandland and Waugh.

C.P.R. NET PLAY BILLED

Annual Club Championship Will Open To-morrow; Draw Is Announced

Club championship play at the C.P.R. tennis courts will open to-morrow with six matches, including both singles and doubles, being played.

On Sunday the tourney will continue, with play in the morning only. To-morrow's draw follows:

2.00—J. Norrington vs. A. Knight; Miss G. McCall vs. Mrs. F. Clarke.

3.00—Miss G. Copas and Mrs. W. McIntyre vs. Mrs. L. Mess and Miss G. Sluggett; W. McPhee vs. M. Deacon.

4.00—F. Partington vs. G. Briscoe. Mrs. M. Ford and Miss G. McCall vs. Mrs. Stewart and Miss M. Menzies.

Sunday's draw follows:

8.00—L. Campbell vs. A. Caddell; F. Henderson vs. Bigham; D. Nixon vs. R. Foster.

9.30—Partington and Gillie vs. Briscoe and McPhee; Miss Sluggett and Sheret vs. Miss McCall and Norrington; Miss Pearce and Caddell.

11.00—H. Bourne vs. H. Storey; Miss Menzies and Partington vs. Miss Christopher and Gray.

All competitors are asked to be on hand Sunday for additional matches.

THE BIG SIX

Another tangle for the top place in the National League section of the big six appeared yesterday, while all the higher-ranking American leaguers remained idle. Joe Medwick held his .365 mark and half interest in fourth place in the sextette, with two hits in five times up, but Bill Urbanski, who smashed out four blows in six attempts in the same game, came up to share the place, while Bill Terry dropped back. Urbanski added eight points to his average, while Terry, hitting one out of four, lost three. Sam Leslie also lost a couple of points and dropped out of the sextette. The standing:

	G.	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
Gehringer, Tigers	51	195	47	80	.410
Manush, Senators	51	214	41	85	.397

Medwick, Cardinals	50	208	47	76	.365
Urbanski, Braves	50	219	44	80	.365
Terry, Giants	53	207	42	75	.362

HOME RUN STANDING

Home runs yesterday—Trosky, Indians, two; Ruth, Yankees; Klein, Cubs; Hurst, Cubs; F. Herman, Cubs; Frisch, Cardinals; Delancey, Cardinals; Durocher, Cardinals, one each.

The leaders—Bonura, White Sox, 16; Gehrig, Yankees, 16; Klein, Cubs, 16; Ott, Giants, 16; Foxx, Athletics, 14; Johnson, Athletics, 14; Collins, Cardinals, 14.

League totals—American, 258; National, 254. Total, 512.

TIE FOR HONORS

C. E. Brown and G. T. Quincey finished in a tie in the monthly medal competition held at the Colwood Golf Club on Wednesday afternoon, each with net scores of 73.

Bill Brown's Opinion Same

New York, June 15.—Bill Brown, the boxing commissioner who pronounced Max Baer thoroughly unfit to fight Carnera and recommended a postponement, refused to alter his opinion after seeing the challenger win the heavyweight title.

"My opinion stands, "Brown said. 'Baer didn't show much but Carnera showed even less."

FINAL RITES FOR GARDINER

Impressive Ceremony Marks Funeral of Hockey Star at Winnipeg To-day

Winnipeg, June 15. — Hockey fans and sport lovers of two nations mourned to-day as last rites for Charlie "Chuck" Gardiner were being observed.

Gardiner, greatest goalie in the National Hockey League, died suddenly Wednesday at the peak of his career. The funeral was held here this afternoon from Ivy-clad Grace United Church, where Gardiner was married seven years ago.

Rev. J. Richmond Craig, minister of Grace Church, and Rev. J. H. Silmon, minister at Broadway Baptist Church, conducted the services.

The body lay in state in the church early this afternoon with a guard of honor. During the service Stanley Hoban, Gardiner's vocal teacher, sang one of the hockey star's favorite songs, "In the Garden." St. John's Lodge, A.F. & A.M., conducted masonic rites at the graveside.

Honorary pallbearers were: W. J. Holmes, J. I. Morkin, K.C.; Ward McVey, C. N. Bawlf, Art Chapman, Lorne Northcott, Art Somers, Art Lush, Lola Couture, Harry Oliver, W. J. Robertson, Frank Predrickson and Clem Loughlin. The active pallbearers were: Jimmy Grant, John Laing, Dick Irvin, John Petersen, F. G. Maxwell and Willis Archibald.

Loughlin was the representative of the Chicago Black Hawks, with whom Gardiner played as goal tender and became the greatest single factor in the team winning the Stanley Cup.

Bob Miller Wins Mat Bout on Foul

Vancouver, June 15.—Bob Miller, Chicago, 161, took the main event of a wrestling card here yesterday evening from Jack McLaughlin, Vancouver, 161, when he was awarded the deciding fall of the match on a foul in the fourth round. Each had taken a fall, McLaughlin in the second with a body press and the Chicagoan in the third with a flying scissors and body press, when the referee awarded the bout to Miller.

The semi-final saw Bunny Martin, Oklahoma, 170, and Petro Belltastro, Mexico, 175, go four fast rounds to a no fall draw. In another event, Ray Lyness, Vancouver, Wash., 152, and Bo Campbell, Illinois, 158, squirmed through four rounds to a draw, each taking a fall.

Memorial Trophy For Hockey Star

Winnipeg, June 15.—Proposals for a Charlie Gardiner Memorial Trophy in memory of the famed Chicago Black Hawks' goalie who died here suddenly, were under consideration to-day.

Suggestions for the trophy were made yesterday evening at a meeting of the University of Manitoba Students Union Council by the athletic commission of the university.

The trophy would be awarded annually "to the player of any junior hockey club operating in Winnipeg who has proven himself during the season's play, an outstanding example of fine sportsmanship as exemplified in the life of the late Charlie Gardiner."

Yankees' Recruit Latest Sensation

Johnny Broaca, Rookie Pitcher, Outstanding Figure in American Baseball League; Allowed Only Hit Yesterday to Beat St. Louis 7 to 0

In three games twenty-three year-old Johnny Broaca, who took his degree as master of the art of elbowing under Joe Wood at Yale University, has become the reigning sensation of the American League.

Two hours after he joined the New York Yankees, Broaca started a game and promptly was shelled off the hill. But he came back to pitch and lose a three-hit game against the Philadelphia Athletics and then yesterday turned in a one-hit feat against the St. Louis Browns and won his first major league victory 7 to 0.

Babe Ruth hit his tenth home of the year with two on board in the first, but it was mostly Broaca all the way. He led the Yanks back to the lead. Ten strikeouts offset the effects of six passes. With Detroit Tigers kept idle by rain at Boston, the triumph sent the Yanks into first place by the margin of four percentage points.

PITCHERS DOMINATE

The pitchers stood out yesterday with few exceptions. Cleveland and the Athletics did not get much in the hurling line as the Indians hammered out a 11 to 7 triumph with the aid of two important homers by Trosky.

In the National League St. Louis and Boston shelled each other's hurlers for a total of thirty-four blows including three Cardinal homers. Cards came out with a 12 to 9 decision although outhit 18 to 16. Chicago Cubs also beat the Phillies 6 to 4. Circuit swats by Chuck Klein, Don Hurst and Babe Herman produced all the Chicago runs.

Hal Schumacher turned in a five-hit game, beating the Cincinnati Reds 3 to 0 to keep the Giants on top of the National; Montee Weaver, Washington, granted the same number of blows in defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 1 and Brooklyn's Van Mungo granted the Pittsburgh Pirates five hits in ten innings and a win.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Rochester Red Wings finally have broken a serious losing streak when they failed to make up any ground in their pursuit of Newark Bears, pace setters in the International League. Rochester pounded out twenty-one hits in beating Syracuse 17 to 10 yesterday but Newark likewise won, beating Buffalo 3 to 1, in a night game and remained four and a half games ahead. Joe Brown and Tom Winsett contributed four hits apiece to Rochester's victory.

Jack Larocca pitched five-hit ball as Newark turned back Buffalo. Buffalo's only smore came on Ollie Onegie's homer in the fourth.

Toronto and Albany split a twilight doubleheader. Toronto won the opener, 7 to 5, a seven-inning affair, although outhit 11 to 8. In the second game, a wild affair, went to Albany, 11 to 10, when the Senators pushed over one run in the ninth.

Six runs off Chad Kimsey and Joe Pomorski in the seventh enabled Baltimore to top the Montreal Royals 11 to 5, in a night game.

Beavers Win From Mohawks

Virtually Cinch A Division Softball League Honors; New Method Victors

Taking a 2 to 0 lead at the start and steadily increasing their total, Beavers turned back Mohawks, 9 to 6, in yesterday evening's feature A division Lower Island Softball Association fixture at Victoria West Park, to strengthen their position in the first slot in the league standings. At the same time, Blue Ribbons took a 12 to 4 drubbing from the New Method Laundries at Central Park.

Beavers were never extended by their opponents, who did come to life, however, in the last frame, to push around five runners.

Lloyd Jones pitched steady ball for the Beavers, with Red Palmer doing the heavy work for the Mohawks.

After trailing just once, following the Ribbons' hitfest in the second, New Method Laundries smacked out hit after hit to subdue the tea merchants in the other fixture. Rosy McLellan turned in a good performance on the mound for the Laundries, while Chuck Turner pitched for the Ribbons.

In the D section, Canucks kept out in front with a 17 to 11 victory over Fernwood Merchants. Victoria Ice Company walked over the Native Sons, 18 to 3, behind Francis Carr's steady pitching in the same division.

Victoria West Social Club squeezed through with a 11 to 10 verdict over Hudson's Bay at Spencer's Park, in the C class, while Sidney came through with two needed runs in the last frame to beat Spencers, 8 to 7, at Sidney. In another close battle, Co-operage boys hammered the Maccabees, 7 to 6, at Central Park. North Saanich bowed to Painter's Bruins, 14 to 4, at Memorial Park.

CAPTAIN'S TEAM WINS

Defeats Secretary's Side in Golf Match at Gorge Vale; Prizes Presented

The captain's team was victorious over the secretary's team in the nine-hole match played by women members of the Gorge Vale Golf Club yesterday evening, the result being 5 to 4.

The results, with the captain's team first named, follow:

Mrs. H. P. Hodges 0, Mrs. H. H. Allen 1.

Miss Peggy Allen 1, Miss E. V. Wiley 0.

Mrs. A. T. Hunkin 1, Miss Muriel Banfield 0.

Miss E. R. Walker 1, Miss Dorothy Chennells 0.

Mrs. E. D. Freeman 0, Miss Anna Mason 1.

Mrs. D. R. Hurdle 0, Miss Seymour (won by default), 1.

Miss Jean Torrance 1, Miss H. Sweetland 0.

Miss Warburton 0, Mrs. J. A. Wiley 1.

Following the match adjournment was made to the Japanese tea gardens, where Mrs. Angus Campbell presented the prizes won in the recent championship and in other competitions. A presentation was made to Miss Dorothy Chennells, the retiring secretary of the women's committee, whose marriage will take place at the end of this month.

Billy Buxton Is Knockout Victim

Tacoma, Wash., June 15.—Frankie Gallucci, 124, Portland, knocked out Billy Buxton, 121, Victoria, B.C., in the fifth round of their scheduled six-round bout here yesterday evening. Gallucci was on the floor twice in the first round, but came back to drop Buxton in the second and fourth rounds.

Declare New Deal For Major Hockey

Prosperity Foreseen For N.H.L. With Entry of Pittsburgh and Removal of Ottawa Senators to St. Louis; Many Player Deals Rumored

New York, June 15.—A new deal was declared yesterday for the National Hockey League when Pittsburgh re-entered the fold and the proposal to move Ottawa Senators to St. Louis, Mo., was "as good as closed."

Prosperity was foreseen with the Senators' removal from Ottawa, where poor gates made it necessary for the league to grant certain concessions to the club.

In the new set-up, decided upon at the semi-annual meeting of N.H.L. governors, professional hockey's mayor league will again be balanced with five teams in each divison. The Senators, in their new St. Louis uniforms, will remain in the Canadian division along with Montreal Canadiens and Maroons, Toronto Leafs and New York Americans. Pittsburgh, Boston, Chicago, Detroit and New York Rangers will form the American wheel.

MANY DEALS REPORTED

There were reports galore of player deals in the making. The luncheon table hubbub sounded like a horse auction of the pre-auto era. In the end, however, managers, and governors alike said "nothing definite decided" until the negative phrase took on the monotony of a sing-song.

One thing that seemed clear was that Lorne Chabot would not tend goal next winter for Detroit, as pre-meeting reports had it. Genial "Jawn" Adams, the Cougar manager, intimated that the $10,000 Montreal Canadiens held over Chabot's head defintely scared him off. He said the minor league woods was full of goalie material. He added that there was a promising amateur prospect in Winnipeg, but declined to name him because "I can't remember the name."

The gloom which encompassed the hockey world over the sudden, tragic death of "Chuck" Gardiner at Winnipeg Wednesday night, permeated into the committee room. The board of governors sent a message of deepest condolences to the widow and family, then heard. Tommy Gorman extol the sportsmanship and renowned ability of the little Canadian-Scot, who played such a large part in Chicago's winning of the world title last winter.

Gorman, manager of those Chicago Hawks and now with the Montreal Forum and Maroons, presented a silver replica of the Stanley Cup to the owner of the Chicago Club, Major Frederic McLaughlin. He explained that the very thoughtful Gardiner had suggested the presentation "as a fine gesture to a fine chief."

FINE NEW ARENA

Pittsburgh was returned to the league under the financially-strong hand of James F. Callahan. The old Pittsburgh Pirates, of which he also was head, disbanded in 1927, mainly because Duquesne Gardens, their home arena, seated only 4,500 customers. Construction of a new $2,000,000 arena to accommodate 16,000 would be started next week, he said. He added that he would go into the open market in search of players and a manager.

The St. Louis interests were not represented at the meeting, but Redmond Quain, of the Ottawa executive, announced there was no doubt the Senators would operate in the "hockey crazy" Missouri City this coming winter.

It was too early, Major McLaughlin pointed out, to name a successor to the late "Chuck" Gardiner. He said Joe Stark, Toronto netman, who was understudy to the Winnipegger last season, would be given a chance to win the regular berth.

President Frank Calder was in the chair, and was requested to draw up a fifty-four-game schedule for the 1934-35 season, each team to play twenty-seven games at home and the same number away. Last winter they played twenty-four and twenty-four.

Thomas Arnold, Montreal, as elected to the board of governors after the resignation of James Strachan, former head of Maroons, was regretfully accepted.

Sons of Canada Meet Tillicums

To-night's Senior Amateur League baseball game at the Athletic Park will bring together the Tillicums and the Sons of Canada at 6.15 o'clock. After beating the Poodle Dog nine on Wednesday evening the Tillicums are counting on taking the league-leading Sons for a ride. Lloyd Cann or Tommy Musgrav will pitch for the Sons and Lefty Alexander or Art Carr for the clubmen. The game will be umpired by Wally Simpson and Jimmy Givens. Allie McGregor, regular umpire, has left the city on vacation. To-morrow evening at the park at 6.15 o'clock the Poodle Dog will meet Chemainus.

NEW CRICKET SERIES OPENS

Three Matches Scheduled To-morrow Afternoon in Knockout League

Cricket teams of Victoria will open their campaigns for knockout series honors to-morrow with two matches in the city and one at Duncan.

Locally Five C's will oppose the Wanderers at Beacon Hill, while the Incogs will meet Victoria at the Macdonald pitch.

Albions will journey to Duncan to try conclusions with the Up-Islanders.

Introduced a short time ago, the knockout league has proved particularly popular, and some exceptionally good matches are expected as the different teams fight against elimination.

All matches will start at 2.15 o'clock.

The Wanderers team for the match at Beacon Hill follows: Lethaby, Darcus, Reece, Jones, Grant, Adams, Moffatt, Austin, Moore and Jordan.

EAGLES TAKE EASY VICTORY

Getting to Al Mummery like bees to a jam pot, Eagles rattled out an 18 to 7 victory over Pitzer and Nex in yesterday evening's Twilight Baseball League fixture at the Athletic Park.

Leading all the way, Eagles completely routed the gasmen, driving in eight runners in the last frame.

Finch started for the winners and pitched well until he left the box in favor of Barnswell.

WOMEN'S SENIOR GOLF

Montreal, June 15.—The three-day championship tournament of the Canadian Senior Women's Golf Association will be held over the Lambton Golf Club course, at Toronto, September 25, 26 and 27, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. H. B. Mussen, president.

New Heavyweight Monarch

who yesterday evening demonstrated he is a savage, hard-hitting battler, by cutting the giant Primo Carnera down to his own size and finishing him off in the eleventh round by a technical knockout. Although he was outweighed by over fifty pounds, Baer displayed no fear of the big Italian and after putting Primo down in the first round with a terrific right cross, the clowning Baer had things pretty much his own way.

Douglas, Isle of Man, June 15.—J. Guthrie to-day won the classic senior tourist trophy motorcycle race, covering the difficult 264-mile seven-lap course in 3 hours 23 minutes and 10 seconds.

MAX BAER WINS WORLD HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPIONSHIP

ROUND THREE

Baer stalked his lumbering foe and leaped in with a smashing right uppercut to the body, landing just below the heart and bringing an expression of deep anguish to Primo's face. Still trying to force the going, but with leads that were so feeble that Baer brushed them off like so many flies, Carnera tried vainly to do some damage with his left jab. It was tame for nearly a minute, as Baer continued to strut his stuff. Max then unwound with a long right and Carnera went down hard on his haunches, bouncing right up after a count of one. The champion was consistently refusing to take any long counts in his visits to the floor, and was obviously thoroughly bewildered. There was a flurry of punching, with Baer digging hard to the body as Referee Donovan parted them at the bell. Baer's round.

ROUND FOUR

Baer waited in his corner for the champion to come to him, and again, with a reckless show of stamina for the punishment he had taken, Primo marched to the attack. The champion tried to reach Baer with his long left as they circled in the middle of the ring. Sneering, Baer backed to the ropes as Carnera, sticking doggedly to the task, moved in ponderously behind his long left hand. Baer ducked and swept both fists deep into Carnera's body, but he quickly moved away again, slow and tiring, as the champion kept ceaselessly after him, stabbing with lefts that landed once in every two tries. When the bell rang, Carnera marched bright-eyed and apparently in full possession of his faculties again to his corner. It was the champion's round.

ROUND FIVE

Carnera tore out of his corner with a show of freshness, and Baer, apparently feeling the situation was under control, stalked away from him, pulling up his trunks, sneering. The champion stabbed his ponderous left a half-dozen times to Baer's jaw before the challenger turned on him and swept in with a right swing to the head that nearly drove Carnera from his feet. Carnera apparently had no defence for the challenger's terrific overhand rights and he held on desperately to Baer's arm, holding himself erect. Baer tore in with a left hook to the body, bending Carnera in the middle, and then as Carnera staggered backward, a foolish, distorted grin on his battered and bloody face, Baer leaped savagely after him. Carnera was leaning all but helplessly against the ropes, fending off the challenger's attack weakly with his ponderous arms as the bell sounded. Baer's round.

ROUND SIX

Baer came up slowly, danced across the ring and shuffled his feet in the resin of Carnera's corner. There he cut loose with a right that buried deep in the champion's body, and with face contorted, swept both hands madly for Carnera's face. Max missed with both lefts and rights, before he drilled a terrific left hook to the head, crossed his right to the champion's jaw, and then ran himself into a two-fisted blast to the body that nearly swept him from his feet. Carnera pressed forward, looking like a wrecked battleship, and, as Baer met him with another terrific right to the head, he held desperately. The champion's legs were buckling, he could scarcely stand, but he never stopped punching. He was wild, though, and Baer rammed a right, then a left, into the champion's huge body before crossing his right to the chin. The bell caught them with Carnera retreating into a corner. The round was about even.

ROUND SEVEN

Baer crouched cautiously before the champion, looking for a right hand opening. A trickle of blood came down from the left side of his head. They swapped lefts and rights in a furious body exchange and both dropped back. As Baer sneered disdainfully, Carnera, in very business-like fashion pushed him across the ring with a stream of left jabs. He roughed Baer on the rope, and Referee Donovan warned him for backhand punching.

Baer drilled a right to the body, but the champion stuck doggedly to his task, popping the challenger's head with lefts as Baer strutted, grinned and posed for his friends at the ringside. Carnera caught him on the ropes and smashed both hands to the head, forcing Baer to take him seriously. The challenger was all bent up in a furious snarl, about to launch another crushing attack. It was Carnera's round.

ROUND EIGHT

Carnera seemed to have all his great strength back as he danced across the ring and stabbed at Baer's face with a long left. Max took a few and then turned slaughterer. He drove a terrific left hook and right smash to the body, then flung a crashing overhead right to Carnera's temple. The giant shook off the terrific punishment, but ran back into another straight right to the side of the head that mashed the flesh under his left eye. Baer's right was low, but he drove a terrific right back at Carnera's ear. The giant was wobbling again, and a left hook brought a fresh stream of blood from his nose. Baer stood and looked him over, and Carnera, his face now the mask of a gargoyle, weakly beckoned him to come in. Baer did, and as Carnera lunged to get away from him the champion fell flat in his own corner. As the bell rang, Referee Donovan called a low blow on Baer, which automatically cost him the round. Carnera took no count when he fell.

ROUND NINE

Carnera seemed much weaker as he came up this time. Baer stalked him like a merciless panther, grunting, baring his teeth, for the kill. But Carnera's courage was not undermined. He crowded forward, jarring Baer off balance with his left, and he brought up a thunderous left hook to the challenger's face. Baer missed a long left to the head, but drove a long right to the body, and Primo beckoned him to come in and fight. Baer did, diving in headlong, and his right smashed on Carnera's chin as his left swung again to low territory. Carnera didn't complain. He fought back with two right uppercuts that shot Max's head back, though the champion's legs were floundering under him. Baer dived in with a left hook to the body and a right that glanced off the champion's shoulder. Carnera seemed to have a shade in this round.

ROUND TEN

Baer came out in an exaggerated crouch and when Carnera reached for him with an open left glove, Referee Donovan ordered him to close his hand. They fell into a clinch and Carnera, strong again, hammered Baer's body with both hands. Then it was his turn to smash a dozen furious lefts and rights to the ribs. Carnera walked out of the corner and motioned to Baer that the challenger would do no damage down there. So Baer flung a long right to the head and missed, and Carnera grabbed him, hugged him, then pounded his head with both hands. As they came out of a clinch, two rights floored Carnera and he came up reeling. Baer smashed him to the floor again for a count of three. Baer punched himself out as the champion lay back helplessly against the ropes and the bell rang, with the crowd in an uproar. In one of these furious exchanges, Referee Donovan tried to stop the fight, but Carnera forced him away. It was Baer's round.

ROUND ELEVEN

Baer was cautious as Carnera stumbled, a terrifically beaten hulk, from his corner, and Baer floored him with a long right to the chin. Carnera came up without a count and Baer smashed him again about the head. A dead game champion, Carnera flung his hands aimlessly at the challenger, and even whipped a hard left and right up to the head in mid-ring. Carnera's legs would scarcely hold him, but he threw a long right to Baer's head. Then Baer floored him again with a long left to the chin. A right flattened Carnera again and as he came up Referee Donovan stopped the fight, giving Baer the world's championship in a technical knockout in two minutes sixteen seconds of the round.

Baer Praises Fine Courage Of Primo; Carnera Satisfied

Californian Pays Tribute to Gameness of Big Italian in Heavyweight Bout; Says Carnera's Punches Never Bothered Him

Former Champion States He Fought a Good Fight; Sprained Ankle in First Round; Would Like Return Engagement

New York, June 15.—While a cheering, shouting crowd milled outside his dressing-room and his handlers put on fox trots in their joy, Max Baer calmly rose up from a dressing-table and said: "Somebody bring the new champion a bottle of beer."

The big Californian was the coolest of the lot; in fact his composure evoked from Former Champion Jack Dempsey:

"Can you beat that kid? You'd think he had ice water in his veins."

To Max, the toughest part of the evening was fighting his way back to the dressing-room from the ring.

Police formed a flying wedge to clear the way back. For several hundred feet he struggled through lanes of wild-eyed fans. They pounded him on the back, head and arms, snatched at his dressing-robe and pulled his hair.

"How do you feel?" shouted someone.

"How do I feel?" mimicked Baer. "Ask Bill Brown (New York State Boxing Commission). He said I was out of condition."

WISECRACKS

When they finally reached the dressing-room, Baer straddled a chair.

Asked if Carnera's punches had hurt him at any time, Max wise-cracked in typical fashion: "You can't hurt a 'Baer.'"

Becoming serious, he paid high compliments to his recent opponent.

"Primo is a good strong fighter. He is as clean as they make them. I don't like to say I'm glad he lost, but I'm sure tickel I brought the title back to this country. The big fellow sure was a great sport, and how he can take the punches!

"I was kind of surprised when he got up the third time in the first round, but after that I felt I could beat him any time."

For the third time, this time somewhat impatiently, Baer shouted, "Say, don't I get that beer? I'll pay for it," he added. Handlers compromised with a glass of water.

Interviewers concerned the curly-haired Adonis of the ring to bring up the subject of Arthur Donovan's refereeing. Baer said: "Donovan's work was O.K."

WOULD FIGHT AGAIN

Baer said he would give Carnera another fight, if the public demanded it. His future includes theatrical appearances, but to-night he was concerned only with the immediate honors.

"Now I'm going out to have some fun. I just discovered Carnera chipped one of my teeth. Otherwise I feel fine. And give my regards to Bill Brown."

New York, June 15.—Apparently uncomprehending his defeat, Primo Carnera strode like a mechanical man down long and winding aisles of jeering spectators to his dressing-room.

He merely turned glittering, almost stuporous eyes on his hecklers, who accused him of "laying down" under the savage attack of Max Baer.

"I no lay down," Primo said. "I fight good and he fight good, too."

Primo lumbered into his dressing-room and flopped on a table. There were plenty of anxious hands to help the fallen champion, but he turned them away. He sat there dejectedly, occasionally cocking an ear to the left in the din of Baer's quarters, where a raucous celebration was going on.

"Ugh," the big man mumbled and pointed to his right foot. "Take off shoe quick; I got pain there."

BADLY SWOLLEN

One of the handlers removed the shoe and the ankle was badly swollen and bruised.

"I sprained it in the first round and it gave me great pain," Primo complained.

"What happened to you in that first round?" he was asked.

"I was a little nervous and confused," he replied. "It always take me long time to get started. Baer no hurt me. He hit heavy, but no hard. Holy gee, me fight him again and lick him if he give me chance."

"Dumb Dan" Morgan, Carnera's chief second, surveyed the fight differently.

CRUSHING RIGHTS

"Baer stung Carnera in that first round and Primo didn't recover fully until the third round," he said. "Once he got his bearings again he was all right and won some rounds. But then Baer would land one or two crushing rights in succession that all but knocked Carnera's brains out."

After half an hour on the rubbing table, Primo slipped off his trunks and went under the shower. Only his handlers, Loui Soresi, his manager, and a few newspaper men were in the room then.

He donned sports clothes and then sat on the table again.

"Anyway, I fight good, that's all," he said, solemn-faced, and prepared to leave.

Baer Didn't "Fight Fair"

London, June 15.—Miss Emelia Tersini, the raven-haired young waitress who saw to it that Primo Carnera collected none of the proceeds for the battering he took yesterday evening, insisted excitedly to-day "Baer didn't fight fair."

"He tried to make Primo look foolish," exclaimed Emelia, who stayed up until after 3 a.m. to read the results on a ticker in an express office.

New York lawyers at the instance of Miss Tersini tied up Carnera's share of the proceeds, since the former heavyweight champion for some months has owed her $15,000 she was awarded in a breach of promise suit.

On Post Captures Newbury Handicap

Newbury, England, June 15.—Mrs. Ambrose Clark's On Post won the Newbury Summer Cup Handicap yesterday by half a length over Lieut.-Col. Giles Loder's Foxbridge, with Sir Alfred Butt's Robber Chief third an other three-quarters of a length back.

The winner started at 6 to 1, Foxbridge the same and Robber Chief at 7 to 4. Eight of the younger handicap brigade ran the distance of one and one-half miles.

TIMES MAN SEES FIGHT

Tim Martin, Former Reporter Here, Gives Views on Baer-Carnera Bout.

In the opinion of Tim Martin, former reporter on The Victoria Daily Times, fistianna has a rightful, ripping successor to Jack Dempsey in the new champion, Max Baer. Martin was a spectator at the Baer-Carnera bout yesterday evening at Long Island Bowl.

In a special wire to the paper to-day Tim gave his views as follows:

"I was one of a new deal fight crowd of 60,000 in Long Island's huge shallow saucer yesterday evening. We saw Max Baer outhit and outclown the gigantic champion Primo Carnera in a fight which probably made ring history for its dramatics—its burlesques and sheer savagery.

"No one in the vast throng will ever be able to forget the sudden and spectacular finish or the wild first two rounds with 480 pounds of humanity struggling on the ropes and even on the floor. Except for a few tame moments it was a jungle fight in which a sneering Tarzan speared a prehistoric ape.

"The ring has at last found a colorful mauler to wear Dempsey's mantle. If Baer was overpowering in victory, Primo was a courageous figure in defeat. Time after time he came back from the floor to continue stalking his tormentor. It began to look as if stamina and raw courage might be enough as Max seemed more and more weary. But Primo had no punch and the championship has passed to one who has. California has produced another natural. Believe me it was some fight."

Macaulay Team Meets Colwood

Wheat Prices Make Gains At Winnipeg

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 15.—A moderate export business in Canadian wheat and comparatively light offerings enabled wheat prices to establish net gains of ⅞ to ⅛ cent on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day.

A late upturn at Chicago brought renewed local buying which rapidly absorbed all offerings. July wheat ended at 77, October at 79¼ and December 80 cents.

During the last half of the session prices held steady within a narrow range. There was little to enthuse over in operations.

Seaboard and continental houses provided the best support, and traders reported a moderate business in Canadian wheat. Chicago interests were the best sellers.

The weather influence had a more bullish tinge, with rising temperatures the forecast for western Canada, and little rain reported overnight.

Liverpool wheat was steady and closed ⅛ to ⅜d higher. Chicago wheat was about unchanged.

Broomhall reported Germany had banned the export of wheat and flour, which information was construed by trade as indicative of the seriousness of the drought in Germany. Action of the French Government in doubling the duty on Canadian wheat had little apparent effect.

A movement of 3,725,000 bushels of wheat from Argentina put that country nearly 9,000,000 bushels over the wheat quota established at the London Wheat Conference. The movement compared with 2,061,000 bushels last year.

Spreads on cash grains improved fractionally. Coarse grains were steady.

CHICAGO

Chicago, June 15 (Associated Press) —Wheat rallied late to-day after temporary losses had replaced early gains in prices. Some renewal of speculative buying was responsible for late upturns.

The temporary weakness of wheat was attributed to reports that movement of new wheat from the harvest fields southwest was rapidly increasing, Enid, Okla., noting arrivals of 327 carloads to-day nd Hutchinson, Kas., 111 cars. Omah received its first car of new wheat to-day. It graded No. 1 hard.

Cash close: Wheat, sample grade red 90; corn, No. 3 mixed 59¼; oats, No. 2 mixed 43½; barley, 56-1.00.

GERMAN LOANS SLIDE AGAIN

Associated Press

New York, June 15.—Corporate bonds showed a little more spirit in the late trading and prices moved up within a limited range. Against this improvement, however, U.S. Governments slipped back a bit and German issues suffered a marked relapse.

Rails led the upturn, and loans of Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio and Nickel Plate scored advances of a point.

Several of the German issues broke from two to three points, including the Dawes and Young Plan loans.

Midway in the final hour U.S. Treasury loans were off 1-32d to 8-32s of a point, with the exception of the 3⅛s, which were a shade higher.

SENIOR GOLDS HOLD STEADY

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 15.—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange was left to the specialties to-day. Senior gold issues held steady.

San Antonio closed at 5.15, down five cents. Sylvanite, Macassa, Howey, Little Long Lac, B.R.X., God's Lake and Gunnar Gold dropped two to five cents. McKenzie, Red Lake, Read Authier and Ventures were strong. Wayside was hammered to 25 for a loss of more than four cents.

Silver stocks were unchanged. Nipissing and Eldorado each added three to five cents. Base Metals worked down a few cents. Noranda was steady at 43.75. Ajax lost seven cents and Chemical Research added four cents.

INDUSTRIALS MOSTLY DULL

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 15.—Prices held firm in a generally dull trading session on the industrial board of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. International Nickel closed thirty-five cents up, and Ford of Canada was up ½ at 21⅜. In the distillery stocks Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol finished off ¼ each.

International Pete featured oils and the close at 29¼ showed a gain of ⅝. Canadian Oil added a full point. Brewing Corporation Common sagged to ⅜.

Canada Cement Preferred, boarding a gain of ¾, had the only price change in the construction group.

Governor Faces Conspiracy Trial

Associated Press

Bismarck, N.D., June 15.—The case of Governor William Langer of North Dakota and four co-defendants, charged with conspiracy to defeat an act of Congress relating to relief, today was before a federal court jury.

The defendants are Governor Langer, Highway Commissioner Frank A. Vogel, Oscar J. Chaput, business manager of The Leader, Langer administration newspaper; R. A. Kinzer, former federal relief committee secretary, and Harold McDonald, solicitor for The Leader.

They were charged with conspiring to solicit political contributions from relief employees for support of The Leader.

SEVEN KILLED IN COLOMBIA CLASH

Associated Press

Bogota, Colombia, June 15.—Seven persons were killed and more than fifteen injured yesterday evening as police fought a desperate mob which assaulted the jail at Honda, on the Magdalena River.

The attackers were trying to liberate Francisco Castro, president of the Honda municipal council, imprisoned after disorders provoked by what was described as his campaign against Honda commerce.

WHEAT EXPORTS

Ottawa, June 15 (Canadian Press). —While total exports of wheat in May showed a decrease of more than 2,000,000 bushels in quantity, an increase of almost $500,000 was shown in value, as compared with the corresponding month last year, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Total wheat exports last month amounted to 19,023,770 bushels valued at $13,562,154, in comparison with 21,464,848 bushels at $13,064,791 in May, 1933.

UNITED KINGDOM PRODUCE

Ottawa, June 15 (Canadian Press) —Butter was firm and cheese steady on United Kingdom markets this week, according to cable advice received by the Department of Agriculture yesterday.

Quotations: Butter, New Zealand, 80-81 shillings per cwt. (17.86-18.08 cents per lb.); Australian, 74-75 shillings per cwt. (16.40-16.60 cents per lb.).

Cheese: New Zealand 47 shillings sixpence to 50 shillings per cwt. (10.59-11.15 cents per lb.); Canadian 54-56 shillings per cwt. (12.04-12.48 cents per lb.).

TRADE FIGURES SHOW CROWTH

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—Canada's foreign trade increased 41 per cent in May compared with the same month of 1933, according to figures issued here to-day by Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue. During the month, exports and imports had a value of $110,782,515, compared with $78,502,967 for the month of May, 1933.

REVENUES OF DOMINION UP

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—Canada's revenues during the month of May increased by $7,368,062, and for the first two months of the current fiscal year the increase was $11,059,035, according to figures issued to-day by Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue. For May both customs duties and excise taxes were up more than $3,000,000.

Non-habit Forming Morphine Is Tested

Associated Press

Cleveland, O., June 15.—Dihydrodesoxymorphine—D, a new product of science, is being given to human beings as a first step in a search for a non-habit forming type of morphine.

The human experiment was mentioned, without details, in a report made to the American Medical Association to-day by Dr. Michigan. It is under direction, the report said, of the federal public health service.

The report said only human beings can be used to show whether new drugs are habit-forming.

New Steel Outlook Helps Stock Prices

Associated Press

New York, June 15.—With the steel labor outlook a little brighter, stocks moved into higher territory to-day. Early extreme gains of one to around three points were shaded in the afternoon, but the close was firm.

Transfers approximated 725,000 shares.

The proposal of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, presented to the steel workers' convention at Pittsburgh, that a mediation board be appointed by President Roosevelt to settle all disputes and that the threatened strike be called off, gave speculative sentiment a much needed lift.

Trade and industrial news was interpreted as rather constructive.

Grains provided no cue for equities. Wheat lost an early gain. Cotton did little. The mark improved on foreign exchanges.

Despite the dullness of the session, shares of National Lead, People's Gas, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Columbian Carbon and Union Carbide recorded gains of two to around three points. Others up major fractions to a point or more, included U.S. Steel, American Telephone, Republic and Bethlehem Steels, American Can, Chrysler, General Motors, Auburn, Montgomery Ward, Standard Oils of California and New Jersey, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, N.Y. Central, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, U.S. Rubber, Great Western Sugar, American Sugar Refining, U.S. Smelting, American Commercial Alcohol and Standard Brands.

Dominion shares improved quietly. International Nickel, Canadian Pacific and McIntyre showed fractional gains. Canadian Government bonds were steady, while Montreal funds were up 1-16 of a cent at 100.87½ cents.

Is Our Sense of Values All Wrong?

Deplores Efforts of Poor to Run With Rich

A GREAT deal has been said in the papers lately about a young girl who created a sensation by running away from college and hiding herself because she could not keep up with the rich girls in the swanky sorority to which she belonged. This has called down much censure upon the college and sororities in general, for the expensive and snobbish standards they set up, but it seems to me that the real culprits in the case are the girl's parents, who did not teach her a sounder philosophy of living and breed in her a sturdy independence that would prevent her happiness from being dependent on aping those better off and better placed in the world than she was.

Far wiser was a mother who once said to me when I was putting a box of candy out of reach of a delicate child who had been forbidden to eat sweets: "Don't do that. Leave the candy where it is. All of her life Annie has got to see people have things she cannot have and do things she cannot do, and she can't learn too early not to make herself miserable about them."

That mother was founding her child's house of happiness on solid rock. She was arming her against envy, which is the most devastating of all passions, for she was making her realize the fact that there is no equality in life and that we must all accept the hand that Fate deals us and make the best of it.

We must all continually see those who not only have more money than we have, but who are more beautiful than we are, who are more intelligent than we are, who have more charms and graces, more talents, and if we would be happy we must learn like the child not to cry for the bonbons that a mysterious Providence has not seen fit to bestow upon us.

Of course, human nature being what it is, all of us would like to be the darlings of Fortune. We would like to be rich and important and have everything that money buys and our comings and goings heralded in the papers.

Probably there isn't a poor girl in the world whose dream of bliss is not possessing a wardrobe like a movie star's and dispensing her time going to parties instead of standing behind a counter. Probably there isn't a boy who doesn't yearn for a fast sports car or a slick boat and to swell around night clubs and dazzle the girls with the way he throws money around. These desires are on virtue's side when they make the boy and girl get out and hustle and do better work in order to realize them, for ambition is just the effort we make to get the thing we crave and that we haven't got.

The trouble comes in when we break our hearts over something we cannot get and let our frustrated wishes take all the pleasure out of the things we might have enjoyed, if only we had been content with what we had instead of asking for the moon.

No other one thing has wrecked more lives than the efforts of the poor to run with the rich. It has led many a fine and gifted young man literally from a millionaire's drawing room to a cell in the penitentiary. He got in with a set of wealthy men who entertained lavishly, who dressed extravagantly, who opened champagne instead of beer, who sent orchids and emerald bracelets to women, and in order to hold up his end, not to look shabby among them, not to seem a piker, he falsified his accounts or took bribes.

How many households have we seen wrecked trying to keep up with Lizzie! How many women with social ambitions we have seen work their husbands to death to give them the Paris frocks and automobiles they couldn't afford, but that they had to have in order to be entitled to walk under the Jones's awnings. How many families we have known who have starved for weeks in order to give one splurging reception.

How many young couples we have known whose income would have made them happy and prosperous if they had lived on a moderate scale, but who ended in bankruptcy and ruin because the other young couples in the community in which they lived kept open house and ran free bars and played contract that ran up into real money.

Can't we recall a dozen tragic stories of pretty young girls who literally sold their souls for a yard of chiffon? They thought they couldn't be happy without the kind of clothes that Mrs. Astorbilt buys and strings of matched pearls and limousines and all the gewgaws that rich women have. And sometimes they married an old man for his money and sometimes they got it the easiest way. Social workers, who have made a study of the matter, tell us that it is not the love of some man that makes the average girl go wrong. It is love of clothes.

Aside from actual penury, actual want, actual hunger and cold and nakedness, the bitterest sting in poverty is our refusal to adapt ourselves to its limitations. We are not willing to be comfortably poor. We are not willing to quit pretending we are rich. So we pack like sardines in a can in a tiny apartment in a fashionable street instead of renting a big house in a poor neighborhood. We buy filet mignon instead of stew meat and sleazy silk instead of homespun.

What a pity that we have not a truer sense of values and that we cannot see how worthless are the tinsel toys for which we strive so hard, and for which we pay so heavy a price. And how more than foolish the parents who do not teach their children the beauty and the glory of independence, of being what they are instead of poor imitations of some one else and to see others have the things they cannot have without envying them and without making themselves unhappy about it. DOROTHY DIX.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LUCKY SHOT

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was still June walking in the woods with the Lady Mouse Teacher from the Hollow Stump School and all the animal children. Mr. Longears had been giving them some nature lessons, such as why a tree bark is different from a dog's bark and then Baby Bunty did some nature study on her own account by jumping in the brook.

"But you'll soon dry, my dear, in this warm wind and the hot sun," said Miss Mouse, putting Bunty up on a flat rock where the sunshine could play all around her. "Don't cry."

"I'm not crying," said Baby Bunty, who was a brave little thing. "It's only some of the brook water running out of my eyes."

"Oh, all right," squeaked Miss Mouse. Then she called to the animal children: "Play around in the woods, but don't go too far away, my dears. We are going to stay here until Bunty gets dry. Don't you think that will be best, Mr. Longears?"

"Yes," he answered, "I do." Truth to tell, Mr. Longears was glad to have a little rest. It had been a busy day for him, so far, and might be more so before the June walk was over. He thought if the animal boys and girls scurried around and played games they wouldn't ask him any more nature study questions such as why doesn't rain fall up instead of down and what becomes of the dark night when it goes away.

So the rabbit gentleman sat down on a soft log with Miss Mouse, and near Baby Bunty on the hot rock, while waiting for the little orphan bunny child to get dry. It was peaceful and quiet in the woods, but not for long. All of a sudden Peetie Bow Wow began to bark, calling:

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily! Come here—quick!"

"Would you mind seeing what is the matter, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Miss Mouse with a sweet smile at Mr. Longears. "I fear some of the little dears may be in mischief."

Uncle Wiggily hopped to where Peetie was barking, and there he saw a strange sight. Jackie, who was Peetie's puppy brother, and Billie Wagtail, the goat, were pulling Sammie Littletail out of a deep mud puddle. And oh! wasn't poor Sammie muddy!

"What happened?" asked Mr. Longears when he and some of the animal boys had wiped as much mud from Sammie as they could, using dried leaves for rags. "What happened?"

"Oh," said Sammie, taking some mud out of his mouth. "Jollie Longtail, the mouse boy, said that mud puddle didn't have any bottom. I said it did and I could prove it. So I jumped in to show him it had a bottom. But it was farther down than I thought," said Sammie sadly.

"Would you call this nature study, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Peetie when Sammie was partly clean.

"Well, if it is I hope none of the rest of you are in that grade," said the rabbit gentleman with a twinkle of his pink nose.

Sammie was put on the warm rock beside Baby Bunty to dry out and then Uncle Wiggily sat down beside Miss Mouse for a little rest while the animal children played more games. All of a sudden Jingle and Jangle, the twin bunnies, shouted:

"Help! Help! Help!"

"Oh, go and see what is the matter!" squeaked Miss Mouse. "Maybe it is a Bad Char."

"If it is I have my cat gun that shoots beans," said Uncle Wiggily bravely. But he didn't have to use his gun then. All that had happened to Jingle and Jangle was that they were playing tag and they ran close to a briar bush. The brambles caught their dresses and held them fast. They though the Bob Cat had them, so they screamed.

Uncle Wiggily was just going back where he had left Miss Mouse with Bunty and Sammie drying in the sun when, all of a sudden, as he looked toward them through the bushes, the rabbit gentleman saw the Bob Cat climbing down out of a tree right over Baby Bunty's head.

"Oh, my goodness!" murmured Mr. Longears. "I've got to take a shot at the Bob Cat. But the bean went on one side. The rabbit had missed. He must try again! He aimed carefully the second time, but the bean went to the other side. All the while the Bob Cat was climbing down out of the tree so softly that neither Miss Mouse nor the rabbits heard him.

"Now once more!" said Uncle Wiggily. He loaded the cat gun with another bean, a large, hard one, and fired. This time it was a lucky shot, for the bean hit the Bob Cat on his nose.

"Wow! Wow! Wow!" he howled three times and then he gave a big jump down out of the tree and ran away, hurting no one. So everybody was happy and the June walk came to an end and they all went home.

And if the umbrella isn't too proud to speak to the rubbers when they meet in the vestibule after the rain, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily playing a tune.

Bandmaster Shot; Player Is Jailed

Canadian Press

Port of Spain, Trinidad, June 15.—Joseph St. Clair, who dropped his cornet to take a shot at the bandmaster, must serve eight years in the penitentiary.

Lieut. Arthur Wallace, the bandmaster, was shot while his band was giving a concert here several weeks ago, but was not seriously injured.

The shooting was ascribed to jealousy and the cornetist was found guilty in supreme court after a seven-day trial.

INDIANS WANT BATHS

Neenah, Wis., June 15.—Those who think all Indians are accustomed to the rigors of the great outdoors are mistaken. The Neenah Tercentenary Association reports tribesmen invited to establish a temporary Winnebago Indian village as a feature of the Jean Nicolet 1634-1936 celebration declined unless the temporary village should include showers baths and modern indoor plumbing.

Honolulu Boy Will Winter In Alaska

One of Baynex Beauchamp's Party Will Stop at Fairbanks; Boys Will Build Own Barges and Travel Mackenzie River to Aklavik

From the sun-drenched beach at Waikiki, on his way to spend the coming winter in frozen Arctic wastes, John Scott, eighteen - year - old Honolulu college student, arrived in Victoria yesterday evening by the Ss. Niagara, a member of Bayne Beauchamp's annual party to Alaska and the Yukon.

Young Scott said he always wanted to spend a winter in the Far North and this year his ambitions are going to be realized. He will travel with the other boys as far as Fairbanks, where he will leave the party, and remain there until the spring thaw comes late in May. Then he will return to Honolulu.

"But they say the spell of the north gets you," he said. "I've read a lot of Service's poems. So maybe I'll never come out, except on visits. I guess I'll miss my daily swims at Waikiki for a little while. But I'll get used to it, I suppose," he added cheerily. He said he would write about his experiences in the north, if he could not get any other work.

MACKENZIE ROUTE

Mr. Beauchamp has been to Alaska and the Yukon several times, and for the last few years he has taken parties of Honolulu schoolboys on his great adventure. Usually he follows the water route to Skagway, then overland through the White Pass to White Horse, where barges are built on which the boys have sailed to Dawson and even farther down to the Pacific Ocean. There a steamer was taken to Seattle for the return trip to Honolulu.

But this year Mr. Beauchamp has changed his itinerary. They are going to Arctic via the Mackenzie River. The leader and his boys went from here this morning to Seattle and will then proceed to Edmonton to start north. When they reach the navigable waters of the Mackenzie they will build barges and start the long trek.

TO VISIT AKLAVIK

They hope to reach Aklavik, on the Arctic Circle, and to go across to Herschel Island for a brief visit. They will also visit other places of interest in the Far North and will fly south to Alaska from Aklavik. If it were not for the planes they would never be able to make this trip, as the land route would take several weeks and in all probability would leave them frozen in for the winter.

At some southwestern Alaska port late in August the party will take ship for Seattle. From there they will either come here or go to San Francisco to start home for Honolulu. All the boys will return to college.

ASHES THROWN TO THE DEEP

Last Remains of Capt. O. B. Lindholm Given to Puget Sound By Favorite Son

Tacoma, June 15. — How the ashes of Capt. Otto B. Lindholm, prototype of one of the characters in the "Cappy Ricks" stories, were scattered on the waters of the ocean he loved so well, by his favorite son during a secret burial service Wednesday, had been revealed here to-day.

All the drama of stark simplicity surrounded this last act in the adventuresome life of one of the Pacific Coast's most colorful mariners, and the burial service in every detail carried out the last wishes of Capt. Lindholm, made as he lay dying aboard the Grace liner Condor three months ago.

Capt. Lindholm died as he had lived, on board a ship. While bringing the Condor into Seattle on March 6 he was stricken at the wheel of the vessel and died an hour later.

As he lay dying he expressly asked that his body be cremated and that the ashes be scattered on the waters off Point No Point, at the spot where he surrendered his last command. He wanted his son, George, he said, to perform this task.

When his father died, George, first mate of the Grace liner Charcas, was in South America.

Because of the strike of longshoremen and seamen, secrecy was resorted to. Late Wednesday night the Charcas made a hurried visit to Tacoma. At the smelter was waiting L. D. Johnson, supercargo, with the small metal box, and as quietly as it arrived the vessel sailed.

At 11 a.m. Wednesday the Charcas arrived at the spot off Point No Point, where Capt. Lindholm heard the first call of death. The vessel hove to, so as to have the wind over her bow. The flag was lowered to half staff. A Masonic burial service was read and the ashes consigned to the deep by the son.

NIAGARA IN FROM SYDNEY

Liner Brings Large List of Passengers, Including Returning Victorians

Close to 300 passengers were aboard the liner Niagara when she reached Bithet Piers yesterday evening at 8.45 o'clock from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu. It was the largest list to arrive here over this route in several years. The majority of the passengers were from Honolulu.

To accommodate a large party of Seattle-bound people the Niagara remained at her dock until 3.30 o'clock this morning, when the Ss. Princess Kathleen, on her night run from Vancouver to Seattle, called here and picked them up. The transfer of the passengers and their baggage took place at the outer docks.

Capt. T. V. Hill, master of the ship, reported a splendid voyage all the way from Sydney, which port was left three weeks ago. Because of the large passenger list the voyage had been a lively one and there had been plenty of entertainment.

LOCAL PEOPLE

Victorians aboard the Niagara included Mrs. G. Lindsay-Dixon and Miss Madeleine Lindsay-Dixon, returning from spending several months in New Zealand with relatives and friends. Returning from Honolulu were Capt. and Mrs. A. de M. Mellin and Mrs. A. G. Storey-Waller. They left here June 2 by the Ss. Empress of Canada, and had a few days in the Hawaiian Islands.

Others aboard the liner were Dr. L. C. L. Averill, Miss A. Anderson, Mrs. A. J. Dixie, Miss M. Dixie, Mr. and Mrs. R. Fricke, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Adams, C. P. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. John Davies, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. S. Walker, Mrs. I. Waterhouse, Charles Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ishihara, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Ensor, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hackett, Mrs. W. H. ENJOYED STAY IN AUSTRALIA

Sir Philip Game Now Looking Forward to Trip Across Canada to Quebec

"I have had four happy years in Australia and am now looking forward very much to my trip across Canada," stated His Excellency, Air Vice-Marshal Sir Philip Game, K.C.B., G.B.E., C.B., D.S.O., Governor of New South Wales, when he reached Victoria yesterday evening by the Ss. Niagara on his way to England to spend the summer months. He was accompanied by Lady Game and his young son and daughter.

"I am on a holiday," he told interviewers in the Niagara's lounge, "so I would much rather say nothing about affairs in Australia at the present time, except that they are satisfactory. I think perhaps that I have said quite too much, as it is, during my term of office at Sydney."

Sir Philip said this is his first trip to this part of the world. In 1930, when he was appointed to Australia, he traveled out by way of the Suez Canal and India. Now he is returning by Canada, and when he goes out to Australia again in the fall he will go by the Panama Canal route.

"Then I will have to find a fourth way to return home in 1938," Sir Philip said. "I will probably take a long detour and go by way of South Africa."

Sir Philip and Lady Game were met aboard the Niagara by Major-General E. C. Ashton, commanding officer of Work Point Barracks. They continued with the Niagara to Vancouver. Accompanying them as official aide was Lieut.-Commander C. Gifford, who has been attached to His Excellency's staff at Government House in Sydney.

Sir Philip said he regretted he had not more time in Victoria, as he had heard about Vancouver Island and would like to try some fishing. He must, however, be in Quebec a week from to-day to take the Ss. Duchess of York for his home in England.

SERVED IN WARS

Born in 1876, Sir Philip was the son of the late George Beale Game of Barn House, Broadway, Worcestershire. He early entered the Royal Artillery and served during the South African War, being mentioned several times in dispatches. In 1908 he married Gwendolyn Margaret, daughter of the late Francis Hughes-Gibb of Gunville Manor House, Blandford, Dorset. He was also mentioned in dispatches during the Great War, in which he served as colonel. He was also given the Order of the Crown of Italy and made an officer of the French Legion of Honor. He joined the Royal Air Force in 1920, and in 1923 was sent to India as commander of the forces there. He was placed on the retired list of the Air Ministry in 1929, and the following year received his appointment to New South Wales.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

Shipping Bill Clauses Approved

Section Giving Canadian Ships Monopoly of Great Lakes Grain Trade Stirs Argument in Commons; Other Contentious Clauses Next Week

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—With the exception of fewer than twenty sections held up for further discussion, the 719 clauses of the shipping bill and the 225 printed pages of schedules were passed by the House of Commons yesterday evening. Apart from the section restricting coastal trade, no contentious provision was pressed. This section was adopted over protests of prairie Liberal and United Farmer members.

The remaining contentious sections will come up next week. These include regulations respecting fishing craft with auxiliary engines, recompense of sailors injured at sea, and provisions relating to investigations of marine casualties.

The House in committee spent almost all of yesterday afternoon and evening on the bill, with Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, the principal critic. He had several sections put over as affecting sailors and fishermen of the Pacific Coast.

GRAIN TRAFFIC

The contentious restrictive clause on Canadian coastal shipping, enacted last session but never brought into effect and now approved for insertion in the new Shipping Act, provides only British ships may carry goods between two Canadian ports, whether or not they are transferred at a foreign port on the way.

The clause is aimed particularly at reserving to Canadian ships the business of hauling grain down the Great Lakes from Fort William and Port Arthur. A similar restriction in the law of the United States prevents Canadian ships from engaging in the coastal trade of that country.

For some years the shipping interests have been endeavoring to bring Canada's coastal laws in line with those of the United States in regard to traffic on the Great Lakes.

PROTESTS HEARD

J. L. Brown, Liberal, Lisgar, Man., voiced a protest.

If the section became law it would give a monopoly to Canadian vessels on all the grain carried from the head of the lakes to any Canadian port. He wanted to know from the minister what the attitude of the government was, since it had not proclaimed the bill passed last year.

He followed this up by moving an amendment to delete the section.

Alfred Speakman, United Farmer, Red Deer, Alberta, appealed to the government to have competition on the Great Lakes undisturbed. While wheat from his district mostly left Canada through Vancouver, freight rates by any route were affected by the Great Lakes rate, and removal of competition would have the effect of increasing the cost to the exporter.

Col. Thomas Cantley, Conservative, Pictou, N.S., declared the speech by Mr. Brown had been an exhibition of "pure selfishness."

"What ever the east has done for the west, it has been paid for over and over again," declared Mr. Brown. It had been paid in "hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat," he declared, and had kept the industries of the east alive.

Dr. W. D. Cowan, Conservative, Long Lake, Sask., suggested to the opponents of the clause that no hardship would result and that if it so happened that freight rates were increased, then western farmers would develop Churchill and send more wheat through B.C. ports.

Hon. Alfred Duranleau refused to accept Mr. Brown's amendment, which was defeated, and the clause passed on division.

A donation of $50 was made to the Friendly Help Welfare Association for the Sunshine Camp for tired mothers and under-privileged children, by the Oak Bay Council yesterday.

DANISH PARTY SEES CANADA

Government Officials Leave Vancouver For Trip Through Rocky Mountains

Vancouver, June 15.—After a day's visit with prominent members of the Danish colony, a party of government officials from Denmark who are visiting this continent, left here yesterday afternoon on the Continental Limited of the Canadian National Railways. They included Hon. J. F. N. Friis-Skotte, Minister of Public Works, and Mrs. Friis-Skotte, P. Knutzen, Director-General of the Danish State Railways, and Mrs. Knutzen, and A. Jensen, Inspector of Traffic for the Danish lines.

They will spend two days at Jasper Park Lodge before traveling to Winnipeg, at which point they will leave Canada for Chicago and the World's Fair.

The Danish railway officials are displaying a great deal of interest in the trip through the Rocky Mountains and Canadian National Railways' officials are demonstrating to them the mechanics of traffic movement over Canadian lines, which differ notably from the Danish railways because of the immense distances traveled.

On Holidays From Honolulu

Vancouver Island as a summer playground for residents of Honolulu is becoming quite popular, and the first group of people from the mid-Pacific islands for this season reached Victoria yesterday evening aboard the Ss. Niagara. Several of the tourists brought along their own motor cars.

Prominent among the Honolulu people who come to Vancouver Island for the summer months are Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooper, who have a fine home at Sproat Lake. They arrived yesterday evening by the Niagara, brought along their car, and will leave for up-island in a day or two, intending to remain there until the end of August.

There were six Honolulu motor cars aboard the Niagara yesterday. The owners and their parties will motor on Vancouver Island, and will then cross to the mainland, several of them intending to motor south and take ship at San Francisco for Honolulu.

A party of Californians, who had been wintering in the Hawaiian Islands, with their car, arrived by the Niagara, and after a visit on this island will motor south to Los Angeles.
